CUT TAX LEVIES BY 45 MILLION, KELLY DEMAND

Results of Survey Are Revealed.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The D. F. Kelly tax warrant committee told representatives of the eight major local governments yesterday noon that they must slash their 1931 tax levies a total of $43,837,000 below the 1930 tax levies, now in collection, a reduction of 17.17 per cent.

D. F. KELLY.

In addition, these governmental representatives were informed it i equally urgent that the 1932 tax levies be cut $47,383,000. That is a decrease of 18.56 per cent. The annual average decrease sought for the two years is more than $45,000,000.

These recommendations were made by the committee after investigating, calculating, and conferring since Feb. 28.

Calls Cuts Mandatory.

"These cuts do not represent what you should do," said D. F. Kelly to the gathering—a luncheon he gave at the Chicago club. "They are mandatory cuts, which must be made if you would preserve the local governments. Larger tax levies than those we have suggested will be impossible.

"The larger the tax bill the smaller will be the proportionate payment. Taxes are so high that many are now saying: 'What's the use of trying to pay them.' Your only hope of getting out of the mire is to reduce taxes to the point where the people deem them worth while to pay."

After Mr. Kelly had spoken, Mayor Cermak, President Whealen of the county board and representatives of the Lincoln and south park boards and the drainage board promised full cooperation in making the program of the committee effective.

Sargent Urges Action.

Fred Sargent, head of the committee on public expenditures, urged drastic action at once in cutting public expenditures.

"Chicago will get credit if it takes the lead among the cities of the nation in curbing the cost of government," said Mr. Sargent. "Out of this necessity we will gain the favor and good opinion of nations beyond the seas."

The 1930 tax levies of the major governments were $255,271,842. This group includes the city, library, municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, the schools, sanitar. district, the county, forest preserves, the three park boards, and levies for the various pension systems and for debt service.

Employés to Be Hit.

For these governments the committee recommended that the composite levy for 1931 be not more than $211,434,000 and for 1932 be less than $207,888,000.

Such cuts will fall most heavily on the 40,000 public employés, because the expense incident to retirement of bonds and payment of interest is quite rigid. Excepting the school board the levies for bonds and interest totaled $55,164,000. The committee technicians have worked out a plan by which the levies for this purpose can be reduced to $52,000,000 for 1931 and 1932. These are savings of only 5.5 per cent. Also the tax levy for state purposes is considered subject to only a comparatively small cut, from 14,776,000 in 1930 to $13,000,000 in 1931 and 1932.

So aside from these two more or less stationary items, the committee has a 1930 tax levy for other governmental purposes of $185,331,842. This the committee urged be cut to $146,434,000 for 1931 and to $142,888,000 for 1932. Those proposed cuts are, respectively, 20.99 per cent and 22.90 per cent.

Current Debts Add to Load.

But that is not the depth of the sad news for the tax spenders, because they are reported to have spent last year at a rate which will require a tax levy, for all of them, much in excess of $146,434,000, although the valuations for 1931 have not been made nor the taxes spread.

The extent to which the local governments spent above $146,434,000 last year was not made public by the committee, but to that extent they have added to their current debts, which in turn will further reduce the amount of money available in 1932 for salaries and other current expenses. Accord

PACKERS MUST ADHERE TO 1920 'CONSENT' PACT

District Court Decision Reversed.

BIG DECISIONS

The United States Supreme court yesterday announced decisions in several important cases. They included:

Refused to consent to the modification of the packers' consent decree of 1920, reversing the partial modification granted by the District of Columbia Supreme court in 1930.

Upheld President Hoover in refusal to resubmit Power board appointment to senate after nominee's confirmation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Past days of monopolistic power were raked up by the United States Supreme court today and thrown into the faces of the meat packers as the court refused to consent to the modification of the packers' consent decree of 1920.

JUSTICE BENJAMIN CARDOZO.

In a four to two decision, with Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Sutherland and Stone taking no part in the case, a majority of the court held that the partial modification granted by the District of Columbia Supreme court should be reversed and the packers' petitions asking the right to deal in groceries, to retail meats, and for other privileges be dismissed.

According to the majority opinion, the original decree limiting the packers to a business in meats and meat products must stand unmodified until conditions change far more drastically than they have during the last twelve years.

"Chose to Renounce."

"The case comes down to this," Justice Cardozo's opinion declared. "The defendants had abused their powers so grossly and persistently as to lead to the belief that even when they were acting separately their conduct should be subjected to extraordinary restraints. There was the fear that even when so acting they would still be ready and able to crush their feebler rivals in the sale of groceries and kindred products by forms of competition too ruthless and oppressive to be accepted as fair and just. Wisely or unwisely, they submitted to these restraints upon the exercise of powers that would normally be theirs. They chose to renounce what they might otherwise have claimed, and the decree of a court confirmed the renunciation and placed it beyond recall.

"What was then solemnly adjudged as a final composition of a historic litigation will not lightly be undone at the suit of the offenders, and the composition held for nothing."

The packers had consented to the original decree "with their eyes open," and the threat of monopoly by reason of the packers' ability to distribute other foodstuffs with virtually no increase in overhead held as good today as it did when the original decree was entered, the opinion said.

"Size Carries Opportunity."

The packers had cut prices and squeezed out competitors when they had the right to deal in groceries, said Justice Cardozo; they would "still have the temptation to resume" such practices, and their large size would permit them to "starve out weaker rivals."

"Mere size, according to the holding of this court," declared the opinion, "is not an offense against the Sherman act, unless magnified to the point at which it amounts to a monopoly, but size carries with it an opportunity for abuse that is not to be ignored

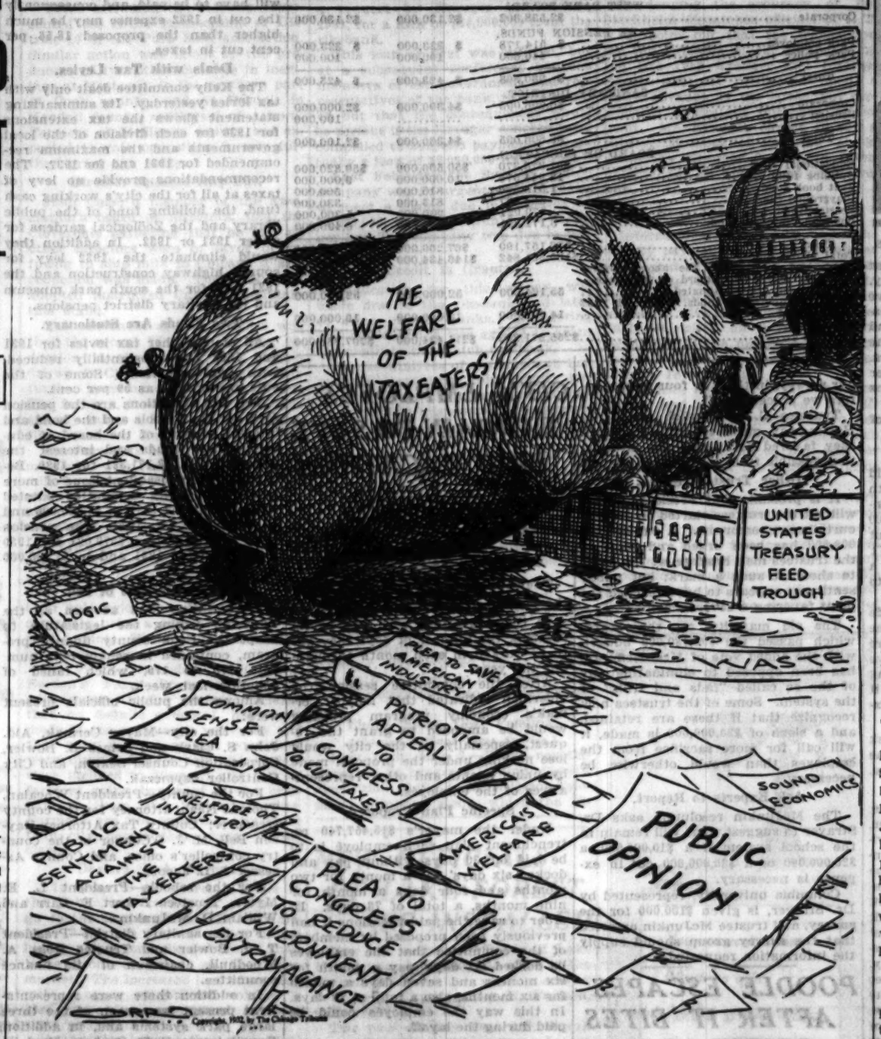
THEIR SOLE INTEREST



MARIE ONLY 17 BUT SHE SHOOTS ARMED ROBBER

Miss Marie MacLaughlan, 17 years old, was waiting on the trade in the restaurant she and her mother conduct at 9137 South Western avenue last night when two robbers entered.

One bandit drew a pistol and ordered the two women to hold up their hands. Marie's retort to that, as reported by herself and her mother, was:

"O, yeah?"

Then Marie seized a pistol that was concealed behind a counter and fired. One robber was hit in the abdomen and fell to the floor. His companion, dragging him toward the door, paused to fire at the girl. His aim was bad and he smashed a cigar case, but missed her. She fired again and missed and the wounded man was carried to a car in front of the place. The robbers then drove away.

Police Sergeant Ray Mulligan verified the shooting by the discovery of bloodstains on the floor and the bullet hole in the glass case. John D. MacLaughlan, a special watchman, father of the girl, said he was surprised at her marksmanship.

"I trained all my children to shoot pistols," he said, "but Marie was the worst shot among them. It's too bad one of the others wasn't here. They would have hit both robbers."

BALTIMORE BLUE LAW 200 YEARS OLD IS REPEALED

Baltimore, Md., May 2.—(AP)—Baltimore, by the largest vote ever given a question or a candidate, today repealed its 200 year old Sunday observance laws, which even precluded a man's kissing his wife on the Sabbath.

By a majority of more than 33,000 the city wiped off its books the Sunday laws which were born with the Maryland legal code when the Calverts founded the state, and for the first time can go to moving picture shows, sports events, and make certain retail purchases legally next Sunday.

The victory for the liberal forces marked the close of a fight which has been waged for the last 25 years by the city against the conservative county electorate.

Mount Vesuvius Spouts 'Poison Water'; Kills Crops

NAPLES, Italy, May 2.—(AP)—A rain of caustic water, emitted by Vesuvius, has destroyed crops within a square mile on the side of the volcano facing Naples. The shower fell the night of April 14. It was thought then to be ordinary rain, but it later was discovered that plants had been burned and shriveled. A similar phenomenon occurred in 1926. The volcano now is normal.

Charge Flyer with Murder of a Writer

Miami, Fla., May 2.—[Special.]—The shooting of Haden Clarke, 26 year old writer, in the apartment of Mrs. Jessie Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, ten days ago, led tonight to the arrest of Capt. W. N. Lancaster on a formal charge of first degree murder.

Capt. Lancaster, a British flyer, was quoted by State's Attorney Vernon Hawthorne as having admitted that he wrote and planted two suicide notes. On the other hand, Capt. Lancaster insisted that he did not shoot Clarke and that certain points of circumstantial evidence against him would be cleared away at the trial.

Woman Flying Partner.

The figures in the tragedy comprised a trilogy of love, aviation, and authorship.

Lancaster was Mrs. Keith-Miller's flying partner. The two had been extracting a precarious living from aviation, Clarke came into the picture as an author. He undertook to collaborate with Mrs. Keith-Miller in writing the story of her life, and this tale was expected to produce money to relieve the financial strain of the trio.

Capt. Lancaster was in St. Louis about twelve days ago when he received letters from young Clarke and Mrs. Keith-Miller advising him they were in love and planned to be married. Lancaster, so the story goes, wired to them, wishing them happiness but asking them to delay until he could confer with them. He returned to Miami at once. The shooting occurred in the night after his return.

Men Occupied Same Room.

Lancaster and Clarke were occupying the same room in Mrs. Keith-Miller's apartment. Clarke was found fatally wounded in bed. He had been shot. Two typewritten notes in the room indicated suicide. One was signed "Haden" and the other "H."

Both Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller in the preliminary inquiry appeared to satisfy the state's attorney that it was a clear case of suicide. Neither was publicly accused of the crime. State's Attorney Hawthorne, however, set about a secret investigation. He called in a handwriting expert, who pronounced the signatures to the notes forgeries. This and other evidence led to the formal charge against Lancaster and his incarceration. Mrs. Keith-Miller is not being held.

Wrote Notes to Avert Suspicion.

The state's attorney said Lancaster had confessed that he had typed the "suicide" notes as a means of protecting himself and Mrs. Keith-Miller after he had been awakened by the sound of shots and realized that suspicion would point at them. One note he addressed to himself, advising him never to leave Mrs. Keith-Miller; the other to the woman, telling her he could not go through with the marriage and praising Lancaster.

After writing the notes Lancaster is quoted as having said he tried to revive Clarke and get him to sign them. Clarke, however, was fatally wounded by a bullet in the head and Lancaster could not arouse him. Then, according to the state's attorney, Lancaster himself signed the notes.

What evidence there is of the actual shooting itself, the prosecutor declined to state.

Lancaster, from his cell, issued a short statement in which he protested his innocence and added "at the right and proper time explanation will be made of the circumstantial evidence against me."

LINDY REPORTED NEAR NORFOLK IN HUNT FOR BABY

Norfolk, Va., May 2.—(AP)—The Virginian-Pilot said today it had learned from an authoritative source that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is near Norfolk actively participating in the negotiations by three Norfolk men here for the recovery of his infant son from kidnapers.

The paper said it was reliably reported the famous flyer has been in this section since April 22, when the first cruise aboard the yacht Marcon was made by John Hughes Curtis, principal of the three intermediaries, to some point off the Virginia coast. The paper added that Lindbergh accompanies Mr. Curtis on these trips.

Crisp Calls on Congress to Free Massie

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—With constitutional authorities still differing on the power of the President to pardon a person convicted of crime in a territory, Representative Charles R. Crisp introduced a bill in the house today providing for a congressional pardon of the four persons convicted of manslaughter in the Massie case in Honolulu.

The text of the bill follows:

"Whereas, The United States of America exercises complete sovereignty over its territory of Hawaii; and whereas, under acts of congress the governor of the territory is delegated the authority to grant pardons to convicted persons in criminal cases, but such delegated authority in no wise prevents congress from exercising its complete sovereignty and will over the said territory of Hawaii and its courts and officials, therefore:

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled that Lieut. Thomas S. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Albert O. Jones, and E. J. Lord be and they are hereby granted a full and complete pardon for the offense of manslaughter based on the charge of the unlawful killing of Joseph Kahahawai, for which offense they were recently convicted in the territorial court at Honolulu, territory of Hawaii."

Bingham Bill Passed.

The senate, without a record vote, passed the Bingham bill, under the terms of which a disagreement of a jury in a criminal case in the Hawaiian islands will not operate to acquit the defendants. This legislation is aimed at such instances of lawlessness as the Massie rape case, the trial of which resulted in a disagreement. The Bingham bill provides:

"No disagreement of any jury, regardless of the number of disagreements previously existing in any criminal case now or hereafter pending in Hawaii, shall operate as an acquittal of the accused, or shall empower the court to discharge the accused from custody."

THREATEN MASSIE JUROR

HONOLULU, May 2.—(AP)—A boycott threatened Honolulu business today as a result of the conviction last week of Mrs. Grace Fortescue, New York society woman, and three men on charges of manslaughter for the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, Hawaiian.

Walter Napoleon, Hawaiian member of the jury which found Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, E. J. Lord, and Albert O. Jones guilty but recommended clemency, told police he had received telephone threats, and asked protection.

John O'Loughlin, who employs Napolean as a meatcutter, said several customers had threatened to boycott his store unless he discharged the Hawaiian, one man telling him he stood to lose 250 patrons. O'Loughlin said Napoleon would stay. Napoleon worked today as usual, despite threats.

Boycott Hard to Trace.

There were reports persons planning to sail to the mainland on ships of the Matson line, with which John F. Stone, white foreman of the Fortescue jury, is connected, had canceled their bookings, but this was formally denied by the Matson agency here.

The boycott was hard to trace, as much of it was unorganized and unpublicized. Willy Beyer, juror of German ancestry who makes most of the

U. S. Wins 3 Year Tax Battle.

Al Capone in all probability will be started tonight from his cell in the county jail to Leavenworth prison or some other federal penitentiary to begin serving his eleven year sentence for income tax fraud.

The United States Supreme court yesterday refused to review Capone's case. The gangster's doom was sounded by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, who read the customary brief order, "Certiorari denied."

"That is the end of three bitter years for us and the end of Capone," said United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson when he learned of the Supreme court's action. The victorious conclusion of the Capone case overshadowed all others in the prosecutor's income tax drive against gangsters and grafting politicians. Mr. Johnson was visibly elated, but further comment he declined to make.

Marshal Ready to Start.

United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer said he was ready to start Capone on his way immediately upon release of the prison mandate. District Attorney Johnson was notified by long distance telephone from Washington that a certified copy of the Supreme court's order was on its way by mail. Whether this comes by air mail or by special delivery, it will arrive today in time for the Circuit Court of Appeals to release its mandate. This goes to the clerk of the District court, which in turn releases the mittimus, the order sending a defendant to prison. The mittimus for Capone is already drawn up.

Marshal Laubenheimer would not say what hour the prison train would leave because he wants no crowd or commotion at the departure. He said Capone would go with a regular shipment of prisoners that has been held up pending his removal.

He Can't Have Privacy.

The gang chief will not be permitted to pay for a trip in a drawing room or private car. His companions will be sixteen mail and automobile thieves, dope peddlers, and counterfeiters.

Capone probably will be taken to Leavenworth, subject to possible removal to some other penitentiary later, as was done in the case of his brother, Ralph. The marshal's standing order from the attorney general calls for the sending of all prisoners to Leavenworth, and, barring a change in these instructions, that's where Capone will go.

When Prison Doors Close.

A dispatch from Leavenworth last night said that the last part of Capone's prison trip would be made behind a switch engine, which takes the prisoners' car from the railway yards into the confines of the penitentiary. Capone will go first to the clothing department, where his personal belongings will be checked and his expensive clothing will be replaced by a suit of blue denim with numbers on the back of the jacket and the legs of the overalls.

Then Capone will be examined by the prison physicians and prison officials will make out a form pertaining to his social record and previous occupations, with a view of determining what work he is best suited for. A week or more may be required for the examinations and inoculations in the hospital before Capone gets down to work.

Permitted Some Recreation.

Once each week Capone may attend the prison movie show and on Sunday afternoons he may witness the prison teams at baseball. He may avail himself of the prison library, if he chooses, and may even go to night school and be instructed by the more scholarly felons.

On Sunday afternoons he will have the run of the prison yards if he comports himself properly. Immediate relatives may visit him on visiting days. Such money as he brings along will be placed to his credit and may be used to purchase such things from the commissary as are permitted by prison regulations.

He may see no reporters, nor write about his prison life, and his mail will be strictly censored.

Attorney Michael Ahern, Capone's

lawyer, visited the prisoner in the county jail yesterday afternoon, but offered no comment on the failure of the appeal. He said he did not know what steps he would take next. His only recourse is to ask the Supreme court to reconsider its action, as State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien vainly did in his income tax case. Such a petition would not stay Capone's removal to the penitentiary pending the court's action.

Sentenced to 11 Years.

Capone must serve ten years in the penitentiary and then return to serve a final year in a county jail. Taking into account time off for good behavior he will actually have to serve about seven and one-half years. A parole is out of the question, since another indictment, charging booze conspiracy, is hanging over his head.

Besides the prison sentences, Judge Wilkerson fined the gangster $50,000 and ordered him to pay the costs of the prosecution. Capone has been in the county jail, having been denied bail, since the date of his sentence Oct. 24. No credit on his term is received for this six months' imprisonment.

The Supreme court's ruling maintained the government's 100 per cent record of successes since District Attorney Johnson launched his income tax drive more than three years ago. The other defendants who appealed to the court of last resort and lost were Ralph Capone, Representative O'Brien, Jack Guzik, Capone business manager, and former Assessor Gene G. Oliver. Pleas of guilty were obtained in the other tax cases already terminated, those of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, beer barons, and Frank Nitti and Sam Guzik, Capone gangsters.

Most Famous Tax Case.

The Capone case is the most famous of them all, not only because of the notorious defendant but from the standpoint of time, expense, and efforts put forth by the government and the difficulties encountered by the federal agents.

District Attorney Johnson's prime objective throughout the campaign was the conviction of Capone, but he said nothing about this and first directed the drive against the gang chief's principal henchmen.

By 1930 the government began uncovering actual evidence against Capone, admissions he made to a raiding Berwyn pastor that he owned a gambling house, to Florida authorities that he was in the gambling business with Jack Guzik, and to revenue agents that he headed a syndicate. This last statement was in an attempt to compromise his tax liability. It admitted income of $266,000.

Indicted in June, 1931.

In June of 1931 Capone was indicted, charged with trying to evade taxes of $215,000 on an income of $1,038,000 for 1924 to 1929, inclusive. Then began a series of efforts to intimidate witnesses. One man was shot at when he broke away from a gang who sought to take him for a ride. Another was beaten and slugged and others received threats.

Wishing to avoid the hazards of such a trial, with hostile or intimidated witnesses, Mr. Johnson consented to recommend a prison sentence of two and one half years in exchange for a plea of guilty by Capone. Judge Wilkerson consented to hear the recommendation and give due consideration to it, but did not bind himself to follow it.

The court made this plain when Capone appeared for sentence, and told him it was "utterly impossible to bargain with a federal court." Capone's associates had talked and had given the impression that the court was bound by the two and a half year recommendation.

Judge Wilkerson's admonition caused Capone to change his plea to not guilty. He went to trial before a jury, which found him guilty of attempting to evade taxes for 1925, 1926 and 1927, and of failure to file returns for 1928 and 1929.

D'Andrea Arouses Judge.

During the trial Capone's bodyguard, Philip D'Andrea, was caught carrying a gun into the courtroom and Judge Wilkerson sentenced him to six months in jail for contempt. In doing so, he delivered a philippic against the Capone gang and its "outlaw camp" in the Lexington hotel.

The Capone case became a matter of inquiry in the United States senate recently while a judiciary sub-committee was considering confirmation of Judge Wilkerson's appointment to the Appellate court. The whole matter was made public by District Attorney Johnson, who set forth his reasons for agreeing to the recommendation. Mr. Johnson was acclaimed by the senators at the conclusion of his testimony.

Then Judge Wilkerson wrote to the subcommittee, stating that he knew of the agreement and approved the proposed recommendation, but did not commit himself as to the final judgment after the hearing of evidence. Both judge and prosecutor said the other had acted properly. The subcommittee recommended Judge Wilkerson's confirmation. However, the matter has now been referred back to the subcommittee for further hearings.

SCHOOL BOARD STARTS ACTION TO CUT BUDGET

Nine Trustees Vote in Favor of Reduction.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A majority of the school trustees announced at a special meeting yesterday their intion to trim the $90,180,000 budget for 1932, which it is now apparent—even to them—that it is impossible to finance.

LEWIS E. MYERS.

The expressions came in the debate on Trustee W. D. McJunkin's resolution, which seeks specific information from the Dr. George Strayer survey on how to fit the school system into an $80,000,000, $70,000,000, and a $60,000,000 budget. That resolution, blocked last Wednesday, was adopted with the affirmative vote of all of the nine trustees present. Trustees Joseph P. Savage and Carter Blatchford were absent. The board also adopted a request of Mrs. W. S. Hefferan that the Strayer organization submit recommendations on curtailing "the noninstructional" activities of the schools in advance of its formal report, due June 1.

Myers Outlines Situation.

"It is perfectly certain to me," said President Louis E. Myers, who with Trustees Robert F. Carr and McJunkin voted against the $90,180,000 budget, "that the board must cut drastically. Many thousands can't pay the taxes levied against them; a few won't pay. We are not going to get the money.

"Why sit around while we slide further into debt waiting for the Strayer report? If the schools were a private institution it would have been in the hands of the sheriff long ago. The only way we can get it out of its insolvency is to cut expenses."

Mr. Myers said that he would ask the trustees to start trimming at the finance committee meeting tomorrow.

Two New Trustees Present.

The advent of the two new trustees, Orville J. Taylor and Ernest Buehler, appointed by Mayor Cermak last Friday, added to Trustees Myers, McJunkin, and Carr—who voted against the budget—gave the economy idea a majority among the nine trustees present. The effort to elect Joseph Burkhardt secretary of the board at the request of a former mayor failed last Wednesday, and was not renewed yesterday. Instead, the trustees reëlected Charles E. Gilbert, who has worked for the board for 42 years. His term, however, was limited to two, instead of four, years, which will permit Mayor Cermak to gain this job two years hence.

Mrs. Hefferan was the first of the trustees at the meeting yesterday to demand a cut in expenses. Though she is a Cermak appointee, she voted with the holdover trustees to pass the $90,180,000 budget. She said yesterday she voted that way "to protect the instructional side of the schools." She asserted that this side has been crippled too heavily already and she wants the operation of the schools, the business departments, and the attorney's office now trimmed before more is taken from the teachers.

Carr Wants Action.

"We have got to do something and do it quickly," said Trustee Carr.

"I voted against the budget because I then believed that it could not stand," said Trustee McJunkin. "I am more firmly convinced of it now I have been told by a banker that the banks will not loan any money until the budgets of the major governments are gotten down to $200,000,000.

"The impression has been given out that on the school board are two groups," said Trustee H. Wallace Caldwell. "One is supposed to favor tax spenders and the other look after the interests of the taxpayers. That impression, in my opinion, is false. I recognize we are not going to get the money. The people cannot pay the taxes levied. There must be further curtailment. Something drastic must be done, but I think we should get the recommendations from our survey, in three or four weeks, before we proceed far."

Trustees G. A. English and J. A. Hemingway made speeches in which they favored getting all the information possible from the Strayer survey.

Other Trustees Speak.

It is probable that President Myers will get the trustees started on further curtailment tomorrow. A cut of $20,000,000 has been urged and some of the trustees may hesitate, at the start, to shoot at such a mark; but public sentiment appears to have reached the point favoring a severe slash.

The old majority on the board, which passed the $90,180,000 budget, with the added vote of Mrs. Hefferan, has been opposed to eliminating any of the so called "fads and frills" of the system. Some of the trustees now recognize that if these are retained, and a slash of $20,000,000 is made, it will call for more sacrifice from the employes than would otherwise be necessary.

Ask Experts to Report.

The McJunkin resolution asks Dr. Strayer to suggest what will remain in the school system if a $10,000,000, a $20,000,000 or a $30,000,000 cut in expense is necessary.

Columbia university, represented by Dr. Strayer, is given $100,000 for the survey, and trustee McJunkin asserted that the survey group should supply the information requested.

POODLE ESCAPES AFTER IT BITES PRIEST AT MASS

A white poodle dog which escaped from police after biting the Rev. Joseph Paquette and an usher during services Sunday in the SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church, 91st street and Exchange avenue, was being hunted yesterday.

Unless the dog is found for examination for rabies, Dr. H. O. Jones of the health department said that Father Paquette and the usher, George Begel, 9231 Brandon avenue, would be given Pasteur treatments starting today.

Father Paquette, who was celebrating mass, was bitten in the hand when he tried to seize the dog, which approached the altar during services. Begel was also bitten in the hand when he tried to help Father Paquette. The dog was captured and turned over to South Chicago police. The dog escaped from the police garage when some one opened the door.

CITY EMPLOYES BARGAIN TO SAVE PAID VACATIONS

Offer More Payless Days Each Month.

The council finance committee heard the plea of city employes yesterday to save their vacations with pay by increasing the number of days they are to be docked in each month throughout the year.

After the committee session the aldermen indicated that Mayor Cermak's economy program probably would be amended to grant the request, especially as the city would lose nothing under the proposal made by union agents and other representatives of the employés.

Specific Plan Proposed.

Under the mayor's $15,457,740 retrenchment plan each employé is to be laid off 30 days without pay and docked six days' pay a month for two months and four days a month for nine months, a total of 78 days. In order to save the paid vacations it had previously been proposed by members of the committee that the employés be docked six days' pay a month for six months and seven days a month for six months, also a total of 78 days. In this way the employés could be paid during the layoff.

Nelson Fears Disorder.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], an opponent of the economy measure, suggested instead that the council ask the legislature for authority to issue bonds to supplement taxes in meeting current city expenses. He asserted that pay cuts and other factors arising from the depression might cause riots, which would result in the city having to pay damages in excess of the budget savings.

Irwin Knott, representing the electricans' union, who had pleaded against abolishment of paid vacations as a serious blow to employés' morale, replied:

"There is too much religion, education, and good sense in American citizens for them to join the ranks of communists and aid in any riots."

"Who would pay the interest and principal on those bonds but the taxpayers?" was a query put to Nelson by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th].

$45,000,000 CUT IS DEMANDED IN NEXT TAX LEVIES

Results of Survey Told by Kelly Committee.

ingly, the Kelly committee urged the necessity for a much larger cut in expenses than they have asked as a reduction in taxes. The 1931 tax warrants, unpaid salaries and bills of 1931 will have to be paid, and consequently the cut in 1932 expense may be much higher than the proposed 18.56 per cent cut in taxes.

Deals with Tax Levies.

The Kelly committee dealt only with tax levies yesterday. Its summarizing statement shows the tax extensions for 1930 for each division of the local governments and the maximum recommended for 1931 and for 1932. The recommendations provide no levy of taxes at all for the city's working cash fund, the building fund of the public library and the Zoölogical gardens for either 1931 or 1932. In addition they would eliminate the 1932 levy for county highway construction and the 1931 levy for the south park museum and the sanitary district pensions.

Two Funds Are Stationary.

All of the other tax levies for 1931 and 1932 are substantially reduced, with two exceptions. Some of the cuts are as high as 50 per cent.

The two exceptions are the pension fund for the schools and the bond and interest account of the board of education. For bonds and interest the schools levied $3,171,321 for 1930. Because of the subsequent issue of more bonds the Kelly committee boosted this amount for 1931 to $4,230,000 and to $6,490,000 for 1932. The pension fund is raised from $579,021 for 1930 to $900,000 for 1931 and to $1,300,000 for 1932.

Urge Passage of Bill.

A resolution was adopted at the luncheon urging the legislature to adopt the Cook county finance program, contained in senate bills numbers 170 to 176, which failed of adoption last week.

Among the public officials present were:

For the county—President Whealan, Thomas Nash, attorney for the county treasurer; County Tax Attorney Hayden Bell, M. J. O'Connor of the country controller's office, and County Assessor J. L. Jacoba.

For the sanitary district—President T. J. Bowler and Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of its finance committee.

In addition there were representatives present from each of the three large park systems and, in addition, Sewell Avery, E. R. Graham, Fred W. Sargent, George W. Rossetter, and Soule Waterfield.

T. B. Hamilton Retires as Official of Pennsy

T. B. Hamilton, a vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, retired yesterday in Chicago after 43 years in the service of the line. Mr. Hamilton, who is 66 years old, entered the Pennsylvania service in 1888 as rodman in the engineering corps at Louisville, Ky.

PAY $6,294,841 PERSONALTY TAX ON DEADLINE DAY

When the office of County Treasurer McDonough closed at 5:15 o'clock last evening—the deadline for the payment of 1930 personal property taxes—a total of $23,926,740 had been collected. This is 43.3 per cent of the total personalty levy for the year of $55,492,275.

Yesterday's receipts were $6,294,341, or 11.5 per cent of the total levy and 26 per cent of the total collections.

Although the state legislature fixed Sunday, May 1, as the date from which a penalty of 1 per cent a month is calculated, the treasurer accepted payments yesterday without the penalty because of the holiday.

Payments Over a Million.

The largest bill paid during the day was that of the Commonwealth Edison company. Assistant Treasurer O. C. Snyder presented a certified check for $1,819,003.01 and tax wararnts amounting to $1,322,426.17 for a total bill of $3,141,429.18.

Representatives of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company paid $1,084,190 in cash and $580,925 in warrants to settle their bill of $1,665,115. Secretary A. E. Patton of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois paid a bill of $526,914, of which $176,952 was in tax warrants.

Only $1,599,887 was received on realty tax payments yesterday, bringing the collections to $90,606,692. The penalty date for real estate has been extended to June 1.

Four railroads paid their 1930 railway assessments yesterday, the Chicago and North Western $54,413; the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, $48.845; the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville, $1,011, and the Chicago Rapid Transit lines, $15,423.

Park Board Meets Bonds.

The Lincoln park board deposited $570,000 in the First National bank yesterday for the retirement of bonds and interest which fall due today. Last month the board retired bonds and interest amounting to $325,000.

Both the county and forest preserve bonds which fell due yesterday were defaulted. It was the second default for Cook county bonds, although the first, which occurred last November, was paid the following day. The county was unable to meet $417,750 in bonds and interest and the forest preserve $63,000. The county so far has avoided other defaults through the issuance of $3,000,000 refunding bonds. The forest preserve has defaulted on $1,470,000 worth of bonds.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

Edward Hermanson, 59 years old, 222 South Morgan street, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries suffered when he fell on the sidewalk in front of 116 South Green street.

PICK NOMINEES IN LAKE COUNTY, IND., PRIMARY

Lake county, Ind., voters will go to the polls today to name nominees for congress and county offices after the first two party primary campaign in the Calumet region's history.

More than a hundred candidates are listed on the Democratic ballots, with that party holding its first true primary election. Nominations in previous years have generally gone by default.

Avowed wets are credited with leading in the race for nominations to congress. The county was made the first Indiana district by the last state legislature.

In the Republican congressional battle the apparent leaders are Mayor R. O. Johnson of Gary, who served a federal term for liquor conspiracy and is under a county indictment now for using city funds to build a summer home; Oliver Starr of Gary, former county prosecutor, and Oscar Ahlgren of Whiting, former state legislator. Miss Ora B. Riggs of Griffith, a dry, may rank high if the vote is badly divided.

On the Democratic ticket the leaders are Ora L. Wildermuth and Walter Stalton of Gary, both lawyers; Frank Martin of Hammond, county chairman, and William Schulte of Hammond, labor leaders.

ASK HOOVER AID IN SALVAGING OF ECONOMY BILL

House Chiefs Urge Plea for Pay Slash.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—The influence of President Hoover was sought today in the effort to salvage from 55 to 82 million dollars from the wreckage of the 200 million dollar economy bill when the house resumes consideration of the dilapidated measure tomorrow.

BERTRAND E. SNELL.

Members of the house will be compelled to go on record in a roll call vote on the reduction of pay of government employés before the passage of the bill tomorrow night.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], minority leader of the house, and John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.] conferred with Mr. Hoover on the critical state of the economy program and urged him to make an appeal to the congressmen, the bureaucracy, and the country in behalf of either one of the two pay cut plans rejected by the house last week.

Advised to Wield Club.

The club Mr. Hoover was advised to wield on the congressmen and the bureaucracy is the warning that unless a substantial pay cut is incorporated in the bill the 10 per cent reductions of the 1933 appropriation bills forced by the senate will compel the discharge of from 80,000 to 100,000 government employés.

Last week the house, influenced by the bureaucracy represented in crowded galleries, rejected the President's plan to reduce salaries by means of an enforced thirty days furlough without pay which the White House estimated would save 82 millions and then limited the economy committee's 11 per cent reduction to salaries above $2,500 which reduced the estimated saving by that plan from 67 to 12 millions.

What in effect the Republican leaders urged the President to do is to put it up to the federal bureaucracy to take the choice between a pay cut without curtailment of personnel or keep their path at the risk of being discharged.

Doubt Opposition to Cuts.

Both Messrs. Snell and Tilson thought members of the house will hesitate to go on record tomorrow against one or the other of the pay cut plans in view of popular dissatisfaction with the emasculation of the economy bill.

"If the individual members are paying any attention to what's going on back in their home districts and to the letters they are receiving, I do not believe they will go on record to keep the exemption from pay reduction as high as $2,500," said Mr. Snell.

"Congress is being flooded with letters from all over the country, and they are not organized propaganda, insisting that expenditures be reduced all along the line and government salaries be reduced, including those of congressmen."

See Furlough Plan Support.

Mr. Tilson opined that when the roll is called members will line up for the President's furlough plan as the device for cutting pay that would entail the least hardship for employés. It is possible that the 30 day furlough will be modified to 15 days without pay in view of the fact that employés with small salaries would sacrifice under that plan more than under the economy committee's proposed 11 per cent reduction above $1,000.

Mr. Hoover indicated that he would exert his influence in the house for the adoption of his plan tomorrow and might make a public appeal for the restoration of the pay cut and other features of the economy bill that have been rejected up to date.

The administration takes the position that the ten per cent decrease in appropriations forced by the senate can be met in the salary item only. If the economy bill as passed eventually provides for a pay cut departments will be able to operate with 10 per cent less funds without discharging employés. Otherwise with 10 per cent less money it will be necessary to reduce the number of persons on the pay roll.

Called Red Herring.

There was a debate in the senate this afternoon in which it was suggested that this alleged necessity of discharging employés in order to meet the ten per cent appropriations cut is a red herring being dragged across the economy trail by departments unwilling to accept any material retrenchment.

Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] cited telegrams and letters which department heads have inspired constituents to address to senators in opposition to the 10 per cent reduction as proof that the administration is covertly fighting the economy which it is publicly advocating. He said a widespread organized propaganda was being directed from Washington against the senate's economy plan by circulation of the statement that the reduction would entail wholesale discharge of government employés.

Charges Mills Back of It.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] ascribed the genesis of this line of attack to Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, who said in a letter that the senate cut would make it necessary to discharge 8,000 treasury employés. He challenged Mr. Mills to demonstrate that ten per cent could not be saved without dismissals.

Senator McKellar said that if the legalized graft were eliminated more than 10 per cent could be saved without discharging any employés. His reference was chiefly to the subsidies to shipbuilding and other interests. Senator Glass suggested that the senate direct that the economies be effected otherwise than by discharge of employés and Senator McKellar replied that the appropriations committee should do this.

More Voted for Widows.

The house gave an indication of what may happen to the remaining section of the measure, the veterans' bureau legislation, when it passed the $100,000,000 world war widows and orphans' bill.

The measure, sponsored by Representative Rankin [Dem., Miss.], came up under suspension of the rules and was adopted by a vote of 316 to 16 after only 40 minutes of debate.

Three Democrats and thirteen Republicans opposed the bill, which authorizes an expenditure of more than $10,000,000 during the next fiscal year and involves $100,000,000 over the next ten years.

"After that," a leader predicted, "no one can tell what it might cost. The faster they die or become dependent the harder it will be for the government."

WIFE DISAPPOINTED

MRS. McKEE MARSHALL.

Husband Rearrested

McKee Marshall, former bucket shop operator, yesterday completed terms for embezzlement and grand larceny in the Joliet penitentiary and was to have met his wife, who was Yvette Currier, an actress, in a Chicago hotel. But he learned that Capt. William McCanna of the Joliet police was waiting at the penitentiary gates with a fugitive warrant, charging him with a $150,000 embezzlement in Detroit several years ago. So Marshall retreated to his cell, took off all his clothes, and refused to leave the penitentiary.

"Bring him out in a blanket," said Capt. McCanna to guards. "I don't care whether he's dressed or not."

When he learned of the captain's order Marshall dressed, surrendered, and was locked up in the Joliet police station. His attorney, Simon Herr, said that he would resist extradition.

Marshall was indicted in 1922 on charges of operating a bucket shop with his father, Matthew M. Marshall, who died last January in the penitentiary. The younger Marshall was released on parole in 1928, but was arrested as a parole violator after charges were made against him in Detroit. He was returned to Joliet after a long court fight.

FARMERS VOTE STRIKE IF PRICE OF MILK IS CUT

Action Taken at Meetings in Three Districts.

More than 400 dairy farmers, meeting last night at Cloverdale, near Wheaton, voted to go on strike and to withhold their milk from market if Chicago distributors attempt to reduce the wholesale price from $2.01 a hundred pounds to a proposed $1.76.

Those attending the meeting represented the entire membership of District 10 of the Pure Milk association. Similar action was taken by the producers of two other districts in meetings at Matteson, in the southern part of Cook county, and at Bristol, in Kendall county, southwest of Aurora. Farmers of McHenry county are expected to vote opposition to any further price cut today.

Director Opposes Any Cut.

John Case, a member of the association's board of directors, told the Cloverdale gathering that he and all other directors were in favor of refusing to ship milk to Chicago if any reduction was made. The resolutions adopted instructed Case to maintain this stand.

The sentiment of the farmers was that the recent 12 to 14 per cent reduction in the pay of milk wagon drivers in Chicago did not justify any further lowering of farm milk prices. The farmers, it was pointed out, have already taken a 30 per cent cut since the depression started.

The Pure Milk association has 18,000 members, who furnish nearly all the milk for Chicago and forty-seven other cities in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Confer Behind Closed Doors.

A price conference was held behind closed doors at the Hotel La Salle yesterday. It was said the distributors wanted the farmers to reduce their sale price enough to lower the consumer price a cent a quart and a cent a pint. These negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

Dr. F. D. Walmsley, president of Borden's Farm Products company, spokesman for the dealers, declared that no definite proposal had been made at the conference yesterday and that only general market conditions were discussed. He said the dealers were inclined to discount any talk of farmers going bankrupt if the price paid to them was lowered further. Farmers are not suffering any more than city people these days, he declared.

Dealers Go to Farmers.

"In order to reduce retail prices to the public, we have been obliged to go to the farmers," said Dr. Walmsley. "We are paying them much higher prices for milk and cream than these products bring on the open market. The increased load of surplus milk because of lowered volume is also narrowing our spread between costs and sales."

It was also learned that a proposal had been made to the dealers that the retail price of both quarts and pints be reduced by a half cent so that the reduction obtained by the drivers' wage cut might be passed along to the consumer. This would mean that two quarts of milk would sell for 23 cents and two pints for 15 cents.

BILLION DOLLAR TAX BILL NEARS SENATE'S ACTION

Three Points Still in Controversy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—The new billion dollar revenue bill may be reported out of the senate finance committee and on to the floor tomorrow or the day after. The celerity with which the committee administers the finishing touches will depend on the facility with which it is able to agree to three controversial items which still remain to be taken up.

SEN. DAVID REED. [(C) Harris & Ewing]

These are the proposed tax on stock transfers, the postage rate increase, and the provision permitting revaluation of depreciated estates. The stock transfer tax, in particular, has aroused considerable divergence of opinion. The house bill proposes a tax of one-fourth of 1 per cent with a minimum of 4 cents per share.

Calls Tax Too High.

The treasury opposes the tax as too high, and Senator Reed [Rep., Pa.] is one committee member who will fight for the treasury proposal of a flat 4 cent rate. Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] will argue for a sliding rate, to begin with a 2 cent tax on shares of $5 or less in value, rising to 10 cents on shares worth $75 and over.

For its day's work today among other things the committee struck out the tax on pari-mutuel receipts voted last week, substituting a 25 per cent tax on race track admissions. A similar tax was placed on prize fight admissions costing $5 or more.

Wort Tax Increased.

The tax on brewers' wort was increased to 15 per cent, that on telegraph and telephone messages made 10 cents on messages costing between 50 cents and $1, 15 cents on messages between $1 and $1.99, and 20 cents over $2. The leased wire tax was cut from 10 to 5 per cent, but the exemption for press and radio leased wires was eliminated. The house increase in the tax on futures transactions in produce exchanges was rescinded.

Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.], senate majority leader, announced his intention of calling a Republican conference with the intention of getting approval for night sessions until the tax bill is adopted.

DRY AGENTS ARREST WOMAN.

Mrs. Gene Het, owner of a restaurant at 1922 Calumet avenue, was arrested by prohibition agents yesterday when a quantity of assorted liquors was found in the place. Vincenzio Cutaia was arrested and liquor seized in his saloon at 3812 North Ashland avenue.

After 20 Years' Search Find Lost Brother—Dead

John Holland and his sister, Mrs. Margaret Culhane, of Rochester, N. Y., have been seeking their brother, Edward Holland, for nearly twenty years. They had advertised all over the country and asked the assistance of authorities in the search. Yesterday they found the wandering brother. In response to a telegram from the Chicago police they came here. Edward Holland, who was 48 years old and lived at 563 West Randolph street, had been killed on Sunday when he was struck by an Illinois Central suburban train at Randolph street. His relatives found his body in an undertaking establishment.

Haul Water in Milk Cans as Suburban Home Burns

Firemen pressed a milk truck into service and hauled water three miles in milk cans early yesterday when a failing water supply frustrated their efforts to save the burning home of William Lucas, at 150th street and Lawndale avenue, in Midlothian Highlands. The only water supply in the suburb is carried in a three-quarter inch pipe, installed by the subdivider who sold the lots there. Lucas' house was a total loss, but the firemen saved adjoining homes.

Sweden Reveals Ivar Kreuger Faced Investigation by Banks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, May 2.—Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish match king, was driven to suicide because of the prospect of imminent exposure of extensive frauds in connection with his various companies. This was revealed in a report issued today by the banking committee of the Swedish riksdag.

Just before his death, the report said, Swedish bankers had decided to investigate the position of the Kreuger group of companies. Kreuger had been asked to attend a meeting in Berlin of officials of the banks on Sunday, March 13, to discuss the pending investigation. It was the day before that meeting that Kreuger shot and killed himself in Paris.

Request for Loan Started Probe.

Developments which led to the demand for an investigation began with a request by Kreuger in October, 1931, for a loan of $24,000,000 from the riksbank.

This loan at first was refused, but at a subsequent conference between members of the government and representatives of the bank, it was pointed out that the consequences would be serious if the Kreuger concern were compelled to suspend payments. Eventually a loan of $8,000,000 was granted.

Last February the Swedish Match company was in urgent need of credit to meet a claim due in America of $1,600,000, and on March 1 the Kreuger and Toll company was due to pay $960,000.

Credit Is Granted.

Application for this money was made first to the riksbank and later to some private banks. A meeting was called and it was agreed to grant the credit to the match company.

Representatives of the riksbank had scruples regarding this credit, but agreed to grant it in order to prevent an immediate suspension of payments by the match company and Kreuger & Toll.

The credit was granted on condition that the Kreuger concern would give representatives of the lending banks an opportunity to make a complete investigation of its position immediately. Kreuger, facing the prospect of immediate exposure, took his own life rather than face the consequences, it is theorized.

Chief Accountant Arrested.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 2.—(AP)—Herr Hennig, chief accountant of the companies of the late Ivar Kreuger, was arrested today. He was the sixth man held in connection with the investigation into Kreuger's affairs.

Phone Stock Deal Pending.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—While negotiations are in progress looking toward disposition of the L. M. Ericsson Telephone company stock, which the International Telephone and Telegraph company contracted to acquire from Kreuger & Toll, no agreement as yet has been reached. This was said today at the I. T. & T. offices.

According to Stockholm dispatches, International Telephone and Ericsson had reached an agreement in connection with the $11,000,000 loan obtained by Kreuger & Toll from International, for which a large block of Ericsson stock was pledged.

Swedish Banks to Help.

Under the agreement reported to have been reached it was said the Swedish Handelsbank and other Stockholm interests would take 30 per cent of the shares off the hands of I. T. & T. and Ericsson would transfer to the I. T. & T. its concessions in France and Argentina.

In denying the accuracy of the Stockholm dispatches officials of I. T. & T. point out that the transaction for the Ericsson stock, arranged by the late Ivar Kreuger and International, was not predicated upon a credit advance by the latter, but represented a straight purchase agreement. Mr. Kreuger offered to sell a substantial block of Ericsson stock, owned by Kreuger & Toll, to International for an undisclosed consideration.

Deal Near Completion.

International partially completed the deal by payment of half the purchase price, and at the same time 70 per cent of the Ericsson stock involved in the sale was deposited with a Swedish bank, with the balance to be similarly deposited on payment of the remainder of the purchase price, and the entire block of stock then turned over to International.

The deal, however, never was completed, and at the moment the depositary bank still holds the 70 per cent of the total Ericsson stock, which International agreed to buy and for which one-half of the purchase price was advanced.

Kreuger & Toll may elect to return the 50 per cent of the purchase price paid to it and recover the Ericsson stock, or, if the finances of the company are not adequate to cover such procedure, International may pay the 30 per cent still due on the transaction and secure the entire block of Ericsson stock.

NEW OFFICIALS OF LAKE FOREST ARE INSTALLED

New and reelected officials of Lake Forest were inducted into office at the council meeting last night. Among them was Mayor Albert D. Farwell, reelected.

Two new officials were Ald. Frank J. Hoffman of the Second ward, son-in-law of Ald. James A. Griffis of the Third ward, and Ald. Richard Mabbatt of the Fourth ward. Ald. Francis E. Manierre of the First ward and Ald. Griffis were reelected. Sworn in also were City Treasurer Henry Rhode, City Supervisor Ray S. Wells, City Magistrate Edwin Burgess, and City Marshal A. Duane Jackman.

Frederick J. Held, retiring alderman of the Second ward, was presented with a gold star by Mayor Farwell in recognition of his ten years of service as a council member.

As part of the regular council meeting, Ald. Kent Chandler introduced a resolution urging that the city of Lake Forest begin foreclosure proceedings against realty and similar companies which are delinquent $132,500 in special assessments. The resolution was passed.

ADD BARGAINS OF 1932—A FINE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Prairie du Chien, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—Seventy-four year old Jack Fernette has had many queer things placed in his care in the thirty odd years he has been keeper of the Milwaukee Railroad company's "lock-up" for unclaimed and damaged freight at Prairie du Chien. But when an electric chair was delivered the other day at the railroad platform of the stone building on the Mississippi, the old French-Canadian admitted that was the limit.

It's a real death chair, but where it came from or how it happened to become unclaimed freight Farnette hasn't an idea. "There it is. That's all I know about it," he declared, as he exhibited the gruesome affair.

"It's for sale. Everything is for sale in the 'lockup.' But who'd want to buy an electric chair?" he asked.

COURT APPEARS LIKE STORE AT "WEIGHT" TRIAL

Groceries, Meat, Scales Are Piled About.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Judge James J. Kelly's Criminal court yesterday took on the appearance of a grocery and meat market.

Hundreds of packages of meat and provisons were piled up on evidence tables, and market scales were set up in this court domain where ordinarily the only balances in use are the figurative scales of justice.

The exhibits were put on show by assistant state's attorneys in their efforts to prove the guilt of Dan Serritella and Harry Hochstein on charges that they conspired with merchants of Chicago to permit wholesale short weight frauds against housewives. Serritella, henchman of Al Capone, was city sealer under the former city administration and Hochstein was his chief deputy.

Women Buyers to Testify.

Six women, employed as investigators by the state's attorney's office, went about the city during Serritella's régime making purchases, and they are expected to testify, beginning today, that they frequently were given short weight. The purchases are in evidence to bolster the testimony.

The meat was more than a year old. When it was first trundled into the courtroom yesterday noon, having come direct from a cold storage warehouse, it was frozen hard.

But a balmy breeze blowing through the only open window in the court conspired with the heat pouring from the engine room vents, and soon had its effect on the frozen meat. If any spectator was deluded into a belief that he had entered a market instead of a courtroom, his nose must have dissuaded him from attempting to buy. At any rate, there were no offers, although Hochstein, one of the defendants, was heard to remark that the heaped up packages would have made a generous offering to the poor.

In fairness to Hochstein it should be stated he made the remark before the meat thawed.

Stores' "Gifts" Are Shown.

It was a penchant for giving to the poor that to some degree placed Hochstein and Serritella in their present trouble. The state has shown by witnesses that five companies operating chain stores in Chicago contributed generously of meat, groceries, and cash to provide the contents of Christmas baskets distributed by the Serritella political organization to poor voters.

In return for these favors, the state charges, the chain stores were given immunity from prosecution for short weighting their patrons, and that whereas a few of Serritella's political supporters might have profited by this form of charity, Chicago housewives were cheated of millions of dollars.

Judge Kelly overruled the extended arguments of the defense lawyers, who fought to keep the testimony and the odorous exhibits from the ken of the jury. Defense Attorney Benedict J. Short argued that the city sealer and his chief deputy could not be held responsible for the errors or frauds of butchers and grocers all over the city. But the judge held that evidence could be received of purchases made by the state's attorney's investigators from the stores owned by companies which had donated provisions or cash to the Serritella Christmas basket or political funds.

Companies Listed by Judge.

These companies, as listed by Judge Kelly, are Feilchenfeld Bros., the National Tea company, the General Market House, the Consumers Sanitary Coffee and Butter Stores, and Novak Bros.

Mrs. Paula Hackedorn, one of the investigators, explained on the witness stand yesterday how they all worked. Two of the women would visit a store, inquire the price per pound of a meat cut, and make a purchase. Upon leaving the store for the automobile used in their tours they would make out a report, and at the end of the day they took their purchases to an office in the Transportation building, where the goods was reweighed, checked with the purchase price, and later stored. In about one-half of the purchases made, Mrs. Hackedorn said, the investigators were short weighted, or overcharged.

Alimony to Be Cut

MRS. KAREN STEVENSON.

Dr. A. F. Stevenson Seeks Cut in Alimony.

Club memberships are a business necessity and not a luxury to a Gold Coast physician, it was contended yesterday on behalf of Dr. Alexander F. Stevenson, 1510 Dearborn parkway, when his petition to reduce his ex-wife's alimony was presented to Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court.

JUDGE SABATH.

The petition asked that payments of $300 a month to Mrs. Karen Nielsen Stevenson, who divorced him in 1930, be reduced to $150 a month. Attorney George L. Schein, who presented the petition, informed Judge Sabath that Dr. Stevenson established a trust fund of $75,000 at the time of the divorce to insure payment of the alimony, but that because of the depreciated stock market the fund at present yields less than $150 a month. The physician was not in court.

Depression Cuts Income.

Dr. Stevenson's income from his practice has declined in the last two years from $30,000 to $10,000 a year, his attorney added. His client is a member of the University, Saddle and Cycle, Raoquet, Onwentsia and Chicago Yacht clubs.

"In order to keep his practice," the attorney told Judge Sabath, "Dr. Stevenson must maintain a certain social establishment. These club memberships are really business necessities to him."

Mrs. Stevenson was present. Her attorney, Fred O. Mason, told Judge Sabath: "I see no reason to cut the alimony in half so long as Dr. Stevenson continues to pay extensive dues on his club memberships."

Suggests $200 Per Month.

Judge Sabath said he agreed, but thought that in view of the reduction in the doctor's income the alimony should be reduced in some degree. He suggested that it be cut to $200 a month, and the case was continued until tomorrow to give Attorney Schein an opportunity to discuss the matter with his client.

Mrs. Stevenson was a noted beauty in Copenhagen, Denmark. She met Dr. Stevenson in 1910 while he was attending a medical convention there. Their wedding the same year was a society event. Mrs. Stevenson was formerly on the stage, and during her marriage took a prominent part in amateur dramatics in Chicago. She lived until recently in Santa Barbara, Cal., but her present residence is 2509 West North avenue.

Nurse Ends Life with Poison in Hotel Room

Miss Delminea Bedard, 51 years old, a registered nurse, was found unconscious from poisoning in her room at the Terminal hotel, 746 South Dearborn street, late last night and died early this morning in the county hospital. She had registered at the hotel on Saturday night as Daisy Brown of Detroit. A note found in her room directed that Mrs. S. Bode, 4210 North Irving avenue, be notified. Mr. Bode identified the woman as Miss Bedard, who recently lived at 6447 Woodlawn avenue.

MOTHER, CHILD DIE IN FLAMES AS AUTO UPSETS

Two members of a Chicago family were burned to death and a third was critically injured when their speeding automobile left a Wisconsin highway following a tire blowout yesterday afternoon, rolled down an embankment and burst into flames on striking a tree stump.

The fatality victims were Mrs. Elizabeth Nita, 38 years old, and her daughter, Catherine, 5, of 1447 West 120th street. Paul Nita, owner of a grocery at the 120th street address, husband of Mrs. Nita and father of the girl, suffered probably fatal injuries and was taken to a hospital in Beloit.

The accident occurred in highway 20, midway between Janesville and Delavan. Nita, his wife and child were driving to Evansville, Wis., where he had recently purchased a farm. When the tire blew out their heavy car swerved sharply. Two young men following in another auto kicked in the glass windows of the overturned car, but the gasoline flames foiled their heroic efforts to drag out Mrs. Nita and Catherine.

One automobile death in Cook county yesterday increased the toll to 368 since Jan. 1. The victim:

Anton Sieverits, 53 years old, 3654 McLean avenue. Died at the county hospital from hurts sustained Sunday morning when his car collided with a heavy motor truck at Barry and Austine avenues.

Burns from Match Fires Prove Fatal to Two

Frank Diafira, 4 years old, 2035 Emerson avenue, and Louis Gilbertson, 42 years old, 5056 Winona avenue, died yesterday at the county hospital of burns suffered in separate accidents caused by ignition of matches. The Diafira boy was fatally burned while playing with matches in his home. Matches which Gilbertson carried in his pocket were ignited as he was getting off a street car.

sparkling in firm gums

Don't forget the FIRM gums if you want to keep those teeth

It certainly is pleasant to show the friends and neighbors a display of white teeth—when you talk and smile and laugh.

But—if you want to keep your teeth, watch out for your gums.

Everyone has heard about pyorrhea. But people are often inclined to regard it as a distant danger—something that may happen to others but not likely to touch themselves. The infection begins at the gum line and eats its way downward to the tooth sockets. The disease may be under way for several years before it takes a single tooth, but half the adult teeth lost are due to pyorrhea.

Take these two precautions now against "lost teeth." First, be sure not to forget the address of your dentist. Visit him twice a year, anyway. He is a real friend in need. Second, pick out a toothpaste that does more than polish your teeth. Forhan's Toothpaste is a thoroughly good cleanser—none better. But it takes care of the gums too, and that is mighty important, because you cannot have healthy teeth in unhealthy gums. Dr. R. J. Forhan worked 26 years as a pyorrhea specialist, and his exclusive formula cannot be obtained by the public except in Forhan's Toothpaste. Get ahead of pyorrhea. Prevention is the only way. Take it seriously and you will not be sorry. Start today with Forhan's. All druggists.

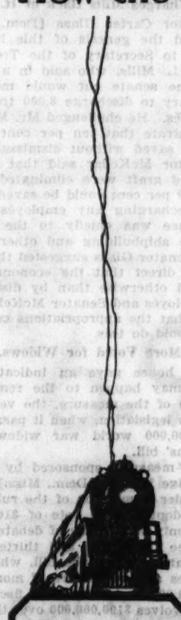
How the Railroads Are Fighting Back



In the effort to make ends meet, many railroads have discontinued trains, closed stations, curtailed purchases, reduced wages, laid off employes, suspended dividends.

Such economies have led some to say that the railroads are retreating under fire. That is not true.

Although forced by necessity to exercise the greatest economies, the railroads have also made numerous rate reductions, increased the safety, speed and dependability of trains, introduced new travel comforts, tried out pick-up and delivery of package freight, intensified their sales efforts to improve their earnings.

It is a struggle against odds of unequal regulation and subsidized competition, but the railroads are making that struggle with determination and resourcefulness. They ask and deserve the support of the public.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

LEAGUE ENVOYS REVEAL JAPAN'S MANCHURIAN GRIP

Report Says All Chinese Authority Is Gone.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 2.—The full extent of Japanese control in Manchuria is revealed in the first report of Lord Lytton's investigating commission, set up by the league of nations' council. The report reached the league secretariat today and will be published Wednesday. It is a preliminary report, in which, the commission says, it purposely refrains from drawing conclusions and making comment, giving only the facts.

In the way of facts, the report gives the strength of the Japanese and Chinese forces, shows that the Manchoukuo army and police are being trained by the Japanese, and says that "armed conflicts between the various forces are frequent." Banditry is on the increase and the result is "loss of life, destruction of property and a general sense of insecurity," the report says.

Chinese Authority Gone.

The commission answers one of the council's questions as to the success of the Chinese in carrying out their pledge to safeguard Japanese outside of the South Manchurian railway zone, which is controlled by Japan. The report says the question is no longer relevant because of the establishment of the state of Manchoukuo.

"The Chinese government does not now exercise any authority in any part of Manchuria," it adds.

There are 22,400 Japanese troops in Manchuria, compared to 12,900 last September, when the war began, the report says. Of these, 6,600 are inside the South Manchuria railway zone and 15,800 are outside. The figures, the commission adds, come from the Japanese. So do the figures on the Manchoukuo army, which the report sets off in quotation marks. This army totals 85,000 men.

Led by Jap Officers.

"The troops designated by the Japanese military authorities as the Manchoukuo army are formed partly by Chinese regulars and men who have been newly recruited," the report says. "They are created with the help of the Japanese military authorities.

"Many Japanese officers, either retired or still belonging to the Japanese army, have been engaged as military advisers, and their numbers re increasing. The contracts of some of these officers are for one year."

AGREE ON ARMISTICE

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 3 [Tuesday].—The Sino-Japanese armistice conference resumed its sessions at the British consulate at 10 o'clock this morning to conclude an agreement which was practically settled at a meeting of the military subcommittee yesterday afternoon.

An outstanding feature of the agreement is a provision for Japanese troops to start withdrawal from the front lines in the Shanghai area within one week after the accord becomes effective. The withdrawal is to be completed within four weeks.

Chinese Agree Not to Advance.

The Chinese agree to keep their troops in their present positions pending later agreements upon the reestablishment of normal conditions. Meanwhile, the Chinese government agrees to create a special constabulary to maintain peace and order in the area to be evacuated by the Japanese army.

Places where Japanese troops will be temporarily stationed are indicated on a special map attached to the draft agreement. Most of these points are adjacent to the Hongkew section. One detachment of Japanese troops will be stationed near Woosung.

A joint commission of twelve members will certify that the agreement is faithfully carried out by both sides. One civilian and one military representative each will be named by the American, British, French, Italian, Japanese and Chinese governments.

Japanese Sentry Slain.

Husband Charged with Bigamy

REVEAL PASCHEN, IN CITY JOB, GOT CITY CONTRACTS

His Income Tax Trial Starts Today.

A venire of sixty men from which to select a jury for the trial of Christian P. Paschen, former city building commissioner, charged with income tax fraud, remained yesterday after Federal Judge John P. Barnes had heard excuses from prospective jurors called for the May term of court.

Paschen's trial is scheduled to begin this morning before Judge Barnes. To avoid any possible delay, the government continued or assigned to Judge George A. Carpenter all other criminal cases. The government will call about 70 witnesses against Paschen and the defense has intimated that it will have a great number, so that the trial is expected to last from two to three weeks.

The indictment alleges that Paschen attempted to evade a tax of $113,497.

Federal investigators disclosed that in addition to evidence of expenditures totaling near $1,000,000 on Paschendale, the defendant's 2,000 acre estate near Antioch, it will be shown that his companies got contracts from the city aggregating $50,000 while he was in the cabinet of the former administration.

Under state law it is illegal for a municipal official to do contract work for the municipality, but the statute of limitations has run on this. The government is concerned only with the income that accrued to Paschen.

Paschen is to be defended by Col. Cassius Poust, who as a former assistant United States attorney helped to prosecute most of the gangsters and politicians in the government income tax campaign.

Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green, income tax ace of District Attorney Johnson's staff, will be in charge of the prosecution. He will be assisted by Samuel G. Clawson and William J. Froelich.

ONE KILLED, SIX HURT AS BLAST WRECKS HOMES

One man was killed and six persons were injured yesterday in a gas explosion which wrecked a cottage at 2348 Roscoe street. The home to the east of the cottage was destroyed by flames and the roof of a two story building to the west collapsed in the fire which followed the blast.

HERMAN GRIEP.

The dead man was Herman Griep, 63 years old, a carpenter, owner of the cottage. The injured are Mrs. Nettie Fouke, 60 years old, 1753 Warren avenue, who was passing the cottage when the explosion occurred; Mrs. Carrie Heisler, 54 years old, 2340 Roscoe street; George Ries, 4343 North Irving avenue, a street car motorman, whose car was passing in Roscoe street; Mrs. Anna Gartner, 2346 Roscoe street; her husband, Herman; and Mrs. Ella Dienes, 2350 Roscoe street. All were cut by flying glass or bruised by wood and brick hurled by the explosion. The Gartner home was wrecked by fire.

The blast lifted the roof of the cottage into the air. A portion 15 feet square soared over the building to the west and crashed down on three gasoline pumps of an oil station at Western avenue and Roscoe street. Another portion of the same size was flung over the home to the east and fell on the eaves of buildings at 2340-42 Roscoe street.

Division Fire Marshal Richard W. Thomasius found a broken gas pipe in the basement of the ruined cottage where Griep's body lay. He said he believed the explosion may have been caused when Griep went into the basement to hunt for a leak with a lighted match. He estimated the damage at $25,000.

A witness said he saw Griep trying to open the front basement window a few minutes before the explosion. Griep has been living alone in the home for a week. His wife is in New York visiting a daughter, Mrs. Harry Baker.

LIGHT SENTENCES IMPOSED IN RAPE CASES ASSAILED

Chamberlin Finds Probation Illegal.

Chicago's latest sex crime—the rape of a 15 year old girl by three men who kidnaped her at Paulina and 16th streets late Sunday—led to a study of rape statistics yesterday by Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission.

He made two findings: One, that Criminal court judges have, in the past, placed rapists on probation in violation of the Illinois statutes, and secondly, that light sentences have often been imposed upon convicted rapists.

Light Sentences Imposed.

"Our records," said Col. Chamberlin, "show that too often rapists were given one and two year sentences in 1930 and 1931. The law gives a judge the power to send a person convicted of rape to prison for one year, for life, or for any number of years he sees fit. The circumstances should, of course, determine the severity of the term, but the ten, twenty, and life sentences appear too infrequently in the records our investigators compile.

"I note that probation is sometimes allowed. This is done illegally. The judges who place rapists on probation are violating the law."

Two Years' Records Shown.

Col. Chamberlin drew a summary of actions in Cook county's Criminal court on rape cases for 1930 and 1931. During the first year 143 cases with 155 defendants were disposed of. Seventy-three were imprisoned, 9 were given probation, and 73 were discharged. In 1931, 135 cases with 140 defendants were disposed of—54 being imprisoned, 16 were placed on probation, and 70 discharged.

The following table shows the disposition of the defendants in these years:

Disposition	1930.	1931.
Penitentiary	29	29
Reformatory	13	6
House of correction	13	17
County jail	18	2
Probation	9	16
Verdict not guilty (by jury)	15	8
Finding not guilty (by court)	11	30
Stricken (with leave to reinstate)	27	13
Nolle prosse	17	13
Dismissed (for want of prosecution)	2	6
Cause abated (death)	1	..
Totals	155	140

Reports by crime commission investigators for January, February, and March, 1932, were also available. In January, five cases with three defendants were disposed of—one being imprisoned, one nolle prossed, and one dismissed. In February, five cases with four defendants were disposed of—two being imprisoned, one given a verdict of not guilty and one nolle prossed. In March, nine cases with ten defendants were disposed of two being imprisoned, one given probation and 7 discharged.

FEINBERG HALTS HUNT FOR ASSETS OF CLOSED BANK

The search for assets of the closed Second Northwestern State bank was halted yesterday by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg. He also refused to reopen the investigation into charges made by Harriet Shoskey, a clerk, which caused Frank Lackowski, former president of the bank, to commit suicide after a court hearing.

Attorney Charles S. Deneen, counsel for Lackowski's widow, demanded the right to clear the name of his client's husband, who had been charged with improper dealings. The attorney charged that Miss Shoskey's assertions were untrue. The woman only recently recovered from an overdose of sleeping powder taken in what was believed to be a suicide attempt a few days after Lackowski's death.

Judge Feinberg said that he had the power only to seek assets and avowed that the determination of the veracity of the witnesses who appeared in his courtroom was not within his jurisdiction. Attorney Deneen charged that witnesses in other cases had been similarly examined. Judge Feinberg then entered his order.

During the afternoon hearing attachments were issued for Max Hencel, 4758 Archer avenue; Louis A. Cinderski, 5224 Nelson avenue, and Joseph A. Lasecki, 4357 South Sacramento avenue, the latter two lawyers, who are debtors to the Second Northwestern bank. None of the men could be reached by summons servers, Attorney Angus Roy Shannon told the court.

ESSKAYE'S FOES PLOT ITS RUIN, ORGANIZER SAYS

Ex-Kleagle Tells Followers About "Prosperity."

The power trust and the international bankers are plotting to wreck Esskaye, Inc., the "prosperity" movement in which Edward Young Clarke of Atlanta, former imperial kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, is attempting to enlist Chicagoans on payment of $10 and $25 membership fees.

Clarke made this charge at an indignation meeting held by several hundred of his followers in the Morrison hotel last night. The meeting followed the disclosure that the ex-kleagle had been indicted at Jacksonville, Fla., for using the mails to defraud and had pleaded guilty at Houston, Tex., to a violation of the white slave law.

Prosperity Hangs in Balance.

"You good people are not interested in whether E. Y. Clarke has been a bad boy," Kleagle Clarke proclaimd. "You are interested only in whether Clarke has a solution for the depression. I tell you, fellow members in Esskaye, that when our bill to help the farmer has been put across in congress prosperity will come back in 24 hours. The power trust and the international bankers can't stop us."

"Of course we want money," he continued. "We will have to put 500 lecturers in the field to put Esskaye over. The funds ought to come from you people of the great middle class, who will benefit most when prosperity comes back.

"To insinuate that E. Y. Clarke is going to use Esskaye for his own gain is a dastardly lie," the ex-kleagle asserted. "I hope to be struck dead on this platform if I have a contract to take anything more than my actual expenses out of this campaign."

Will Get Money Back.

"But the laborer is worth his hire," he explained. "Those who put money into Esskaye shall get it back. If they do the organizing job well they are entitled to money for their services, more money than the clerks of the crazy fool bankers are getting."

While the Esskaye members were applauding these remarks, dispatches arrived from his home state revealing that Clarke is wanted at Jasup, Ga., to serve a sentence of two years on the chain gang or pay a $2,000 fine for an earlier Esskaye promotion.

Clarke, the dispatches said, was arrested Oct. 30, 1930, in Atlanta on a warrant sworn out by G. M. Harrington, editor of the Jesup Sentinel, who had invested $2,000 in Esskaye, Inc., then represented as a fraternal society.

Named in Five Indictments.

The ex-kleagle's wife, Martha Anna Clarke, was also arrested, the county grand jury returning five indictments against each of them. At a trial before City Judge D. M. Clarke at Jesup in the February term of 1931, the dispatches state, Clarke was found guilty on two counts in the indictment.

The court imposed a sentence of one year on the chain gang or a $1,000 fine on each count. Clarke, the dispatches said, appealed to both the Georgia Court of Appeals and the Georgia Supreme court, posting a $1,500 bond in each case. Mrs. Clarke, then the secretary-treasurer of Esskaye, was not brought to trial.

Testimony in the case, according to the dispatches, was to the effect that Clarke sold Esskaye Pionee participation certificates to hundreds of persons in Georgia, claiming that Esskaye, Inc., had assets of $20,000 in Atlanta and a $25,000 emlbem factory at Newman, Ga. During the trial, the dispatches state, it was proved that Esskaye had no assets.

Granted $600

Mrs. Alice J. Cushing, 20 years old, told Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday that under no circumstances would she return to Francis J. Cushing, 900 Edgemere court, Evanston, son of John F. Cushing, wealthy president of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company. Judge Sabath continued the hearing of Mrs. Cushing's divorce bill a month ago to give Cushing a chance to seek a reconciliation. Following a conference in chambers it was agreed that Mrs. Cushing will receive $600 as an alimony settlement and will present her charges of cruelty, on which she seeks a decree, today.

potato chips consumed here, admitted he had not received any orders from the navy since the conviction.

He said, however, he did not consider that evidence of a boycott, as the orders from Pearl harbor—the island's big naval base—came irregularly, four or five times a month.

In official circles interest shifted to pending cases against men charged with assaults upon women, including that of the four youths who with Kahahawai were charged with assaulting Mrs. Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue.

Horace Ida, Japanese; Henry Chang, Chinese; David Takai, Japanese, and Ben Ahakuelo, Hawaiian, will be retried, probably this month, for the Massie assault. Their first trial, along with Kahahawai, resulted in a deadlocked jury, 6 to 6, with all racial elements on the jury divided. Kahahawai was lynched two months later.

Joseph Young, 22, Corean, charged with assaulting a young Chinese girl, goes to trial tomorrow.

The next move in the slaying case will be made Friday when sentence is to be passed. The defense has announced a new trial will be sought. If that move fails, appeal to the Hawaii Supreme court and, if necessary, to the federal appellate courts will be taken.

Maj. Fortescue to Join Wife.

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—Maj. Granville R. Fortescue said today that he will sail from Los Angeles on the steamship Mariposa next Saturday for Honolulu to join his wife, who, with her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men was convicted of slaying Joseph Kahahawai. He returned late last night from Washington, where he spent the week-end conferring with federal officials regarding the case.

WIFE OF PROSECUTOR KELLEY ADMITS SHE BEAT MAN IN THEATER

HONOLULU, May 2.—[U. P.]—Mrs. Nan Kelley, winsome young wife of Prosecutor John C. Kelley, admitted today she was the woman who flogged a man in a San Francisco theater in January, 1931, because he "annoyed" her.

Mrs. Kelley, whose husband has just won conviction of four Americans accused of "taking the law into their own hands" to punish an alleged attacker, said she remembered the incident vividly. The young matron said George Kenney, 28, a mechanic, sat next to her in the theater and annoyed her with his attentions. She chased him into the lobby, drew a leather belt from her coat and thrashed him until a policeman intervened.

Kenney's sister, who was with him, denied the charges. Kenney was arrested for disturbing the peace, but Mrs. Kelley refused to prosecute. She told Municipal Judge Theresa Meikle that Kenney "had been punished enough."

NORTHUP QUITS AS PROSECUTOR TO TAKE REST

Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup resigned from the state's attorney's staff yesterday after a court appearance against Timothy L. Connolly and Donald R. Joyce. He gave as reasons for the resignation his candidacy for the attorney generalship, his private practice, and need for a rest after his long battle which resulted in conviction in the sanitary district whoopee cases.

Connolly, former purchasing agent of the district, and Joyce, former superintendent of vehicle maintenance, were acquitted last Friday of forgery charges. Eight additional forgery charges against Joyce were nol prossed yesterday before Judge John Prystalski. Forgery charges in which he was co-defendant with Joyce were nol prossed for Connolly but seven bribery charges, two larceny charges, and the conspiracy charge were allowed to stand against him.

SPLIT ATOM MAY LEAD TO TURNING LEAD INTO GOLD

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 2.—The assertion of two young Cambridge scientists that in breaking up an atom by a new high voltage process they transmuted one element into another has aroused world-wide interest in scientific and commercial circles.

Lord Ernest Rutherford, director of the Cavendish laboratory, Cambridge university, where the experiments were conducted under his supervision by Dr. J. VD. Cockroft and Dr. E. T. S. Walton, tonight said that he had not yet been able positively to identify any particular element that had been produced.

"I am not sure that in breaking up the atom by a new process we have produced helium from another light element," he said. "That is speculation, but it is probably right."

Besides breaking up the atom by a new process and transmuting elements, another claim on behalf of the experimenters is that energies were released from atoms as they broke up much greater than that of the particles used to bombard the atoms. This leads to the hope that a new source of amplification of power may have been discovered.

Lord Rutherford said emphatically tonight that the experiments had been directed at "breaking down the atom, not building it up."

The head of a large British industrial laboratory in commenting on the commercial significance of the Cockroft-Walton experiments tonight said that, while they were not of immediate practical importance, it appeared certain that the dreams of the alchemist of producing rare metals from base metals could now be "realized technically."

"Whether it can be done on a commercial basis," he said, "remains to be seen, but the control and disintegration of the inner atomics of structure will undoubtedly give rise to accurate knowledge of the ultimate structure of matter."

Sir Richard Gregory, scientist, had no hesitation tonight in saying the experiments "proved beyond doubt" that one element can be transformed from another.

"They show you have only got to change the number of electrons going round, or a bit of an atom of a certain element," he said, "to change the nature of the element. It is easy to imagine all manner of wonderful things that might happen as a result of this. One can think of lead being transformed into gold."

TOWN ACCOUNTS FOR ALL SMITHS IN KIDNAP SCARE

Police at Western Springs received an excited telephone call from the operator at Zanesville, O., late last night. She informed them that a note, signed by Rob Smith of 4116 Grove avenue of their community had been found in state route 50. The note read:

"For God's sake, hurry! I am being kidnaped!"

Immediately the police shared the long distance operator's excitement. They scanned the column headed "Smith" in the town directory. No one of that name was listed at 4116 Grove avenue, but further inspection revealed a Smith living close by. He was the Rev. Burt E. Smith, head of the Methodist Men's Movement, residing at 4143 Grove avenue.

Detectives hurried to the clergyman's home. They learned that he was at Atlantic City attending a convention. They also learned that his son, Marvin, is a student at Ohio Wesleyan college at Delaware, O. Telephonic communication with the college revealed Marvin was in bed in the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house.

"The note may be a hoax," commented Police Chief Clarence Burg. "My guess is that all the Smiths in Western Springs, Ill., are safe and accounted for."

WATCH POLAND! SHE PLANS COUP! DANZIG CHARGES

Official Says Soldiers Surround Free City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DANZIG, May 2.—"Despite the fact that Great Britain and France succeeded in preventing a Polish invasion of Danzig on May 1, the danger of a Polish invasion remains acute and the situation in this free city is most critical.

F. A. Lubianski, official spokesman of the Danzig senate, made this declaration today. He explained that "for weeks Danzig has been aware of the fact that members of two Polish semi-official military organizations, the Legionnaires and the Sokols, reinforced by regular Polish troops, were drawing closer around Danzig. The entire Polish fidet has assembled at Gdynia, eight miles from Danzig, ready to steam into Danzig port."

Refutes Polish Claim.

"The Polish government," Lubianski continued, "insists it has nothing to do with the assembling of martial elements around Danzig. However, the campaign in the Polish press attacking the Italian Count Manfred Gravina, neutral high commissioner of Danzig, belies this statement. Poland's systematic undermining of Danzig's trade also belies all pretense of Polish good will.

"International agreements provide that Danzig be made a free city to take care of Poland's port traffic. The high commissioner of the league of nations ruled that through these agreements Danzig is entitled to a part of Poland's trade. Poland thumbs her nose at these international agreements and rulings. As late as April 21 the Poles again raised the tariff on goods entering Poland from Danzig.

Recalls Case of Vilna.

"Seeing that even annihilation of its trade will not induce Danzig to become Polish of its free will, the unofficial Legionnaires are planning the same coup which they executed with such great success in the Vilna territory when they took the town which had been allotted to Lithuania. They are still there.

"The league of nations failed to interfere then. It failed to interfere when the Japanese seized Shanghai recently and that is why all these concentrations of Polish troops, official and unofficial, are spreading fear in Danzig."

Count Gravina, the neutral high commissioner, for the last two weeks has been working in Italian, French and British diplomatic circles to prevent an invasion of Danzig by the Polish Sokols.

Germany Ready to Fight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 2.—"If anybody dares attack Danzig or East Prussia, Germany will make use of all means at her disposal to free those provinces," a spokesman of the German foreign office said today.

The German press spoke more clearly, declaring emphatically that a Polish invasion of Danzig or East Prussia would mean war. President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Bruening recently declared they are ready to fight if the eastern Germans are endangered.

The Polish government has assured the German government that it has nothing to do with the "adventurous and uncontrollable elements observed in the Polish corridor." Poland took the same attitude when some of her enterprising generals snatched Vilna.

TIRED OF MINING; LIVES AS A WILD MAN FOR 2 YEARS

Benton, Ill., May 2.—[U. P.]—A coal miner who had the courage to chuck it all and go native told in his cell in county jail today how he has lived for two years along the Big Muddy river, eating roots, wild fruit, and fish, and sleeping in a hole in the ground.

This modern Neanderthal man lived by his hands and wits alone and came out of the wilderness stronger and healthier than when he went in.

Ironically, his reversion to primitive ways of living caused his arrest. Game Warden Andrew Goodwin took into custody a sun tanned creature clad in the tatters of what had once been shirt and overalls.

"Yes, I'm George Survel, and I haven't any fishing license," the captive admitted. "I got sick and tired of working in the mines around Zeigler. I felt I had to get away from everything and everybody."

When Survel disappeared two years ago a search was started. It was feared he had met with foul play.

"I didn't want to be found," he said today. "I've seen only five people in two years and I ran from them.

"I went into the woods and found a place I thought would make a good home. I dug me a hole in the ground with a stick and made a bed of leaves. I hid the cave with branches.

"At first I ate only roots, wild fruit, dandelions, and wild onions. Later I fixed up a trap to catch muskrats and made a net to take fish. I found some iron bars and fixed a grill to cook on. I also caught mudturtles. I liked them, but their shells were hard to crack.

"It was pretty hard to keep warm in the winter, but I kept up a fire all the time and made a blanket out of leaves."

Survel was even more disgusted with conditions of life in the mining region now than when he fled them.

"When I get out of jail I'm going back to the river and live like a human being," he said.

BOMBAY STOCK EXCHANGE HEADS FORCED TO QUIT

Members Strike; Board Not Pro-Gandhi Enough.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, May 2.—The Bombay Stock exchange, whose steadily rebellious behavior—an almost complete refusal to do business—has been one of the features of the civil disobedience campaign ever since the imprisonment of Mahatma Gandhi, India's Nationalist leader, last January, furnished a new sensation today.

The board of directors resigned upon finding itself not pro-Gandhi enough to suit the rank and file of the members. The membership had spontaneously enacted a hartal—cessation of business—against its own board.

The immediate fact precipitating the strike against the directorate was the board's suspension for a week of a stock broker, Lalchang Nemchand. The affair had its inception on March 7 when a large part of the membership of the exchange desired a hartal called to protest the arrival in Bombay of Lord Lothian's franchise committee.

The board refrained from calling the hartal. Then a group of women patriots, who picketed the exchange, were arrested, arousing indignation among certain brokers. They criticized the board. Later all apologized except Nemchand.

The board on Saturday voted to suspend him for a week and the opening of the exchange today found every member absent. The directorate, well versed in the meaning of hartals, took the hint and resigned.

A general meeting will be held tomorrow to consider the situation.

At Delhi Pandit Malaviya, who was arrested a week ago while on his way to Delhi to preside at the annual all-India Congress party meeting, was released from prison today. His son, Grandhon, and two other companions were also released, as well as 67 men and 13 women jailed in connection with the convention.

Further proof of the solidarity of Indian businessmen for self government is contained in a protest by the Indian Merchants' association — the national chamber of commerce — against participation in the imperial economic conference in Ottawa in July.

PREMIER LANG GIVES UP FIGHT WITH AUSTRALIA

Hands Over the Keys to Tax Offices.

SYDNEY, May 2.—(AP)—The battle between Premier J. T. Lang of New South Wales and the commonwealth of Australia, which threatened to stop the flow of taxes in the state, apparently came to an end today with a victory for the commonwealth.

At any rate, Premier Lang handed over the keys to the tax offices to commonwealth authorities a month after he had defied them to proceed with their policy of impounding revenue to cover the state's default in its foreign obligations.

State in New Default.

The government was empowered to appropriate the taxes for allocation as it saw fit under the financial agreement act which was passed by the commonwealth legislature and upheld by the high court.

Under the act, the commonwealth also assumed responsibility for the obligations of Australian states, but met immediate objection from New South Wales. There was talk of secession in the state.

The Exchange Telegraph today said that New South Wales had defaulted over the week-end in its foreign obligations amounting to about £88,000 [about $320,000] due in New York and £600,000 [about $2,190,000] due in London.

Total Default $10,950,000.

This default brought total defaulted obligations of the state government to some £3,000,000 [about $10,950,000], the dispatch said. The commonwealth has remitted the necessary amounts overseas.

Like the discussion of a state's rights to withdraw from the Union, before the American civil war, the conflict of state's rights and federal authority goes back almost to the conception of the federation, in Australia's case 1901.

Premier Lang's scrap with the commonwealth brought the issue to an angry head and resulted in various threats and militant demonstrations on both sides. Today's surrender indicates that the issue has been smoothed over, at least for the time being.

SCOLDING WOMAN FOR SCANTY GARB RULED ILLEGAL

Clergyman Is Fined by Roman Court.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 2.—A decision which has greatly interested Roman ladies whose taste runs toward the décolleté in summer dress styles has just been handed down by the Rome court of appeals. The Rome court, sustaining the sentence of a lower court in the city of Trent, ruled that a clergyman may not, outside his church and in a public place, criticize or scold his fair parishioners concerning the scantiness of their dress.

Don Celistino Briga, archpriest of the parish of Lavis, near Trent, will therefore have to pay Signora Canapelle $5 damage, pay a fine of $5 and settle the costs of the suit for slander brought against him by Signora Canapelle.

Deplored Fashions.

Last summer the signora was walking along the street in a light summer dress when she met Don Celestino. The weather was very hot. Don Celestino had been preaching against the scandalous fashions displayed in his community.

At sight of his parishioner's décolleté costume Don Celistino, it appears, addressed words to her which she and her husband held to be injurious.

"Don't come to my church any more, not even to communion," he said. "You are the scandal of the town."

Barred Even from Mass.

"Can't I even come to mass?" asked Signora Canapelle.

"No; if you come into the church I'll have you thrown out," replied the prelate.

Signora Canapelle told her husband and the suit followed, in which the archpriest was the loser.

SEIZE GANGSTER IN COURT FOR BANK ROBBERY

Danny McGeoghegan, 35 years old, south side beer gangster, was seized on a charge of bank robbery yesterday when he appeared in the court of Judge Rudolph F. Desort on a writ of habeas corpus. Prosecutors told Judge Desort that he had been identified as one of five men who took $60,000 from the State Bank of Clearing on Dec. 6, 1930.

At the same time Leonard Patrick, 18 years old, arrested with McGeoghegan in a north side apartment last week, was taken into custody charged with the murder of Herman Glick, who was shot to death in front of his home at 1319 South Sawyer avenue on April 4.

Fast Freezing BOHN

ICE IN 90 MINUTES

ALL PORCELAIN CUSTOM BUILT

THINK of all the unusual offers you ever heard about electric refrigerators. And then put this one down as the most astounding of all.

For as little as 16½ cents a day, you can have a Bohn Electric in your kitchen—right now!

Please don't let this delightfully low cost lead you into thinking that the Bohn Electric is just another cheap refrigerator. No, indeed!

The Bohn has a background of which we are justly proud. It is custom-built by people who have been in the business of making fine refrigerators for 35 years. The elastic porcelain with which the Bohn Electric is covered inside and out is the result of 28 years of steady improvement in porcelain manufacture.

Because Bohn freezes faster (water to ice in 90 minutes in University tests) electric bills are kept lower. Because Bohn has elastic porcelain, the cabinet is far less likely to crack or chip and will never turn yellow.

Then consider the Vegetable Freshner, rubber ice cube tray, six-plated chromium trim and hardware, and think of the three year cover-all guarantee. You'll have a hard job figuring out why you shouldn't have one of these beautifully made, beautiful looking refrigerators in your kitchen this week—for as little as 16½ cents a day.

ILLEGAL TO BAR TEXAS NEGROES FROM PRIMARY

U. S. High Court Rules Against Democrats.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Sidestepping the broader question of whether a political party may bar persons from its primaries on account of race or color, a majority of the Supreme court, in a 5 to 4 decision, ruled today that the state Democratic executive committee of Texas had illegally barred Negroes from participating in the party primary elections.

The majority opinion, handed down by Justice Cardozo, and concurred in by Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Brandeis, Stone, and Roberts, held that the party committee lacked this power even though authorized by statute to prescribe the requirements for party membership.

Here's Minority Opinion.

The minority of the court, in an opinion delivered by Justice McReynolds and concurred in by Justices Van Devanter, Sutherland, and Butler, argued that a political party like any other voluntary organization could choose its own membership, could bar Negroes if it wished, and could give effect to its rules through a proper agency such as an executive committee.

The case came before the court on the petition of L. A. Nixon, a Negro of El Paso county, Texas, who brought suit for damages against James Condon and C. H. Kolle, judges in the Democratic primary election of 1928, because of their refusal to permit him to vote. The Texas courts dismissed the case, holding that it did not state a sufficient cause of action.

The case constitutes the second Supreme court victory for Nixon in a fight to establish the right of Negroes to vote in a Democratic primary. In 1926 the court held, in a case brought by Nixon, that a statute of the Texas legislature which specifically held that "in no event shall a Negro be eligible to participate in a Democratic party primary election" was invalid and abridged his constitutional rights.

Cardozo Lays Down Principle.

Justice Cardozo then laid down the principle that "whatever inherent power a state political party has to determine the content of its membership resides in the state convention."

Justice Cardozo pointed out that the state executive committee is nothing more than a committee to be chosen by the convention and that it was to this committee the state legislature sought to "confide authority to determine of its own motion the requisites of party membership and in so doing to speak for the party as a whole."

In the minority opinion Justice McReynolds contended that "political parties are fruits of voluntary action" and that "when there is no unlawful purpose citizens may create them at will and limit their membership as seems wise.

Voice of the Party.

"The state may not interfere. White men may organize; blacks may do likewise. A woman's party may exclude males. This much is essential to free government.

"There is no allegation that the questioned resolution failed to express the party will. For the present purposes the committee's resolution must be accepted as the voice of the party."

GARAGE OWNERS TELL OPPOSITION TO AUTO VANDALS

H. T. Jurgensen, president of the Chicago Public Garage Operators' association, yesterday asserted that his organization is and has always been actively opposed to vandals who puncture tires of motorists who leave their cars parked on the streets.

Only one case of such tire puncturing, he asserted, had been reported in the last six months. The directors of the association, he added, had restated their position in regard to such practices in the following resolution:

"The Chicago Public Garage Operators' association offers a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of any person who punctures or destroys the tires of any automobile parked on a public highway in the city of Chicago."

PACKERS MUST ADHERE TO 1920 "CONSENT" PACT

Supreme Court Reverses Lower Bench.

when the opportunity is proved to have been utilized in the past."

The packers' case dates back more than a dozen years and has been followed with national interest because of the immensity of the businesses involved and because of the fundamental issues with respect to anti-trust policies which it raised.

History of the Case.

In 1920 the government, acting under the Sherman anti-trust law to dissolve a monopoly among the five leading meat packers—namely: Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Wilson & Co., Morris Packing company, and the Cudahy Packing company—obtained a consent decree enjoining the packers from maintaining a monopoly and specifically from (1) holding interests in public stockyards, terminal railroads, or market newspapers; (2) dealing in food products unrelated to the meat packing industry; (3) permitting others to use the packers' distributing facilities for handling these articles; (4) retailing meat; (5) holding interests in cold storage plants; (6) selling fresh milk or cream.

In April, 1930, Swift & Co. and Armour & Co. petitioned for a modification of the decree. Morris & Co. had sold out to the Armours in 1923. Wilson and Cudahy said they would consent to modification if applicable to all the packers concerned.

During lengthy hearings the packers argued that economic conditions had so changed since the entry of the original decree that its provisions were "useless and oppressive."

The District of Columbia Supreme court modified the decree to allow the packers to "deal at wholesale in groceries and other enumerated commodities, but maintained the injunction against dealing in them at retail," and allowed the use of the packers' facilities for distribution to others. The decree's other prohibitions remained in effect.

The opinion handed down today passed upon three appeals from the lower court's judgment: That of the government and those of the American Wholesale Grocers' association and the National Wholesale Grocers' association. The two associations were intervenors in the case in the District court.

Justice Cardozo argued that the decree did not say that the privilege to deal in groceries should be withdrawn for a limited time, or until the combination had been effectually broken up.

The decree, he said, stated that "the privilege should be renounced forever, and this whether the units within the combination were acting collectively or singly."

He continued:

"The combination was to be disintegrated, but relief was not to stop with that. To curb the aggressions of the huge units that would remain there was to be a check upon their power, even though acting independently, to wage a war of extermination against dealers weaker than themselves."

The Dissenting Opinion.

In his dissenting opinion, Justice Butler stated that conditions affecting competition in the lines of business carried on by the packers have changed since 1920, when the decree was entered.

"The facts negative any suggestion that danger of monopolistic control now exists," he stated. "Each of the principal packers has suffered discouraging operating losses.

"Since 1920 the manufacture and distribution of food have grown greatly and to a large extent have come to be carried on by integrated concerns in strong hands which have taken over and are handling many products from the sources of production to consumers. More and more meat—formerly distributed through shops selling little of anything else—is sold in stores carrying groceries and other articles of food—the diversification of business of defendants permitted by tendencies in the business of producing and selling meat, groceries and other articles of food. The use by defendants of their employes and facilities for the sale and distribution of groceries as well as meat would not give them any undue advantage over their competitors."

MAKES NO CHANGE—SWIFT.

G. F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., said that the Supreme court action reversing the modification of the packers' consent decree would have practically no effect on the company's current business.

"The court's decision," he said, "will merely limit our operations to those in which we have been engaged during the last twelve years. We had hoped for a favorable decision so that we might handle canned goods along with meat and produce. This would have made it possible to reduce distribution costs not only on meat but other food items as well. Naturally this would have benefited producers, retail dealers and consumers as well as the packers."

CALLS OFF HER TRIP AS HEIRESS AND HERE'S WHY

Mrs. Marie Meehl, 2353 Newcastle avenue, who was preparing on Sunday to go to California and get her half of a $500,000 estate, was preparing yesterday to call off the trip.

The news that she was an heiress came to Mrs. Meehl in a letter from her brother, Seawell Augustus Auerswald of Redwood City, Cal., whom the had not seen since she was 6 years old. She is now 28.

According to the brother's letter, the fortune was left by a relative who was in the gold rush to California in 1849 and was passed on to heirs.

Investigators went yesterday to the home of Seawell Augustus Auerswald in the California town. They found it a modest home. Mrs. Auerswald said she had not heard of the $500,000 inheritance. He was not available today, being out looking for a job.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes?

EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade.

You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

HOME'S SANCTITY AGAINST ILLEGAL DRY RAIDS UPHELD

Supreme Court Tightens Car Seizure Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—In five decisions in prohibition cases handed down today the United States Supreme court reaffirmed the sanctity of the home against unlawful search and seizure by dry agents, but in four of the cases strengthened the power of the government to forfeit automobiles and vessels in which liquor is illegally transported.

In an opinion written by Justice McReynolds the court reversed the judgment in which John Vance Taylor, a Maryland citizen, was found guilty of the unlawful possession of 122 cases of whisky.

Dry Agents Break Into Home.

As recounted in the opinion a squad of Baltimore prohibition agents were passing Taylor's home on the night of Nov. 19, 1930. There had been complaints about Taylor and his activities. As the agents approached Taylor's garage they detected the odor of whisky, and flashing a searchlight in the window saw the suspicious looking cases. They broke the door fastening and entered.

Taylor appeared on the scene and was arrested. His prayer for exclusion of the evidence on the ground that it was the result of an unconstitutional search and seizure was rejected at his trial. He was found guilty, sentenced to a fine and imprisonment; the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the judgment.

Agents' Actions Inexcusable.

"Although over a considerable period numerous complaints concerning the use of these premises had been received the agents had made no effort to obtain a warrant for making a search," Justice McReynolds' opinion pointed out. "They had abundant opportunity so to do and to proceed in an orderly way even after the odor had emphasized their suspicions; there was no probability of material change in the situation during the time necessary to secure such a warrant. Moreover, a short period of watching would have prevented any such possibility.

"We thing in any view the action of the agents was inexcusable and the seizure unreasonable. The evidence was obtained unlawfully and should have been suppressed.

"Prohibition officers may rely on a distinctive odor as a physical fact indicative of possible crime; but its presence alone does not strip the owner of a building of constitutional guarantees against unreasonable search."

General Motors Loses Plea.

In the most important of the forfeiture cases the Supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice Cordozo, decided in favor of the government in an appeal taken by the General Motors Acceptance corporation, which sought a reversal of a judgment by which four cars, on which the corporation had liens were confiscated for carrying liquor from Mexico into California.

The drivers of the cars were found guilty and the cars were seized, not under the prohibition act but under the tariff act. The acceptance corporation raised the question of whether or not forfeiture proceedings under the dry laws were mandatory in such cases, rendering inoperative the laws against smuggling which had been invoked.

The court replied that forfeiture proceedings under the dry laws were not mandatory and that prosecution for smuggling might be had even though the unlawful article were liquor. To hold otherwise, the opinion said, would amount to saying that a lighter penalty should result from smuggling a wholly illegitimate article than for a legal one. The court termed such a conclusion "bizarre."

Raid Wine Brick Store.

The prohibition question also came up in another form at the national capital today, as the result of a raid by local police and federal prohibition agents on a store selling wine bricks and concentrates. It was the first raid here on vendors of wine concentrates.

Two clerks arrested are held on charges of sale and possession of articles designed to violate the Volstead act, according to District Attorney Leo A. Rover. They will be tried in police court, he said, and if they are convicted similar raids will be made on all establishments selling concentrates.

The raided store sold not only wine grape concentrates but home brewing paraphernalia of every description The wine bricks sold for 98 cents each or $10 a dozen and could be had in eight varieties. Ten thousand dollars' worth of concentrates and equipment were seized.

WIDOW FOUND DEAD FROM GAS.

Mrs. Edna Nord, 55 years old, 1435 Rosemont avenue, a widow, was found dead yesterday in her gas-filled apartment, apparently a suicide.

DIES OF BURNS

Mrs. Lorraine Vandervort.

Mrs. Lorraine Vandervort, 38 years old, died in the Swedish Covenant hospital last night of burns suffered yesterday morning in a fire in the three story flat building at 6239 North Fairfield avenue, where she lived.

Mrs. Vandervort was found unconscious, her clothing ablaze, in her second floor apartment by Capt. Bart Heffernan of engine company No. 71. He carried her to the street and was burned about the arms. Before seeking treatment for his burns he also assisted in the rescue of Mrs. Vandervort's daughter, Betty Jane, 13 years old, and Miss Julia Gryglowitz, a maid, who were on a rear sleeping porch.

The fire, supposedly started by crossed wires, caused damage of $2,500.

Mrs. Vandervort's husband, Franklin Vandervort, a salesman for the Wood Conversion company, 360 North Michigan avenue, was out of town on a business trip.

Chicago Visitor, 81, Falls Twice at Same Loop Corner

Thomas Cochran, 81 years old, owner of a general store at Thompson, Ill., fell yesterday while gazing at the Board of Trade building as he walked at La Salle and Jackson boulevard. He was treated for minor injuries at the Iroquois hospital. Thirty minutes later he returned to the same place and fell again. Physicians at St. Luke's hospital said he had suffered a possible fracture of the skull.

REEVES INVITES U. S. TO TEST OUT PROHIBITION HERE

Urges Mobilizing of Dry Army for Conventions.

"Here's to you, colonel," said Col. Ira L. Reeves of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, in a letter yesterday to Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition administrator. "Here's another noble experiment—an opportunity of a decade to prove that prohibition can be made effective.

"Withdraw the prohibition enforcing personnel from every state in the Union and concentrate it in Chicago for a month in advance of the Republican and Democratic national conventions. There are about 2,500 all told, including administrators, investigators, inspectors, agents and stool pigeons. Instruct this personnel to reduce liquor traffic in the Chicago area alone.

A Gauge for Enforcement.

"Should the result prove even moderately effective, then it would be possible more or less accurately to compute the number of dry officials required to dry up the entire United States in the same proportion. It would be a measuring stick of the probable cost to the taxpayers of a perfected noble experiment.

"Another purpose to be served by the concentration of the little army in this area would be to enable the dry snoopers to follow the delegates to both conventions to discover whether there is any public sentiment behind attempted prohibition enforcement. If there is no measure of public sentiment, then in all probability liquor will be available at the conventions to any one who wants it regardless of the prohibition army, although its occupation of this area may change the method of distribution.

Urges Review of Dry Army.

"Let there be a reviewing stand erected on Michigan boulevard where your dry army can be passed in review so the delegates to the national conventions may be able to see for themselves the type of manhood selected to enforce the prohibition laws.

"Scott McBride, Clarence True Wilson and other dry celebrities should be invited to seats in the stand so that they may also have an opportunity to get a proper prospective of the army that so readily responds to their beck and call."

The suggestion was made in good faith, Col. Reeves said, and was motivated by a report that the influx of an advance guard of 50 dry snoopers has resulted in bootleggers announcing that liquor may be more expensive during the conventions. If Chicago could be dried up by 2,500 agents, he said, 100,000 agents would be needed for the entire country. This is the time to learn what real prohibition would cost, if it could be brought about, Col. Reeves added.

FALL FROM BRIDGE FATAL.

POLICE HUNT 5 AS SUSPECTS IN JOLIET KIDNAPING

A police squad commanded by Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms raced to Nathan Isaacson's drug store at 3800 West Roosevelt road last night on a call from Joliet police that the kidnapers of Gustav Miller, 23 years old, of Joliet might be found in the store.

Miller, the son of Max Miller, a wealthy grocer who also owns malt and hop stores in Aurora and Ottawa, was kidnaped in Joliet Thursday night and is being held for a reported $50,000 ransom.

When Deputy Chief Storms reached the pharmacy he learned the men had disappeared. Isaacson told him that five men, one young and the others middle aged and well dressed, appeared in his store at 7:45 o'clock. They purchased a dozen slugs, he said, and used all three public phones in the store for half an hour.

Investigation disclosed that the same five men appeared earlier at a service station at 3200 Jackson boulevard and used the telephone there for several minutes.

It is believed that the calls from the Roosevelt road pharmacy were to Max Miller in Joliet. At Joliet it developed that the Miller family has requested Chief Nicholas Fornango of Joliet to drop official activities in the case. In that way the family hopes it may establish clear contact with the abductors. During the day the elder Miller asserted he could not pay $50,000 ransom.

Policeman Arrests Pair as They Grab Women's Purses

Two youths who snatched the purses of two nurses at De Witt and Walton places last night were arrested by Policeman Raymond Griffith of the Chicago avenue station. They are Patrick Coyne, 18 years old, of 212 Wendell street, and Thomas Garrity, 18, who gave a fictitious address. Police said they had been drinking. The nurses whose purses were taken and then recovered are Miss Ira Olson, 220 East Walton place, and Miss Ruth Johnson, 202 East Walton place.

HOOVER UPHELD IN APPOINTMENT TO POWER BOARD

High Court Denies Senate Can Recall Confirmation.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Another precedent was added today to the long list relating to the President's appointive power when the Supreme court upheld President Hoover in his controversy with the senate over the case of George Otis Smith, chairman of the federal power commission.

Delivered by Justice Brandeis, the opinion affirmed the judgment of the District of Columbia Supreme court and finally settled the right of Smith to hold his office. The question never before raised in the many disputes which have arisen with regard to the relative powers of the executive and the senate concerning appointments was whether the senate had the power to reconsider its vote advising and consenting to the appointment of Smith, despite the fact that its resolution of confirmation had been communicated to the President, Smith's commission had been issued, and he had taken his oath of office.

The case arose when, in December, 1930, the senate consented to Smith's appointment, then in January, 1931, requested the return of the nomination and voted to reconsider its vote of consent. During the interim, Smith had angered radical senators by dismissing certain power commission employés.

Finally, the case was taken to the courts.

"Counsel for the senate," said Justice Brandeis, "assert that survey of the historical development of the rules of the senate relating to reconsideration confirms its present interpretation of the rules, and that the interpretation is further confirmed by the multitudinous instances appearing in the executive journal of the senate, in which the President, at the senate's request, returned resolutions both of confirmation and of rejection. We are of opinion that the senate's contention is unsound."

In a lengthy discussion of the senate rules involving many historical references, the court takes the view that, while the senate has the power to make its own rules with relation to reconsideration and other matters, in the present instance the President was authorized to proceed to perfect the appointment because he had received official notification of the confirmation.

Historically, the court finds that the common understanding has been that "a motion to request the return of a resolution was without effect if the President, before receiving it, had completed the appointment" by the actual issue of the commission.

HEAT YOUR HOUSE WITH OIL FOR LESS MONEY!
By installing a Petro-Nokol Oil Burner tomorrow

1. ON PUBLIC SERVICE PLAN
Small monthly payments including service for as long as five years.

2. OR FALL PAYMENT PLAN
$25 down and nothing more until next Fall. Two years to pay balance.

SAVE ON FUEL COST

Every day you deprive your family of oil heat...is a sacrifice! For the very money that you are now spending to keep your house comfortable, will more than pay for your Petro-Nokol. Not only in the saving in fuel cost...but in all the extras that must be counted in your heating bill. For the cost of your present fuel is not the complete cost of heating your home!

RADIANT HEAT SAVES MONEY
Petro-Nokol users commonly heat their homes for as much as one-third less than formerly. It's the radiant flame that saves you money. For penetrating, radiant heat is the ideal form of heat. The same intense heat you feel from the summer sun. Just pure heat rays. No smoke. No odor. No sound.

Your own boiler was designed to take advantage of radiant heat. Nearly 50% of all the heat your boiler absorbs should be radiant heat energy just from the brilliant, luminous flame itself. That's why Petro-Nokol's radiant flame saves on oil. This is in addition to the normal heat energy absorbed from the hot gases of the flame "scrubbing" all the interior surface of your boiler. And with this radiant flame right at the grate level, where it belongs . . . it cuts fuel costs even lower.

SAVE ON THE EXTRAS

PETRO-NOKOL OIL HEAT IS CLEAN
With Petro-Nokol Oil Heat you save the cost of a furnace man or your own labor. The cost of ash removal. Its cleanliness reduces the cost of house cleaning, dry cleaning and redecorating. It prevents waste of overheating . . . the danger of underheating. And by conditioning the air you breathe, and maintaining uniform heat, it helps reduce doctor bills.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER
While you are heating your house for less money, save on the cost of domestic hot water, too. For at a lower cost than with any other automatic system you can have all the hot water you want . . . for kitchen and bath . . . summer and winter. A special heating element provided by Petro-Nokol makes the oil burner supply the hot water automatically.

BILL TO STEADY DOLLAR'S VALUE PASSED IN HOUSE

Attacked by Its Foes as Inflationary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—By a vote of 289 to 60 the house of representatives today passed the Goldsborough bill, a measure which its sponsor asserts will restore the purchasing power of the dollar and stabilize commodity prices through the open market operations and rediscount facilities of the federal reserve system. It took ninety minutes under suspension of the rules to dispose of the measure, which has been pending before congress in various forms for nearly a decade.

The measure declares it to be "the policy of the United States," that the average purchasing power of the dollar based on the 1921-1929 level of commodity prices, "shall be restored and maintained by the control of the volume of credit and currency." It charges the federal reserve board, the federal reserve banks and secretary of treasury with the duty of "making effective this policy."

Strictly Democratic Measure.

The first strictly Democratic economic measure to be passed at this session, the measure seems headed for defeat in the Republican controlled senate. There it will be attacked on the grounds that it calls for a revolutionary change in the established policy of the reserve system, which amounts to inflation of the currency. Its proponents, however, assert that it directs the board merely to continue a policy initiated some time ago, and they point to the recent acceleration of open market buying by the reserve banks in support of their contention.

Representative James G. Strong [Rep., Kas.], a member of the banking and currency committee which reported the bill out, and a leading advocate of the legislation, asserted during the debate that by buying securities in the open market the reserve banks put money into circulation and that by careful manipulation of rediscount rates the price of money can be raised or lowered as the need demands.

Opponents Attack Principle.

Representative William H. Stafford [Rep., Wis.], opposing the bill, however, branded it "a mandate to the federal reserve board to issue fiat money" sponsored by "inflationists seeking to use an artificial means of regulation."

Another of the measure's opponents, Representative Louis T. McFadden [Rep., Pa.], also a member of the banking and currency committee, called it the "greatest scheme of inflation ever proposed in any country."

"It is an attempt," he said, "to raise price levels artificially by financial juggling. It attempts to do what the federal reserve board is opposed to doing, and it puts upon congress the responsibility for directing a highly technical financial operation."

Denied Inflationary Charge.

Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the banking and currency committee, denied the measure was extreme or inflationary. He termed it a "sane and conservative proposal."

"All the bill does," said Mr. Steagall, "is to direct the federal reserve board to use every power to prevent the recurrent depressions and panics which have come upon the country since the enactment of the federal reserve act."

Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], upholding the administration's opposition to the bill, flayed the Democratic leaders of the house for bringing up "such an important measure" under a suspension of the rules. He declared Secretary of the Treasury Mills to be "bitterly opposed" to the passage of the legislation.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

She said her mother objected to her knowing colored people and claimed she had been disinherited. She claimed her mother was Lady Cunard.

Display Men Make Plans for June Convention Here

Plans for the annual convention of the International Association of Display Men, to be held in the Hotel Sherman from June 6 to June 9, were made yesterday at a meeting of the convention committee of the Chicago Display Men's club. More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend, according to J. W. Foley, international secretary. There will be extensive exhibits of materials used in setting up merchandise displays, he said.

WARNER G. BAIRD TO HEAD GARDENS FOR UNEMPLOYED

Campaign Is Launched to Organize Projects.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Cook county's campaign to aid the unemployed, by turning some 25,000 acres of idle land into gardens, will be directed by Warner G. Baird, president of Baird & Warner, realty dealers. This was announced yesterday by E. L. Ryerson Jr., head of the Joint Emergency Relief commission.

Mr. Baird at once announced his plan of organizing the campaign, and arranged for its headquarters at 10 South La Salle street to open this morning. Steps were taken to form a county-wide committee and to provide implements and seed and muster trained workers to supervise the gardening in each community.

"May is going to be a busy month for the garden clubs, relief agencies, industrial leaders and others who already have offered to help us plant the largest number of gardens ever started in this metropolitan area," declared Mr. Baird.

Simple Crops Are Goal.

"I believe that only those crops which lend themselves to simplest cultivation will be used. Then next fall we plan to organize home and community canning projects to put up the carrots, beets, peas, and tomatoes for winter use. Such crops as lettuce will be too difficult to grow."

Mr. Baird indicated he would avail himself of the offer of 3,000 acres of forest preserve property found suitable for cultivation. He also plans to enlist in the work the women's garden clubs and other groups familiar with gardening. A skilled gardener will supervise all community plots, he said, and later in the season provison will be made to police the crops before they are harvested.

Jobs for Men in Shelters.

Men from the shelters now being fed and clothed by the relief fund will be used on some of the gardening projects which the county will maintain. Family heads will be offered the opportunity to develop garden plots.

"It is really surprising how much can be produced on a small plot, if it is properly cultivated," said Mr. Baird. "It is possible to supply enough through this project to reduce the county's relief cost several million dollars. We expect to have the soil tested, plowed, and seeded by June 1, which means that all hands will have to work fast."

San Rafael, Cal., May 2.—[U. P.]—Capt. Robert Dollar, 88 year old founder of the Dollar Steamship company, was reported seriously ill at his home here today. His condition Sunday, prior to an overnight improvement, was said to have been "alarming." The aged shipping magnate underwent an operation for bladder complaint about a year ago.

VOTE ON RECALL OF MAYOR TODAY AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—[Special.]—Los Angeles votes tomorrow on the recall of Mayor John C. Porter, who has served three years of his four year term. The recall ballot is a double affair, requiring first a decision on the recall of the mayor, and secondly, if a revall is voted, which candidate of a string of seven mayoralty candidates should succeed to the office.

Porter's name is one of the seven candidates appearing beneath the recall referendum, so that tomorrow's election may provide the odd situation of the mayor, voted out of office, being voted in again on the same ballot.

William Bonelli, wet state assemblyman, and Charles Dempster, municipal ownership councilman, who is noncommittal on prohibition, are chief of the dry mayor's six opponents on the ballot.

DEMOCRATS CALL STATE CENTRAL BODY THURSDAY

A call was issued last night for the Democratic state central committee to meet in Springfield Thursday to organize for the impending campaign. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet is slated for reelection as chairman—he is the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor. Edward P. Allen of Quincy is on the schedule for reelection as secretary. He belongs to the Bruce Campbell group.

One item on the agenda for the meeting concerns the mystery of the manuscript of the Democratic state platform. There was only one copy at the state convention and it his since disappeared. The theory of the party sleuths is that somebody is carrying it around in an inside pocket in ignorance of its importance.

The complete list of newly elected Democratic state committeemen was received yesterday at headquarters. With the districts, it is as follows, an asterisk [*] denoting an old member:

1. *John J. Coughlin	12. *John J. Hart
2. Daniel Sullivan	13. Sherwood Dixon

TEN RHODE ISLAND DELEGATION VOTES PLEDGED TO SMITH

Providence, R. I., May 2.—[Special.]—Rhode Island's fourteen delegates to the Democratic national convention in Chicago June 27 were elected at a special state convention here today and instructed to "make every effort" to obtain the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for President. The delegation consists of eight delegates at large, with a half vote each, and six delegates with one vote each.

By a vote of 172 to 23 the convention voted down an amendment by Col. Quinn to throw the state delegation's support to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the national convention.

Governor of North Dakota Testifies at I. C. C. Hearing

Gov. George Shafer of North Dakota testified yesterday at the grain rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission in Chicago. He said that increased wheat freight rates will injure the farmer. During the day also Gov. Shafer and members of the North Dakota commission on the 1933 World's Fair conferred with exposition officials. The North Dakota legislature has voted an initial appropriation of $18,000 for that state's participation in the fair.

HOOVER LEADS, FRANCE SECOND, IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., May 2.—(AP)—President Hoover today piled up a substantial lead for Maryland's 19 votes in the Republican national convention in his presidential primary campaign with former Senator Joseph I. France. The vote was one of the lightest in years. Reports from 1,136 out of 1,634 voting places gave: Hoover, 25,965; France, 16,510; uninstructed, 1,215.

Former Representative Linwood L. Clark was running well ahead of State Senator Wallace Williams for the Republican senatorial nomination.

California Primary Today.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—[Special.]—A three cornered fight among the Democrats and a lukewarm Republican canvas ended the California presidential primary and oil referendum campaign tonight. Indications were that the Democratic slate, headed by Isador Dockweiler, national committeeman, and Al Smith, leaders in 1928, would go on the ballot tomorrow. One of the two rival Democratic tickets was headed by W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who supported a slate pledged to Speaker Garner. At no time during the campaign did Garner formally authorize a campaign for him. The third Democratic slate is pledged to Al Smith, but was not backed by a recognized faction.

Financial New York

DEPENDS ON THE HERALD TRIBUNE FOR ITS FINANCIAL NEWS!

By definite, personal count, more members of the New York Stock Exchange regularly read the Herald Tribune than any other morning or Sunday newspaper.

That fact has just been impartially established by an individual survey, made by Walter Mann & Staff . . . a survey that did not disclose either its sponsorship or its purpose.

This investigation further showed that the Herald Tribune is read and preferred for financial news by more New York stock exchange members than any other morning newspaper.

The Herald Tribune reaches in one inclusive cross-section the substantial members of this whole huge community. The nature of the paper itself, its editorial standards and exceptional informative departments, make it the newspaper of manifest appeal to those well established families that exercise a true sense of values in all that they do or buy.

The accuracy of these statements is demonstrated, time and again, by the records of sales results that have been obtained by both manufacturers and merchants in the Herald Tribune.

Patapar, the parchment paper used for cooking, is regularly advertised in the Herald Tribune Magazine. One recent advertisement brought over 4,000 coupons, each accompanied by 10c. This is almost one per cent response from the entire Sunday circulation.

Just write or wire . . and we will send you the detailed tabulation and report of the unusually significant stock exchange survey.

You can judge the Herald Tribune only by seeing and reading it yourself. Buy next Sunday's issue . . . or better still, subscribe for it regularly at $4 a year.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A CONGRESS BENT ON RUIN.

Congress refuses to make any substantial attack upon the costs of government. Item after item in the economy bill has been struck out by the house. The bill was prepared by a committee which should have set a billion dollars of savings as its objective and instead undertook the modest task of frying out only 200 million dollars of fat. Of its proposals, 117 million dollars was reinstated in the budget in a week of debate and in the same period only 39 million dollars was retained, a ridiculously inadequate sum.

While the house has refused to cut the costs of government, the senate has been busily at work finding ways to increase taxation. The combined efforts of the two houses, if persisted in, can only reduce the nation to chaos. It is impossible to believe that congress is determined to ruin the country. Its action is plainly the result of ignorance. They don't know what they are doing.

Congressmen ought to be able to follow the train of consequences which they are setting in motion. If appropriations are not cut, the bills contracted by the government must be met either by borrowing or by increased taxation. Government borrowing deprives private business of the capital it needs and if persisted in must lead before long to an undermining of the value of government securities and therefore an undermining of all the financial institutions of the country, including banks and insurance companies. The value of government securities can never be higher than is warranted by the ability of the people to redeem them; and that ability is weakened either by excessive borrowings or by excessive taxation.

Business is in difficulties today, as every business man knows, largely because of the burden of overhead charges. Some of these obligations have been reduced to accord with the times. Wages, for example, have been slashed. So have rents and the cost of raw materials. Even many debts contracted in previous years have been scaled down by agreement with creditors. But taxes remain unchanged and congress now proposes to make them still higher.

An increase in taxes will not close the gap between the government's income and outgo, but it will push corporations and individuals closer and closer to the point of bankruptcy. To save themselves they will be forced to depress wages still further and to force debtors into receivership. The banks will be obliged to liquidate more and more loans. Individuals and business houses will find it increasingly difficult to pay rent and to fulfill the terms of their mortgages. The result will be more foreclosures and a further weakening of values, whether of securities, of real estate or of commodities.

No individual and no section of the country can escape these consequences. Congressmen themselves will be swept aside in the flood if it is released. Probably there is no one answer to the question why they don't see what they are doing. Some of them are playing politics. They won't cut the pay rolls just before election. Others are dominated by the overwhelming number of pay-rollers in the congressional galleries and for the moment have lost touch with the wishes of their constituents at home.

Still others, well along in years, have mental habits acquired in times of plenty which prevent their minds from functioning freely on a new and unfamiliar set of facts. Among these elderly men Hiram Johnson of California seems to be numbered. His mental habit is the habit of opposition to the administration, and that trait may have been intensified by personal antipathy for Mr. Hoover. Mr. Johnson has not seen that he might oppose the President by demanding economies on a scale far beyond that recommended by the administration. His reaction has been almost automatic. When the President says yes, Mr. Johnson shouts no. A younger Johnson would have shown himself no less virile but far more elastic; he would have seen that the issue now before congress is no mere partisan quarrel, but a struggle for the preservation of the American people from disaster. Mr. Johnson's insistence upon the course of ruin is itself a minor tragedy.

CALIFORNIAN CANDOR.

Mr. Burton A. Towne, president of the California Vineyardists' association, announces that his outfit is no longer going to play the part of hypocrite. The association from this day forth admits that grape concentrate and wine bricks are intended to be used in making wine with a kick. The association is therefore going to wage war openly against prohibition. In his own phrase, his association "has retired from the ranks of the Pharisees."

This conversion to the cause of honesty and candor is beautiful. In vino, as the saying goes, veritas. If the vineyardists will only leave another barrel in the basement for sixty days and then sample the contents they may be encouraged to go a step farther. They may discover some causal connection between their conversion and the recent decision in one of the federal courts that the sale of grape concentrates is in violation of the Volstead act. Now that the grape concentrate racket is by way of being outlawed, the vineyardists are wavering in their devotion to the prohibition cause. Mr. Capone is made of sterner stuff. His goods were outlawed a long time ago, but it may be assumed that he has not wavered in his belief in the benefits conferred by prohibition upon the workingman. He does not bite the hand that feeds him; it would be considerably closer to the truth to say that he feeds the hand that bites him.

The vineyardists will be welcomed as voters to the ranks of the wets, but their right to "retire from the ranks of the Pharisees" is something else again. The Pharisees are not a lodge like the Elks. A man does not apply for admission to the order of his own free will and enter it by a process of initiation. The title is conferred upon him by his friends and relatives in recognition of achievements in the field of hyprocrisy. The title cannot be won without earnest endeavor and likewise cannot be dropped at will. Not even Mabel Willebrandt can take care of that matter.

ALICE IN HOOEYLONGLAND.

It will be hard to believe that the current visit of Mrs. Reginald Liddle Hargreaves to these shores is nothing more than the casual incident of a tourist's curiosity. Mrs. Hargreaves is of Lyndhurst, England. She is eighty years old. When she was ten years old Mr. Dodgson, an Oxford don, wrote nonsense for her amusement. Mr. Dodgson was Lewis Carroll and Mrs. Hargreaves was Alice in Wonderland.

That Alice should have chosen this year of grace to visit the United States cannot be explained outside of irony. They are much madder than the Hatter, said the Rabbit. But that can't be, said Alice. They are madder, said the Rabbit, than that. Lewis Carroll never knew a hooeylong. Neither did I, said Alice. A hooeylong walks on his head and keeps both feet in his mouth, said the Rabbit. He talks better that way. But it must be hard on his head, said Alice. It's all he could use his head for, said the Rabbit. But how does he see where he's going? asked Alice. He doesn't see where he's going. He doesn't have to because he is biting his feet and he is in Congress. What is a Congress, asked Alice, and why are people in it? A Congress, said the Rabbit, is a place where they make people rich by taking their money away from them.

That can't be, said Alice, because people are made poor by having their money taken away. Not if it is done by a Congress, said the Rabbit. That is a nice way to get rich, said Alice, but it must be hard on the burglars. How can they get in the penitentiaries? They can get in the penitentiaries by selling beer, said the Rabbit. And oysters? No, not oysters, said the Rabbit, and not wine. But beer is good for people, said Alice. Not in Hooeylongland, said the Rabbit. It keeps people from talking all the time. If they bite their feet how can they talk? asked Alice. It's the wheat, said the Rabbit.

There is too much wheat, said the Rabbit, and so everybody is hungry. Why don't they eat the wheat? The Congress buys the wheat so there will be more. Why don't the people buy the wheat? They should bake bread, said Alice. They are so rich they can't buy the wheat, said the Rabbit. The Congress has all the money. It's the gold.

There is too much gold, said the Rabbit, and so nobody has any. But people buy things with gold, said Alice. No, said the Rabbit, they are going to buy things with money that isn't money. Then the things won't be things, said Alice. They will think they are and that will be all the same, said the Rabbit, and they will have another office to see about it. What do they do with an office? asked Alice. It will be the Department of Nothing, said the Rabbit, and it will go out and look for the Deficit.

What is a Deficit, asked Alice, and what do they do with it when they find it? They make it bigger and it eats more. It doesn't keep its feet in its mouth. It walks with them. I'd like better to see the hooeylongs walking on their heads, said Alice, and biting their feet. I wouldn't, said the Rabbit, because I might not be able to run away from them. Their heads are loose and they go round and round very fast.

I think you must be telling untruths to me, said Alice. I think you are pulling my leg, said Alice. I think you will expect me to believe that the rain is dry, said Alice. It is, said the Rabbit, in Kansas. What, asked Alice, is Kansas? I think, said the Rabbit, I'd rather not say anything about Kansas. I should like to know about Kansas where the rain is dry, said Alice. It's dry other places, too, said the Rabbit, but I'd rather not talk about Kansas. I want to know about Kansas, said Alice. No, said the Rabbit, you're too young. I'm eighty, said Alice. You're too young to know about Kansas, said the Rabbit, and don't tease, because I shan't tell you.

Then I'm going to see for myself, said Alice. And she came.

Editorial of the Day

THE GREAT EVADER.

[New York Evening Post.]

The Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, on his swing to Minnesota, showed himself a rather mild and devious Bryan. He was just as Bryanesque as he dared to be for Bryan's west, with the other eye riveted on the conservative east. Roosevelt really has become a master of evasion. Just follow (for the sake of observing a tight-rope walker's technique) the various steps by which he pleased (or thinks he pleased) everybody. First, we have his reassertion of his radical appeal to the poor against the rich: "In much of our present plans there is too much disposition to mistake the part for the whole, the head for the body." Then comes the transition sentence, designed as a gangplank to get the governor back aboard the conservative yacht: "I plead not for a class control but for a true concert of interest." And then the thumping and wholly unexceptionable declaration into which his class appeal is transformed: "It is to this national community of interest that we should dedicate ourselves tonight!" Finally, this perfectly uncriticizable and utterly changed (from the Albany speech) sentiment is followed by the resounding (and inane) challenge: "If that be treason, make the most of it!" An artistic evader, isn't he? It is noteworthy, too, that he evaded telling how he is going to "restore the purchasing power of the farmer." Also, he evaded a direct clash with former Gov. Smith. Keep smiling and evade all issues, is this Roosevelt's motto. A poor outlook for all of us if he gets into the White House.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

LET THE GRASSHOPPERS GO TO GRASS

A congressional committee approved the one million dollar grasshopper bill yesterday and the Democrats are sure to take this matter up and make an issue of it. One million dollars for grasshoppers and how much for the farmers, the white collar workers, Gov. Roosevelt's "Forgotten Man"? What, the Democrats will ask, will the grasshoppers do with a million dollars? Will they build schools and universities and develop first rank football teams and high salaried coaches and champion track athletes? No, the grasshoppers will do nothing of the kind. They will spend the million dollars on bigger and better grass to hop around on. If grasshoppers want to hop let 'em hop, but why should the taxpayer contribute to their entertainment. And so on and so on, but, anyhow, it sounds like a perfectly good plank for a political platform. There have been lots of worse planks. And who reads the party platforms anyhow?

HE SIDO ENGANADO!

("Unarmed liquor suspect machine-gunned to death by sheriff.")

Once, when even younger,
And even dumber, too,
Methought the flag of liberty
Was r. and w. and blue.
Methought the hapless citizen,
Called "mujik" by the czars,
Had but a serf-like lot from ours
Beneath the stripes and stars.
Methought the knouting Cossack
No murder here could do . . .
When I was even younger,

THE SOLICITOR.

AND NOW WE KNOW IT'S SPRING! The newspapers are printing stories of the Dukhobors marching around in Canada without any clothes on and the police trying to scare 'em back into the deep timber and the uncut grass. But don't the young green grass and the growing things bursting out all around and the dazzling sunshine and the soft balmy breeze these days make everybody just want to throw off customs and manners and civilization and clothes and hide and everything and sit around in their bones? Somehow we sympathize with the Dukhobors; they may be somewhat crude and unrefined, but they've got the right idea.

THE CLOSING SCORE of the Lit. Dig's poll shows that only two states favor the continuation of national prohibition and forty-six oppose it. But we have national prohibition, and it's continued for twelve or thirteen years and still continues. And yet we still think that the idea of the tail wagging the dog is most absurd. Oh, not in this country. The tail always wags the dog over here.

INQUISITION.

Jack-in-the-Pulpit, sleek in his awe-inspiring vestments, looks down upon his congregation of flies, gnats, ants, and fungus maggots. Does he justify those vestments? . . . A fly, lured by that exacting manner of communication with which the flowers command the inhabitants of the insect world, crawls up the side of the pulpit. He hesitates like one considering the advisability of a journey into unknown regions, then slides down the slippery inside. Ah, how easy the descent! He finds himself in a spacious apartment, a treasure vault, for the floor is covered with precious dust. And the dust is pollen. It is then that the wanderer becomes panic-stricken, for instinct or fear tells him that he is in fearful precincts. He attempts ascent of the slippery walls that are pressing in upon him. He fails. Projecting ledges prohibit use of his wings. A narrow casement in the front of the pulpit offers a remote possibility of freedom. Alas, our fly is too bulky! Bruised, ashamed of his own stupidity, he tries again for the dome of light above him. His efforts are too feeble. Exhausted, he sees his own doom written in the corpses or other adventurers that lay strewn about him in grotesque pattern. He again looks upward, and far, far away he sees the occupant of the pulpit bowing complacently below his sounding board . . . and now the imprisoned victim dimly watches the movements of a tiny shadow on the edge of the pulpit. It comes to rest. Can the wings of the doomed prisoner vibrate a warning to this another wanderer poised on the brink of disaster? Of course not! For him to be able to do that would mean the rupturing of dynamic forces, the destroying of that harmony which controls the great balance . . . the struggles below are no more . . . and now, like a pall preceding its creator, the small shadow moves obediently downward from the fatal rim . . . the treasure vault has become a lethal chamber, and the Inquisitor General sways serenely above the tragic drama.

WE'RE SORRY, DEAR! We feel obliged to start a "We're Sorry, Dear," department to make proper amends for little errors that will creep into the most carefully regulated column. Our first "we're sorry, dear," is for Monte the Manatee, who arrived at the Shedd aquarium yesterday. We published a little paragraph about Monte the Manatee, but we called him Minnie the Manatee, and we understand he is very sore. The mistake came about through the fact that Monte belongs to the class of sea mammals called sea cows. But Monte, while a sea cow, is a bull. It's all dreadfully intricate and mixed up, but, anyhow, Monte, we want to say again, "we're sorry, dear."

AND NOW TWO BRITISH SCIENTISTS have split the atom apart. There may be hope. Attempts are to be made to get the two British scientists to come to Washington to see if they cannot split a bureaucrat from the government pay roll. But there science will fail. It can't be done.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

OUR DEBT TO KOCH.

On March 24 the world celebrated the semi-centennial of the discovery of the tubercle bacillus by Dr. Robert Koch. It was on that date in 1882 that Dr. Koch, a small town doctor with no great research hospital connection, announced that he had discovered the cause of consumption. The most powerful medical scientist in Germany and perhaps in the world in 1882 was Rudolph Virchow. So great was the power of this man and so thoroughly did he hold to other theories about consumption that the proper channels of publicity for his discovery were closed to Koch, and the latter had to put his paper in a journal of physiology. The wonder is that the people whom the world needed to have read that article ever found it.

Koch's discovery was very well elaborated before it was announced. Two years after he published his original paper he published another one, and in this he had piled up considerable additional proof, but all of the essentials are found in the original paper. The paper told the story of the discovery and revealed the character of the man as well. He had said nothing until his German desire for thoroughness had been satisfied.

Today, in proving that a certain microbe is responsible for a certain disease, scientists are following essentially the same rules that Koch laid down and that he made his discovery conform to fifty years ago. The modifications have been few. There have been a moderate number of additions, but practically no subtractions and the spirit of the rules has been nowhere changed. One would have thought that so complete a demonstration would have been followed by immediate action.

When we read that a microbe has been discovered to be a specific cause we jump to the conclusion that the end of that disease will come overnight. Physicians will use the discovery to cure their patients, health departments to prevent the disease, and between suns the people will so change their ways that the disease will become a memory.

It was at least ten years after Koch's discovery before anybody except the laboratory people changed anything much. It was more than twenty years before the general run of health departments acquired laboratories and began operating on the principles worked out by Koch. It was considerably longer before there were any laws based on the Koch discovery that were enforced or enforceable. After fifty years we still see none too clearly the effect of the discovery on the wiping out of consumption. Statistics show that raising standards of living lowered the death rate of consumption before Koch's discovery more than the products of the discovery have lowered it since.

There was the same history in diphtheria control. The discovery of the curative power of antitoxin was not practically applied for some time and decades followed before the benefits of it got around to the people generally. Even now we are just fairly launched on prevention based on the discoveries about diphtheria that were made a quarter of a century ago.

OF NO GREAT DANGER.

E. W. writes: Can you explain the following experience? At the most, we can take only four steps in our kitchen if we want to open a faucet, lift a kettle, or open the refrigerator door. The fact is, if we touch anything metallic it produces a slight electric shock, but enough to produce a spark visible to the eye even in daylight. It has become so pronounced that we hesitate before touching anything. Our floor is covered with linoleum which I varnished when new, but the varnish has worn off. Has the linoleum or the electric refrigerator anything to do with this effect? It occurs in no other part of the house.

REPLY.

This condition is unimportant. It is not a source of danger or of injury to any one. You will notice it less in warm weather than you did in cold, but that does not mean that the kitchen will be either more or less wholesome.

As a rule there is more sparking in the parlor than in the kitchen. Maybe the worn and roughened floor acts similarly to rugs and carpets. It is possible that the electricity used in the kitchen is a factor. There was less electricity in kitchens when more vapor was escaping in the air and more pots boiling and kettles steaming.

FIGHTING DISEASE.

H. E. W. writes: You advise G. K. to let his psoriasis take its course. With all due respect, if you had ever had psoriasis you would never have given that advice.

I have had it since I was 14 years old, or 21 years. I know it is an unconquered and little understood disease, but had I allowed my case to take its course my life would have been less pleasant. I have fought it with all known means and I have kept it well in check. I have subdued it completely for a season. It has cost me much trouble and money, but the disease is now inconspicuous and trivial, and I am satisfied and happy. When I was in college I developed hemorrhoids. Many prominent physicians, some of them your friends, told me to accept the trouble as unimportant. I followed their advice for nearly twenty years. Finally I had an operation and, as a result, am so much improved that I am sorry I did not have the operation years ago.

REPLY.

Congratulations on your willingness to spend money, time, and convenience to maintain a high standard of personal health.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

WRECKED BY VANDALS.

Chicago, April 28.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a cabin in the forest preserve on Salt creek called Camp Bemis. This cabin has fallen into a state of complete ruin and has been empty for four years. I, through my club, offered to repair the cabin in return for permission to use it as a camp. I was told that it was rented. There must be a mistake, as I have previously said it is in a state of ruin and has been empty for years. Can you help me find out who the rentee is? W. K.

Action on your request has been held up because the cabin in question was turned over to the Hai Lai club of Oak Park last season, who spent a lot of time and money getting it fixed up. As usual in such situations where there is no room for a caretaker to live, the cabin was again broken into and practically ruined. It is impossible to maintain cabins of this type on the forest preserve district with the extremely small police force available. We have three other requests for this same structure. I have issued instructions to our maintenance department to put it in shape again, and we will prepare a schedule for your use of it in conjunction with other organizations through this season. We feel it would be more practical to take one side out of it and use it as a shelter instead of an inclosed building, but are willing to try again for camping purposes, as you request.

CHARLES G. SAUERS,
General Superintendent Cook County Forest Preserve.

THE SADLER ACT.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a .38 caliber revolver with numbers filed off. I purchased the gun two years ago from a friend who bought it from a policeman about fifteen years ago. At that time the numbers were filed off. I purchased it to keep in the rear of my store for protection. 1. Is it unlawful to have a gun like that on the premises? 2. This is a good gun. Could it be renumbered and registered? If so, where? 3. Must I have a permit to have a gun in the rear of my store for protection? 4. To buy another gun must I get a permit first? If so, from whom? J. G. S.

1. Section 2A of the Sadler act is as follows: "No person shall change, alter, remove, or obliterate the name of the maker model, manufacturer's number, or other mark of identification on any firearm. Possession of any firearm upon which any such mark shall have been changed, altered, removed, or obliterated shall be prima facie evidence that the possessor has changed, altered, removed, or obliterated the same."

2. Take it up with the manufacturer.

PROPERTY TAXES.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A acquired title of record to property in Wisconsin in 1930. B has occupied it since then as a tenant under no other obligations than a monthly rental. The 1931 taxes have been levied against B. What will be the legal procedure in such a mixup? E. L.

If the taxes are paid we see no importance to the fact that one year's payment is in the wrong name. When making such payment, the collector's attention should be called to the point, and you should write for a tax bill in your own name at the proper time next year. You should bear in mind that Wisconsin law, unlike Illinois law, permits the fee title to be taken away from you without notice because of overlooking tax payment. This risk seems serious enough so that we question the advisability of ownership of Wisconsin land by non-residents.

Every Man's University

Questions and answers prepared by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago outline what they consider a well educated person ought to know. Today's instructor, Arthur Pearson Scott, associate professor of history.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

If we had to drop out of our present civilization all that was discovered or invented before 4000 B. C., or all that has been discovered or invented since the industrial revolution in the eighteenth century, which could we better spare?

[This question will be repeated and answered in this space tomorrow.]

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION:

Why may it be worth the while of a twentieth century American to study the history and cultures of the past?

ANSWER:

A study of the past is necessary for a genuine understanding of the present. It gives a broader and better basis for judging the strong and weak features of our present civilization. While history never exactly repeats itself, many hope that a study of the past will bring out certain general principles governing social changes which will enable us to forecast the probable course of events more accurately. Then by concerted and intelligent planning it may be possible to control developments and direct them towards ends that are thought desirable. But even if no laws of history have yet been discovered, and even if none ever are discovered comparable to the law of gravitation, one can fall back on the fact, which many regard as quite sufficient, that the search for the truth about the past is full of human interest and gratifying to intellectual curiosity.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 3, 1916.

DOUGLAS, Ariz.—An attempt of a body of Carranza cavalry, the advance guard of Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, to enter Chihuahua through Pulpito pass was blocked by American troops, according to a reliable report received here. The Mexicans had penetrated eighteen miles into the pass before their presence was discovered by a United States military airplane.

EL PASO.—Gen. Scott and Gen. Obregon, who have been in conference on the Mexican situation, closed their meeting at midnight. They emerged side by side and both were smiling. Neither would make a statement as to what happened, but a rumor persisted that an agreement had been reached and it is believed an amicable one.

PITTSBURGH.—Brig. Gen. A. J. Logan, commander of the second brigade, Pennsylvania National Guard, prepared to have four squadrons of cavalry take charge of the situation at Braddock, where two men were killed, four probably fatally wounded and a score of others seriously injured in a riot at the Edgar Thomson works of the Carnegie Steel company today. The riot was the climax of a day of disorder in Braddock and Rankin during which mobs stormed the plants of four big steel companies. Three alleged strike leaders were arrested as a result of the riot at Braddock.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY.—The French took first line trenches of Germans at Dead Man's Hill and southeast of Fort Douaumont, but Berlin claims the French were repulsed. The British report the revolt in Ireland is at an end, but martial law will be maintained. A bill for immediate conscription is to be introduced into the British house of commons today, Premier Asquith said.

GREETINGS.

Chicago, April 29.—Yesterday I went out to buy a Mother's day greeting card. Of all the sloshy, sickening, sentimental drivel the greeting card makers ever foisted upon the public, Mother's day cards are the worst. They are positively nauseating. Not only adjectives, but all words, fail me and I can only sputter when I try to describe these cards.

Probably no mother is more loved, reverenced, and catered to by her offspring than my mother is by her children, including myself. She is our example of all life's highest virtues and culture, yet she remains ". . . not too bright or good for human nature's daily food . . ." To send her one of the cloyingly sweet, tearfully sentimental blankly silly cards I saw yesterday would be something like a modern man proposing in the Victorian mode to Miss 1932. Yes, this is the year of our Lord 1932, and greeting card makers should wake up to that fact.

And I must mention the inanity of the insipid idea of sending cards to everybody, from the canary to the old spavined horse, on Mother's day. "To My Wife's Grandmother's Cousin," "To Caesar's Billygoat's Cat's Aunt." Faugh! Ugh! LENNIE.

LAMENT.

Clintonville, Wis., April 26.—The writer has just received official word that the appropriation for the department of commerce has been cut to the extent that a number of district offices of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce will have to be eliminated. There is no doubt about the existence of a lot of government bureaus that should be eliminated in the interests of good management and economy, but I firmly believe that one such as the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce should be one of the last to have its appropriation cut.

It has been doing splendid work, both in this country and all parts of the world, to aid American manufacturers dispose of their goods in foreign markets. It has reached a stage of efficient and intelligent coöperation with industry seldom achieved by governmental bureaus, and the district offices will be sadly missed. A great many recognized economic experts have considered the enormous drop in our foreign trade during the last two years as one of the main contributing factors in the depression we are passing through. If this is true, is it not foolish to handicap one of the main props of American foreign trade? C. S. THOMSON.

AN OPPORTUNITY OVERLOOKED.

Chicago, April 27.—I just read the letter in the Voice of the People under date of April 27, 1932, which was signed "Suggestion." I heartily agree to the plan of taxing the persons sending money to relatives in foreign countries. The tax should be at least 10 per cent of the money sent. I recently sent a draft to a distant relative to help bury another relative. I would have been glad to pay 10 per cent as a tax. A tidy sum would be realized from this source, and another tax eating body could be created which would use up this revenue. I am surprised that congress has missed this very apparent source of revenue. Cannot some one put congress wise? Surely it has been an oversight on the part of the government to have allowed such a profitable source of revenue to slip through its hands. J. F. R.

WORKING OUT THE TAXES.

Chicago, April 25.—There are many hundreds of city employés who pay no taxes whatever. Why not give unemployed property owners 30, 60, or 90 days' work for the city or county on work for which they are fitted and allow us to apply the money thus earned on our taxes? Result: The city would get the work done, they would not be forced to part with any cash and the tax would be paid that otherwise cannot be paid. MISGUIDED?

SECOND RATE IMITATIONS.

Chicago, April 28.—Why stop at acquiring a counterfeit Broadway and Madison Square? Why not change La Salle to Wall street, Randolph to 42d street, Boul Mich to 5th avenue, Wacker drive to Riverside drive, Lake Shore drive to Park avenue, and for that matter, 35th street to Lennox avenue? We might also find room for Herald, Times, and Longacre squares and Columbus circle.

If Chicago is to be "dignified" and "metropolitan" it must stand on its own well known and distinctive names and traditions, and not discard them in favor of cheap attempts at creating second rate imitations of famous thoroughfares and squares of other cities.

ROBERT B. TAGUE.

GOVERNMENT PAY.

Chicago, April 29.—The contributor to the Voice of the People who suggests organizing the working people here in Chicago who have had their pay reduced with a view to get them to write to their congressmen asking that the salaries of federal employés be cut showed very poor judgment. In the first place, the pay of the employé for Uncle Sam is very low, many of them receiving less than $1,200 per year. In the second place, this campaign to reduce governmental salaries is simply a move by big business. When the pay of men and women working for the United States is reduced they will reduce their own employés still further. In the third place, the average man pays practically no tax for the upkeep of the federal government.

The great need of the country now is for more buying power. The factories are full of products that cannot be sold. Almost every city is conducting a campaign urging more buying. How in the name of common sense can more buying result if federal employés are given a reduction in pay? The people, particularly those in the postoffice department, are scattered all over the country and if their purchasing power is reduced business will suffer all over the nation.

C. A. KEPNER.

TOO MANY CONGRESSMEN.

San Francisco, Cal., April 22.—I am firmly convinced that the efficiency of the operation of our national government can best be brought about by diminishing the numerical strength of the congress, with a view of substituting quality for quantity. I suggest that the constitution be amended to have one senator from each state and three congressmen from each state. The pay of the senators should be $25,000 per year and the pay of the congressmen $20,000 per year. This would give dignity to the position and the best men in the respective states would accept these respective positions.

I believe that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is the proper medium to initiate, agitate, and sponsor this reformation of our constitution. The cause is a most worthy one, eminently becoming to THE TRIBUNE. CHARLES S. ELMS.

MEMORANDUM TO CONGRESSMEN.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—You said it, quoting from your correspondent, Mr. Arthur Sears Henning: "The spearhead of this powerful lobby is composed of the 70,000 government workers, who with their families constitute two-thirds of the population of Washington."

A howling baby at your ear can move you more than howling voters miles away. The babies are howling in your ears in Washington now, but wait until you get home and for the first time really hear the voters howl. Senators, congressmen, you had better listen, as, in your lifetime, you have never seen the people in their present mood. Unless you get your minds on a cut of at least one billion in the annual budget you are going to lose the votes which put you in Washington. Put this in your files. GEORGE FATHOFER.

JUST A SNACK.

Chicago, April 27.—I see the depression is even on at Tom Carr's. Andy and Min arrived home from an evening spent there and had to raid their own ice box.

LETHARGY MAY LET U. S. FLEET DRIFT ON ROCKS

Radicals Continue Fight on Modern Ships.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the senate naval affairs committee today warned his colleagues that the United States fleet is rapidly going on the rocks, due to the failure to replace aging vessels with modern warships.

FREDERICK HALE. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

Appearing in behalf of a motion making his 800 million dollar warship authorization bill the unfinished business before the senate, the naval chairman said this country had got itself into a "shameful situation" through lethargy in arranging for the construction of needed war vessels.

Would Talk Obstruction.

A vote on the Hale motion was prevented today by Senator Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], a member of the radical Republican group always opposing naval construction legislation. Arising as the clerk was preparing to call the roll for a vote on the Hale motion Mr. Frazier said he was prepared to talk until the senate adjourned if sponsors of the motion insisted on a vote today.

Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant majority leader, advised Frazier to go ahead if he so desired. A vote on the Hale motion is expected tomorrow. If the motion is approved the 800 million dollar warship bill becomes the unfinished business and the senate sooner or later will vote on the authorization bill. This measure carries a blanket authorization for all warships needed to bring the fleet up to London treaty strength. It also arranges for modernization of the five newest battleships.

Other Fleets Helped.

Senator Hale told the senate that while the United States has been having a warship building holiday Great Britain and Japan have been strengthening their fleets. As a result the United States will have but sixty-eight modern combat ships in 1936 unless new legislation is approved. Great Britain will have 121 ships and Japan 153.

"Every year," Chairman Hale said, "our ships are growing older and older. The navy is getting into worse condition each year. It is shameful for a country as great as ours. It is of vital importance that new warships be authorized and built. The senate should take the responsibility for keeping the navy from the rocks."

Senators George W. Norris [radical Rep., Neb.] and William H. King [Dem., Utah] fought the motion, the former asserting he would rather feed people than build warships.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morler celebrated the 101st anniversary of her birth at a party last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Gillman, 4032 North Ashland avenue.

At the party were thirty-five guests, most of them descendants of Mrs. Morler.

Mrs. Morler was born in Vilbel, Germany. She has lived in Chicago for fifty-three years.

MILLIKAN SAYS SCIENCE, RELIGION DO NOT CONFLICT

With the advance of science new and broader conceptions have come into philosophy and religion, but there has been no conflict between religion and science as interpreted by the best minds the world has produced, asserted Robert A. Millikan, physicist and Nobel prize winner, to a University of Chicago audience last night. Dr. Millikan spoke under the auspices of the Hiram W. Thomas Foundation of the divinity school on "This Changing World."

"Only little misunderstanding minds create the conflict," he said. "I think that the great characteristic feature of our times, the one that distinguishes our civilization from all that have preceded, is the discovery of the scienfic method and the results that have followed its application.

"That method consisted in discarding all a priori postulates about the nature of reality and all complete philosophic schemes, and appealing by the experimental method, as Whetham says, to the tribunal of brute facts."

Dr. Millikan declared that mankind had been moving recently to a bigger conception of God, "the God of caprice and whim being replaced by a God who rules through law." Great scientists, he added, from Leonardo da Vinci to Einstein, were essentially religious men and so regarded themselves.

FRENCH RADICAL CHIEF THREATENS TO OUST TARDIEU

PARIS, May 2.—(AP)—A liberal coalition government, headed by the veteran statesman of the left, Edouard Herriot, tonight became a possibility for France on the face of Radical Socialist victories in Sunday's election.

The issue will not be decided until next Sunday, however, for less than one-third of the 615 seats of the chamber of deputies were filled on the first ballot; a second vote will be necessary on 361 seats, where no one candidate got a clear majority. Four colonial seats will not be filled until later in the year. A plurality will elect next Sunday.

The Radical Socialists emerged from the preliminary test with 63 seats, the biggest solid bloc elected so far, while the left Republicans of André Tardieu, the present premier, lost heavily, placing only 37 candidates in the victory column.

Herriot was on the way to Paris tonight from Lyons to lead the campaign which is expected by his radical Socialists to emphasize in next Sunday's runoff election the movement to the left manifested in yesterday's preliminary balloting.

Influential newspapers such as Le Temps and L'Information admitted yesterday's swing toward the radical Socialist left, but Le Temps rejoiced that this movement had not gone to the extreme of socialism or communism. The strong position obtained by the radical Socialists in the larger cities was generally attributed to unemployment among the working class.

The election came to a final conclusion in 248 districts of the nation, according to a tabulation of the ministry of the interior, which distributed the seats as follows:

BLOSSOM QUEEN AND HER COURT VISIT CHICAGO

Here to Extend City Invitation.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Margery Crampton, Michigan blossom queen, and her retinue of princesses arrived in Chicago yesterday. Queen Margery is paying a two day official visit to this district to extend a personal invitation to Chicagoans to participate in the blossom festival events, which got under way yesterday. The annual fete will wind up with a blossom parade on Saturday and religious services on Sunday.

Mayor Cermak, who helped to elect this sovereign of the orchards last week when he acted as one of the judges in the final competition among the prize beauties from twenty-six towns, will hold a reception this morning at his office in the city hall for them. And he will receive an official request that he head the local delegations of visitors who each year motor to the twin cities, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, for the coronation ball, flower parade, and general carnival.

"We're having a grand time," announced Queen Margery last night in the Hotel Sherman, as she gathered her glamorous "gang" around her for confirmation. "Just now I'm more than a bit shaky about broadcasting over the NBC network—I've never done it before and I hope they'll give me a little time to get introduced to a microphone. But I'm going to do my best."

Their arrival yesterday at the South Shore Country club in the bus that brought them from the twin cities was their introduction to Chicago. The big white car of Greeter Gaw met them there and escorted them to the Hotel Sherman, where the entrance of the troop created considerable stir. Photographers immediately got into action.

Luncheon at the College inn was followed by attendance at the Palace theater in the afternoon, where they were introduced from the stage by Ben Bernie, orchestra leader. Dinner at their hotel preceded the national broadcast, in which Miss South Haven contributed a piano solo and Miss Crampton repeated her invitation to attend the blossom festival. Dancing at the College inn followed.

PULITZER AWARD IS GIVEN CARTOON BY M'CUTCHEON

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—John T. McCutcheon of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE today received the Pulitzer award for cartoonists. Prize winners in various fields, including journalism, were announced today by Columbia university.

"A Wise Economist Asks a Question," published Aug. 19, 1931, was the cartoon which brought him the prize.

Of the McCutcheon award, the announcement said:

"During the last year the world has been so filled with events and personalities arousing the highest type of social criticism that our newspaper artists have had rare opportunity. The noblest traditions of the cartoon have been singularly easy to maintain. This cartoon touches upon one of the greatest national issues."

THE WHISPERER

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

"The 'Whisperer' Crimes" have held London terrorized for months. Numerous wealthy persons have been kidnaped and held for ransom. The ransom victim is sent a small wireless receiving set by means of which the "Whisperer" speaks, using his own short wave, and gives directions for delivering the ransom demanded. Police dare not interfere because death results for the captive if directions are not carried out.

Joyce Morrow, engaged to Roland Blatch, secretary to Sir Henry Glazeborough, M. P., a leading philanthropist, is taken captive. Roland is forced to steal jewels which are in his keeping for the bandit to insure the safe return of his beloved. When Joyce is again safely home, Roland decides to accept an offer from the bandit to join his band and try to recover the jewels. He is sent to an address where a woman named Connie gives him a facial treatment which alters his appearance. Roland reports every day to Connie, where the Whisperer talks to him through a telephone loud speaker, but remains hidden from view. He is sent to collect ransom from Lord Whiddon, and is involved in the killing of Lady Whiddon when her husband fails to meet the Whisperer's demands. Roland finds the Whisperer's hideout. He sees Sir Henry leaving and is faced with the staggering truth that the Whisperer is Sir Henry. Prowling through the house Roland becomes locked in the room used to imprison the captives. The Whisperer's next victim is the young daughter of Renbold Barner, minister of development in Australia, who is in London with special credit from his government to place orders for British made farm machinery. Harner refuses to use his government's money for ransom. Miss Harner is thrust into the room where Roland is also a captive. Roland fires at a masked figure who opens the door.

INSTALLMENT XX.

THE CHIEF INSPECTOR'S HUMILIATION.

It was while they were walking together to The Whisperer's room that Roland had a sense of something wrong. It was something in the other man's clothing—in his figure——

They staggered into the Whisperer's room and Roland lowered him on to the sofa—then tore off his own gas mask.

Miss Harner, who had followed him, did likewise. He was madly impatient to get the other man's mask off. But he had to think of the girl.

"You'd better clear out of the house, Miss Harner. Run as hard as you can until you meet a taxi——"

"I guess I'll see you through first," retorted Miss Harner. Her sturdy sense of gratitude to her rescuer would not allow her to leave him. "Is this the Whisperer himself?"

"It's the man who tried to murder you!" muttered Roland, his voice trembling with doubt as he tore at the top of the wounded man's mask.

"O, my God!"

He stared down at the face of Number Four, the lorry driver—the genial, facetious youngster he had met at Connie's flat and known as "Dick."

"I—I thought you were the Whisperer!" he faltered.

"Cor, wish I was! Might have 'ad a bit more fun before I snuffed it! So that's where you got to, Number Six! We'd been wondering. Thought you'd been pinched. And all the time you was laying for the chief. Well, I hope you get him next time, mate! I'd have got him, myself if I'd had the head piece. So would any of the others. You ask 'em!"

Dick looked from Roland to the girl.

"You'll be all right now, miss. And I'm glad. No ill feelin' on either side," repeated Dick.

"I'm sorry it was you I shot, Dick, but——"

"I'd 'ave dropped you if you

Dick had drawn his second gun from the armpit holster and had shot himself through the heart.

hadn't done it first. No ill feelin' on either side," repeated Dick.

"You can't be so bad or you couldn't talk like this," said Miss Harner sharply, and to Roland: "You could take him to a hospital."

"Not you, boy!" asserted Dick. "You got me in the leg. Rotten shot! But I ain't goin' to hospital. The cops 'ud be round pretty soon and 'ud want to know how I got it. Same if you call in a private doctor."

"That's my affair. I'll risk it."

"But I won't. The Whisperer made pretty sure I'd keep clear of the cops. Once I've got a bullet wound it's as good as the rope for me. This young lady here—well, that's attempted murder, ain't it? And there was another the Whisperer landed me in for—only it wasn't 'attempted.' It was the real thing—compree? . . . If you can get the Whisperer in a quiet spot on the end of your gun, give 'im an extra round for me, mate."

"But we can't leave him here!" protested Miss Harner. "He will die."

"That's right, miss!" said Dick indifferently. "Tell you what, if you was all to stop jawin' for a minute and give me a drink. . . . You'll find some soda in that cupboard, mate."

Roland went to the head of the sofa and was opening the cabinet when there came a warning cry from the girl—too late. A split second later there came the crack of a revolver.

Dick had drawn his second gun from his arm pit holster—and had shot himself through the heart.

The girl covered her eyes and shrank into the far corner of the room.

"O, how awful—awful—awful!" she sobbed. For the moment she was hysterical. Roland put his arm round her shoulders and tried to soothe her. Presently she grew calm.

He was still partly supporting her. Suddenly she stiffened and drew away from him.

"He called—you—Number Six," she whispered. "Are you—are you one of the Whisperer's gang?"

Roland instantly sensed the terrible danger to himself that lay in that question, but he could see no way of avoiding it.

"Yes, Miss Harner," he answered. "May I ask what you intend to do about it?"

"I shall do nothing whatever—except help you if I can. I should have been dead by now if you hadn't saved me. You must think I'm an ungrateful beast—O, take me away from here, please!"

"Thanks—but you can't help me!" Roland laughed wildly as he realized that this girl who wanted to help him must inevitably become the most dangerous witness against him. That he had saved her life would count for nothing. The law could not bargain with the murderer of Lady Whidden.

"Come along then, Miss Harner!"

He took her downstairs and opened the front door. He might ask her to give a lying account of her rescue, to furnish a false description of himself. And she would agree—but she was not the kind of girl to tell a lie glibly. She would inevitably break down under cross-examination."

"Good-by, Miss Harner!" he said on the doorstep.

"O, aren't you coming with me?"

"No. You'll be able to pick up a taxi and get straight back to the Savoy. . . . Remember—I'm one of the Whisperer's gang."

"I don't care," she said impulsively. "You're one of the gentlest and kindest men on earth."

She rose on tiptoe and kissed his cheek, then hurried down the steps into the street.

"Nice kid!" muttered Roland. "And they were going to gas her!" A furious anger against the Whisperer swept away all thoughts of his own safety. "I can run the gantlet a bit longer—with luck, just long enough!"

. . . . . .

The deputation that waited on the Australian minister had broken up in confusion and the manufacturers had left as soon as Detective Sergeant Hendricks had departed with the "little box."

Only Sir Henry Glazeborough himself had remained.

"I will see this dreadful thing through with you, my dear Mr. Harner," he said. "I was myself a victim of the Whisperer only the other day."

By half past eleven the two of them were alone in the sitting room of the suite. The stricken father seemed glad to have another human being with him in his ordeal.

Sir Henry, for his part, was of some small use to Mr. Harner, keeping reporters and other callers at bay.

There was one caller, however, whom he could not keep out—Chief Inspector Larpent.

It was a little after 1 when Larpent called and Sir Henry received him in the corridor of the suite.

If Larpent was inwardly surprised to see the other, he showed nothing as he returned a conventional greeting.

"He is taking it very bravely—very bravely indeed, poor fellow!" continued Sir Herry. "I feel sure that at such a time you will not press your right to see him and——"

"Yes, I will," said Larpent bluntly and strode into the sitting room. Even then Sir Henry contrived to take charge.

"This is Chief Inspector Larpent of New Scotland Yard, Mr. Harner. He is in charge of the campaign against the Whisperer. I have let him in to see you, as I feel sure he has brought us at least some crumb of comfort."

That put Larpent at a disadvantage, for Mr. Harner looked up eagerly and the detective was compelled to say:

"I'm afraid that is not so, Mr. Harner. I have only called to assure you that my department has done everything possible——"

"And is now doing?" asked the minister.

It was one of the worst moments in Larpent's life. Never would he forget the note of hopelessness in the voice, the numb despair in the eyes of the man who was entitled to look to him for protection.

"There is—nothing—we can do now, sir!" His own personal humiliation mingled with his sorely wounded pride in his beloved department. Assuredly Larpent would never forget that interview!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MRS. E. W.: CRYING, OF COURSE, ruins the beauty of the eyes, but surely one wouldn't want to indulge in enough crying to make this a permanent disability.

Pay Attention to Cleansing of Hair Line

And Avoid Future Skin Disorders.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A correspondent reports a disorderly state of skin immediately against the hair line and running from the ear, around the edge of the forehead to the other ear. She wonders why this skin is not as clear and clean looking as is shown on the rest of her face. She hints perhaps it may be due to the fact that she cleanses her face with cream only and avoids the skin close to the hair so that the hair will not get greasy.

It needs no Mrs. Sherlock Holmes to find the reason for the grimy state of skin close to the hair line in such a case. The solution lies, of course, in binding the hair back so that the cleansing performance may include the now neglected line. It's well to have on the toilet table or on the bathroom shelf a supply of gauze bandages with safety pins attached for binding the hair back—just so that in the hurry up job the section is not neglected.

Smart little gadgets on the market that may be found even more convenient than the gauze bandages are those new clips that they slip in your hair now when you are getting a finger wave. They grip the hair securely, hold it back, and in no way upset the rhythm of the wave when you go to fix the hair again.

There is another point about this close to the hair section that should be thought of. The powdering of the face so often ends with a "settling" of powder here. The powder works into this hair line, often giving a graying suggestion to the hair that isn't necessary. But more important, the powder is not removed and eventually may cause a clogging of the pores here that is detrimental to hair health.

The idea of having handy for all home powdering use one of those fine baby-hair powder brushes is excellent not only for the nicer finish it gives the powdered face, but because it can penetrate this close to the hair line skin surface and successfully remove all powder flakes.

But to get back to the original question: In order to have clean skin a daily cleansing must be indulged in and this difficult line around the upper part of the face cannot be neglected without grimy results.

Natural Colored Linen Given First Place in Paris Accessory Picture

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Linen is the latest fabric that has stepped into the Paris accessory picture. Ever since cotton and silk piqués have wiled their way into dominating the collar and cuff situation, linen has taken rather a back seat. But it is now back again—okayed by Paris—as chic and right.

It is the new linen glove that started it all. This is an eight button length slip-on glove in natural colored linen, with the palm and inside of the fingers in fine white suede. If you will look at the young lady in the accompanying sketch you will see this new glove which is expected to be one of the biggest successes of the season. The suede palm prevents it from being bulky. It is washable and just the sort of practical, yet attractive, glove that is needed with the spring outfit, regardless of its color. It will be worn with long-sleeved, short-sleeved and no-sleeves-at-all dresses. The large collar on the black diagonal jersey dress is also in linen, trimmed with black, and simply ties on center front. The narrow belt calls on linen again for its fabric.

A sailor hat, with a wide rolling brim, like the one in the sketch, is the hat to go with the spring sports outfit. The lower sketch shows the back of this hat, with its wide turned down brim in back. This hat is in black racello straw, and is trimmed with a supple linen. It would be just as attractive entirely in linen. The linen shoes, at the bottom of the sketch, complete this all-linen accessory outfit.

Feminist Leader of Brazil Here to Study Field Museum

Brazil, famous for a long time for coffee and nuts, has been inexplicably modest about another of its assets—its advanced, modern women. Miss Bertha Lutz, petite and curly haired director of the national museum of that country at Rio de Janeiro, is as good an example as can be found of this unpublicized product. She reached Chicago yesterday on a countrywide tour of inspection of major museums.

Primarily, she came to study the Field museum, which she couples with the American Museum of Natural History as the greatest in this country, if not in the world. Since her arrival, however, she has acquired another interest, hardly secondary to the first. It is the Century of Progress of 1933, and the women's congress that will feature it. Miss Lutz is intensely interested in that congress.

Ten years ago she paid her first visit to North America. She went home from it and founded the Brazilian Federation for the Advancement of Women, equivalent in this country to the National League of Women Voters, from which she obtained her inspiration.

"When I go back," she said yesterday, with only a trace of accent marking her excellent English, "we have to formulate a new program—map out our aims and decide what legislation we will study and support, especially for women and children.

"You see, women in Brazil have for a long time enjoyed the same advantages of education, practically, as the men. They have been welcomed in the professions and have done almost as well in business as women in this country. There is a large percentage of Portuguese in our population in Brazil, and consequently women have not been so secluded there as in many of the Latin countries."

Two Exhibits Are Opened in Art Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

This week sees the opening of two exhibitions in the smaller galleries. In the Walden-Palmolive gallery paintings by Dorothy Loeb are on view. There is also the opening of an exhibit of drawings by Raymond Jonson and water colors by Edgar Britton, Richard M. Crisler, and Elise Donaldson in the studio gallery; Increase Robinson, Diana Court building.

Dorothy Loeb is a modernist. Her affiliations would make her so if her work were not present to prove the assertion true. She is a member of the Provincetown Artists group, the New England Society of Contemporary Art, and the Sur-Independents of Paris. Her exhibit includes compositions of various well known modernist types. There is the Leger picture, the Chirico picture. There are abstractions and there are such naive, primitive conceptions that even a child would declaim them once he were beyond fourth grade.

Dorothy Loeb may have a message for more sympathetic ears. To us her exhibit is dull, stiff, and lifeless.

Far otherwise is it with the delightful group exhibit in the studio gallery. There you find freshness, beauty, vigor, and character. Raymond Jonson dazzles us with the beauty and fineness of his drawing, its masculine assurance, and its delicate sensitiveness. Startled as we were by his oils earlier in the year, this group of drawings feeds our appreciation of him as a great craftsman.

Richard M. Crisler has a piquant humor which flavors all his work. He offers nothing of great importance, but says a lot of little bon mots well. You will enjoy his verve and the decorative touch that illumines even the railroad yards under the fluency of his brush.

Edgar Britton and Elise Donaldson share the second of the two galleries. Miss Donaldson shows us Chicago from many attractive angles. Parks and strange churches are her theme, with an occasional slip into Orchestra hall or Child's. Her work is pliant, tender, and human. Mr. Britton is a splendid foil with his brighter colors and different outlook. His flower pieces are particularly attractive. Possibly his finest canvas is "Arrangement in Brown and Gray," a composition of lilac and red apples set against the colors in his title. It is exquisitely handled.

The exhibition will continue through May.

Newest Gloves Invite Talking with the Hands

Smart Styles Add Grace to Fingers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

IT is going to be a very interesting world this year for all of us who can only talk coherently and fluently with our hands as an animated duet to our enthusiastic though somewhat wagging tongue!

What conversation will languish or lag if these gesticulating hands are fashionably gloved in the intriguing new designs that are being released every shopping day! Even trite phrases become sparkling epigrams when fingers flutter throughout the conversation, providing these fingers are wearing the newest creations that emphasize their slender pointed smartness.

You'll talk with your fingers this year as you have never chattered before . . . you'll talk wittily, wisely, and well, with hand in glove fashionable sophistication. And you can fold your hands with smug self-satisfaction and beam and bask in the approval of all knowing shoppers when your digits are covered with the newest styles and the proper fabrics of the mode.

Gloves are just as expressive as any other part of your wardrobe or as any other costume accessory . . . there are as many kinds of gloves as you have moods and whims . . . you would as soon think of whacking your golf ball with a hockey stick as you would dare wear long, suavely wrinkled kidskin gloves with sports tweeds.

New daytime gloves certainly go in for variety . . . and the washable fabrics are now out to greet the earliest shopper. Glovemakers must have heard from good authoritative sources that the weather prophets have decided to send a warm and sticky summer time, for the newest ventilated and air cooled coverings for fashionable hands are mesh gloves. These meshes are largely a matter of holes . . . small and discreet for the demure . . . medium and modest for the conservative . . . recklessly open and large for the extremist.

You can even buy your mesh gloves to mate them with your hose . . . you can buy mesh gloves for the golf ball chasing . . . the particularly large holed variety that will surely help you to coolly handle any tricky sand trap . . . you will find mesh gloves that are fresh young copies of the fragile lace mitts of crinoline days . . . but sturdily staunch and dependable to wear with your 1932 mesh and cotton frocks.

Other gloves that will never develop any fear or hatred of soap and water are made of a material that looks like suede . . . these will be yours for a small sum of silver across the palm . . . and if you are smart and shrewd and a glutton for soapsuds and the daily display of spotless white hands, you'll buy them by the half dozens. Some of the newest ones of this suede-like fabric combine smartly with pique . . . wide, flaring cuffs with scalloped edges are of the pique, the rest is suede cotton.

A crowd of good old hand-me-downs, simple and yet smart enough to be styled for one summer after another, are the slip-ons of fabric . . . slip-ons without any fancy edges, seams, buttons, or decorations, but so wearable that seasons leave no finger prints on their smartness. While your thoughts are on the daily stint of cleansing, you might be interested in the newest washable doeskin gloves that come in all lengths and in white, beige, and a pinkish white . . . these are stunning with afternoon dresses of black and smart colored prints.

Night hours will bring out the new super cuffed gloves of white kid . . . their cuffs mark them for glory and conquest . . . they curve gracefully over the arm and the edges are scalloped and embellished with delicate cutout designs that look like lace. Others are finished with pointed scalloped edges and then slit, to be buttoned coyly a few inches down the wrist with tiny pearls.

Welfare Stations Hold Their Day of National Baby Week

The baby in the infant welfare stations throughout the city found itself the center of attraction yesterday as the spotlight was turned on the activities of the Infant Welfare society in connection with National Baby week.

Baby week has been held every year since 1914 when the Chicago Infant Welfare society originated the observance to call attention to the need for better health among infants and the prevention of illness. Last year the society served 24,878 mothers and children in congested areas, an increase of 52 per cent over the year before. This was done despite a decrease in contributions. Mothers who come to the stations are taught how to care for themselves and their children, and receive prenatal care from a staff of trained physicians and nurses.

Baby week will close next Sunday which is Mothers' day. National Youth week will begin on that day and will be devoted to the activities and accomplishments of the boys and girls all over the city.

In other quarters particular attention was being paid to National Hearing week. The headquarters of the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing are open all this week for public inspection at 64 East Lake street. Today and Friday, both afternoon and evening, lip reading classes will be held in the league rooms.

Spring Weather Helps Tag Day for Adult Charities

Bright spring weather yesterday coined money for the Chicago Federation of Aged and Adult Charities. Pedestrians who swarmed the streets bought the tags at every busy corner. The proceeds will go to maintain the charities devoted to dependent aged people. Although the counting of the contributions had not been completed last night, the heavy boxes turned in by the workers indicated, officials said, that the public had responded generously to the tag day appeal.

This Changing World of Fashions—1893—1932

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A woman who cultivates vanity is a normal woman, and on this theory an elaborate beauty parlor installed in the State Hospital for the Insane at Dunning is considered an important factor in starting women inmates on the road back to normalcy, Miss Anne Hinrichsen said last night. Miss Hinrichsen, director of the women's bureau, Illinois Manufacturers' association, addressed members of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association last night in the Hotel Sherman.

"Having her nails manicured, her face massaged and, particularly, her hair waved and shampooed," she said, "gives the woman patient a new interest in life, according to the authorities in the hospital. Often having her hair waved gives her the first real interest in the outside world and helps her to acquire a normal outlook."

Formerly considered by women as a gift of the gods, beauty now is regarded as something that may be bought by careful thought and effort and a little cash, Miss Hinrichsen explained.

"Women have known since the days of Eve the advantage of beauty," she said. "They value beauty for what it will give them. They believe it brings better social opportunities, love and marriage, success in business."

This magic potion, then, is sought by women to the extent that the business of the beauty parlors and the manufacture and sale of cosmetics in Illinois surpass that of any other industry in the state, Miss Hinrichsen said. In 1920 there were 2,838 women operators in beauty parlors in Illinois. Today there are 14,000 registered beauty operators and 2,400 apprentices in the state. In 1930 the manufacture and sale of cosmetics in Illinois was, she said, in spite of the depression the greatest in the history of the industry.

"Beauty is a part of every woman's equipment for whatever she really wishes to accomplish," she continued, "The quest for it is something far greater than mere vanity. It is the expression of ambition.

"Good grooming develops personality. It builds up morale. It gives self confidence, courage and a happier outlook on life. The business woman knows she must be well groomed. She is a conscientious customer of the beauty parlor."

A new method of painting hair for evening wear, said to be in vogue in Paris, was demonstrated at the meeting. A medium blond, Miss Lillian Matheson, was given a coat of the paint, which is in powder form and is later sprayed with banana oil, and was transformed into a red haired young woman. Miss Thora Nordstrom, a platinum blond, submitted to a painting, and emerged a Titian haired model. Miss Margaret Thomas, a dark blond, saw her hair become a burnished copper hue.

"It is worn only for evening wear, and will wash right out the next day," Max Hoefer, president, explained, as the girls were being painted.

"But—will it rub off on things—say a boy friend's shoulder?" a member of the audience inquired.

"It will—but surely he wouldn't object to a little cleaning bill," Hoefer replied.

Boy Scout Council Tells of Economies as Campaign Opens

With the opening of a $50,000 appeal for supplementary funds, the Boy Scout council of Chicago revealed yesterday that the budget for scouting activities has been slashed 45 per cent since the 1930 budget, without interfering with the scouting program, affecting nearly 18,000 boys, the largest number in the history of Chicago scouting.

The final slash of the budget came last week in economies amounting to $7,660, cutting expenditures for the year to $127,340, in comparison with a 1930 budget above $200,000. According to Perry A. Lint, scout executive, no further cut can be made without handicapping the scout program.

The reduced budget was brought about, Mr. Lint said, by dismissing several staff members, cutting pay, combining jobs, reducing to a minimum the maintenance of the summer camps, and strict economy in office and administrative expenses. He gave as an example of economy the reduction of the appropriation to train scoutmasters from $5,000 in 1930 to $350 for this year.

The first contributors to the additional necessary fund at the opening of this week's campaign were Mayor Cermak and City Controller M. S. Szymczak. The checks were accepted by R. Douglas Stuart, president of the scout council.

Club Members Shy at Short Skirts of 1927 at Style Show

One difficulty was encountered at the Woman's City club fashion show yesterday afternoon in the club's rooms, 6 North Michigan avenue: None of the women, young or otherwise, cared to pose in the short skirts of 1927.

"O, they're so awkward! Let me wear this cute long train of 1893! I can't bear to appear in the knee length 1927 styles!" was the tenor of the objections.

Miss Helen Fowler, a junior club member, finally agreed to wear the beaded formal dress with its waistline at the hip and its hemline at the knee. She said later she felt positively embarrassed. It had been worn in 1927 by another club member, Mrs. Elise Runyan, who with Mrs. Royal W. Irwin, chairman of the civic arts department, planned the style show program, which illustrated the contrasts between styles of 1893, 1927 and 1928, and 1932.

The knee length dance dress was contrasted with a floor length, clinging green lace dress of 1932, worn by Mrs. Thomas O. Baxter, with a short jacket of the material.

An afternoon party dress of World's Fair days in 1893, a white embroidered batiste with puff sleeves, much like those worn today, and a long train was modeled by Mrs. Harold Bingham. It belongs to Mrs. J. F. Wallach, a former Chicagoan, now residing in California, who imported it from Paris from the then famous designer, Boucicant.

Sports clothes became fashionable in 1893, and one of the early sports dresses, a blue linen shirtwaist and skirt with plenty of fullness behind and a long train, was worn by Mrs. Martha B. Dalton. She wore a stiff sailor hat and swung a croquet mallet in one hand. It was in the trousseau of her mother, Mrs. E. C. Buehring, also a club member. Miss Betty Whiting modeled a white boucle sports suit of today.

Mrs. Ira C. Humphrey, the envy of most of the club members because of her small waist, wore an alpaca suit made in 1893, with its long train, tiny waist, and its Eton jacket, which had to be stuffed with tissue paper to obtain the stylish curves of the '90s. "I should have worn a bustle, too," said Mrs. Humphrey.

Mrs. E. A. Wallwerk wore the ankle length bloomers and high necked blouse of the early bathing suit, and the cutout, backless bathing suit of 1932 was worn by Mrs. R. Winfield Thompson.

Selects 2 Women for Science Trip; 400 Are Refused

New York, May 2.—(AP)—William Beebe, scientist, turned down nearly 400 young women eager to go along on his latest tropical sea exploration trip, beginning Saturday, most of whom "yearned for the romance of the tropics."

He selected Miss Gloria Hollister and Miss Jocelyn Crane because they offered "sound ideas for scientific research," he said today at his laboratory of tropical research in the Bronx Zoological gardens.

"It's what is above the ears I am after for the expeditions," he said.

Both young women have sleek permanent waves above the ears, incidentally, and complete and very feminine wardrobes, including formal dresses for parties at Governor's house in Bermuda.

Beebe has included a good many women on his expedition staffs, because he is "after adaptable scientific students who fall in with my plans, and sometimes women offer just those qualities."

Organ Music Marks Program Sponsored by Artists' Group

A concert wherein organ music took the most important part of the program was given under the auspices of Chicago Artists' association at Kimball hall last night. Of this branch of music, William H. Barnes played a group by Gigout, Rogers, and Poister; Whitmer Byrne another group by Bach, Barnes, Mailly, and Widor, and Mark Hallett together with Margaret Sweeney, harpist, played the Dubois Fantasy for the two instruments.

In addition to these events Leonard Huber, baritone, sang a group of songs by Strauss and Tschaikowsky, and the quartet of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, Martha Tait, Marjorie M. Sherman, Merle C. Tibbetts, and Arthur Ranous, with Alice Emmons McBride, organist, appeared in numbers by Rohers, Matthews, and Foote. Albert Cotsworth, veteran organist and commentator upon musical matters, was the guest speaker, giving a talk for the benefit of those who hear church music.

Usual Number of Society Folk Plan Trips to Kentucky Derby

Stuyvesant Peabodys and Others Will Give Gay House Parties as Race Events.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE has been quite a bit of talk about "nobody" going to the Derby this year, but as far as we can learn there will be just about as large a representation of smart Chicago turf enthusiasts at Churchill Downs Saturday as there has been in previous and more prosperous years.

The Stuyvesant Peabodys have taken the same house in Louisville that they have had for five or six years and are taking down with them quite a party, including the Darrow Fultons and Miss Harriet McLaughlin. Mrs. Peabody is motoring south tomorrow and the rest of the party will follow later in the week.

Mrs. Thorne Donnelley and Mrs. John Wentworth went to Bardstown, Ky., where the Donnelleys have a country place, yesterday and they will be joined by their husbands and Ralph Isham, Preston Boyden, and Dr. John E. Nyman on Thursday or Friday. Bardstown is only thirty miles from Louisville, so it will be fairly simple for the Donnelleys and their guests to motor to Churchill Downs Saturday morning. Mrs. Loma Laughlin is coming from California to join this gay house party.

Miss Audrey Campbell is taking a party of young people to Louisville in a private car, the party to include her cousin, "Tommy" Leiter, and the chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II., and Miss Eleanor Wheeler, Miss Edith Behr, Dustin Grannis, and Philip Dalton.

Several Chicagoans will be at French Lick Springs for the week-end and will motor over to Louisville for the turf classic Saturday. Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Yager are planning to go to the Indiana springs Thursday and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor and Mrs. Francis J. Johnson also will join the Chicago colony there the same day.

New Hunt Club Is Organized.

The Longmeadow Hounds of Winnetka, which for the last nine years has been operated as a privately owned hunt, has been incorporated as a hunt club with Clark J. Lawrence as president; Thomas J. McKearnan, vice president; Donald F. McPherson, secretary, and Howard W. Fenton, treasurer. These officers, with Ernest H. Hicks and Arthur Cox, make up the board of directors, which has elected Col. Albert E. Peirce master and Mr. Hicks fieldmaster. The by-laws provide for three classes of membership, nonhunting, hunting and junior.

The Longmeadow Hunt was organized in 1923 by C. Colton Daughaday and was taken over in 1929 by Col. Peirce. The pack hunts three times a week, Monday morning and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. The season usually starts in the latter part of August and continues until after Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Wetten and their daughter, Miss Mildred Wetten, will return tonight or tomorrow morning from a brief stay at French Lick Springs. Miss Wetten is to have Miss Ellen Pendleton, president of Wellesley college, as her house guest Friday night and Miss Pendleton will be the guest of Mrs. William Sherman Hay in Winnetka during the rest of the Wellesley alumnæ conference to be held here the end of the week.

Mrs. George Frost of Chestnut Hill, newly elected president of the National Alumnæ association, will visit Mrs. Bruce MacLeish in Hubbard Woods during the conference; Dean Mary Low Coolidge will be with Mrs. Francis E. Broomell, president of the local Wellesley club, and Miss Margaret Christian of the college will visit Miss Theresa Rew and Mrs. George Bliss.

All meetings of the conference are to be held at the Woman's Athletic club. Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock there is to be a tea party for prospective students.

Some of those who will enter Wellesley next year are Harriet Fentress, the Calvin Fentresses' daughter; Nanneen Reberi, Andrew Reberi's daughter; Margaret Bartholomay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bartholomay; Harriet Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Donald Dallas; Mary Bell Woodley, Madeline Bliss, Jeannette Henning, Jacqueline Smith, Louise Teich, Evelyn Totman, Dorothy Davis, and Mary Jane and Marion Thomas.

Summer Place Is Opened.

Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson has opened "Wychwood," her Lake Geneva residence, for the summer and is there for the season.

The Lake Geneva Country club was opened for the season last Saturday. Henry C. Bartholomay of Winnetka is president of the club this year. He and his family spend week-ends at the lake during the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, who will open their place there a bit later in the season.

Miss Katherine Trowbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius M. Trowbridge of Lake Forest, will return to her parents' residence this week after two exciting months of courier service in Kentucky for the Frontier Nursing association. Miss Trowbridge was the first Chicago girl to obtain one of those courier jobs, which debutantes of eastern cities strive to fill each year.

Miss Florence Noyes has changed her plans and is not going to Arizona to attend her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Galt, when she is married to Rodman E. Griscom Jr. in Tucson on Thursday of this week. Miss Noyes and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes, expect to leave the Amassador East and return to their apartment at 1242 Lake Shore drive on June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr of 505 Stratford place returned yesterday from a six weeks' holiday at the Maryland Hunt club.

Edmund Doerings Visit in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering motored to New York last week for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stevenson [Virginia Doering], who went to New York to live after their marriage on March 30. The Doerings are planning to make several short motor trips while they are in the east, and won't return to Chicago for another fortnight.

Mrs. Frederick W. Peterson of Ann Arbor, Mich., who spent the winter with her son, Thomas I. Underwood, at 1366 North Dearborn street, left after his wedding to Frances Coonley Rawson, for New York to sail this month for England. She will spend the summer on the Cornish coast, and her husband, who is in Iceland, will join her for the homeward trip in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. Kimball of Highland Park have left for a trip to Washington, Virginia, and Atlantic City.

Miss Merca and Miss Dorothy Wilkins, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Wayne Richards of Lake Forest, have returned from several months of travel abroad. Mr. Richards is head master of the Lake Forest academy.

Reservations for the dinner and symposium on modern architecture to be given on Thursday evening by the Association of Arts and Industries at the Congress hotel have been made by Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carpenter, Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mr. and Mrs. Max Adler, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Small, and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Adler. Frank Lloyd Wright, Alfred H. Granger, Ernest A. Grunsfeld Jr., and Mrs. Irene Sidley will be the speakers.

Mrs. R. P. Lamont Jr. Makes Stage Debut as Sadie Thompson

Denver, Colo., May 2.—[Special.]—As Sadie Thompson in "Rain," Mrs. Robert P. Lamont Jr., daughter-in-law of the United States secretary of commerce, has made her professional début as an actres. She already is known as a sculptor and artist.

Mrs. Lamont, daughter of William R. Kent, retired architect of New York City, took her success lightly today.

"It is great fun," she said. "But I'm not interested in the average run of plays." She said she will not be a permanent of the cast but probably will do another part later in the season.

Mr. Lamont was unable to attend his wife's performance as he is in Russia conferring with soviet officials regarding improvement of their cattle industry.

The Lamont's live on a 16,000 acre ranch near Perry Park, south of Denver. Lamont has one of the finest Hereford cattle herds in the country.

'Breadline Frolics' Cast Holds Parade in Loop

Members of the cast of "The Breadline Frolics," now in the second week of its run at the Majestic theater, held an old fashioned minstrel parade through loop streets yesterday. It was said to have been the first such march downtown in twenty-one years. The actors are all unemployed workers and the receipts go to relief purposes.

"'Tis with our judgments as our watches, none
Go just alike, yet each believes his own."—Pope.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There's a sort of warm, all embracing, yearning, Mother Earth understanding about everything Fannie Hurst writes. She sees people and events as they are, but with a kindly tolerance for all. In these regards "Symphony of Six Million" is characteristic of most of her stories.

As in most of them, she writes of Jewish people. But the Klauber family, which especially engages her attention this time, might be the Jones, McCarthy, or Schmitz family, so true is the note she strikes throughout.

Here is one more in the "doctor cycle" of pictures. It is a thoughtfully directed and sympathetically acted production whose central figure is a young surgical genius whose path leads from the ghetto to Park avenue—and back to the ghetto again.

Felix's idea of making good is to do good. To heal, to comfort, to inspire are the three bright facets of his aspiration. He is completely happy—wholly content—during the first years of his practice while he labors in the ghetto clinic and lives in the same flat that has housed him and his family since he was a little boy.

But his brother, Meyer, has other ideas. To make money! Oi, that is the ticket! To be a fashionable and highly paid doctor with a stylish office to which the rich will come! How much Felix could do for all the Klaubers—if he would! Meyer finally persuades Mamma to wrestle with her eldest son in argument, knowing that in the last analysis what Mamma wants, Felix will do.

And so it is. The handsome young Jewish surgeon becomes the mode with neurotic ladies of money and leisure. He writes prescriptions and doles out pills with those marvelously skillful surgeon's hands of his, and with Mamma, Papa, Meyer, and Sister Birdie inhabits marble halls where Mamma and Papa are completely ill at ease. Birdie and Meyer of course are up to date—and the former lands herself a wealthy husband.

Not for me to outline the thorny trail that leads Felix back again into his own.

Ricardo Cortez, as Felix, gives a virile, human portrayal. He has played other rôles as well—for he is an adaptable fellow—but none any better. Anna Appel and Gregory Ratoff are equally fine and sincere as his father and mother. You'll love Irene Dunne, and wish with me that more about her and her romance with Felix might have been written into the picture. Other rôles are competently handled.

"Symphony of Six Millions" is much on the order of Miss Hurst's "Humoresque." The story structure is the same. It is not as great as "Humoresque."

See you tomorrow.

Events on the Stage

A return engagement of Lew Leslie's "Rhapsody in Black," the all-Negro revue with Ethel Waters as its star, will begin at the Apollo theater Sunday night, May 15. This entertainment was one of the most popular musical shows of the season when given at the Garrick a few months ago. Arrangements for a Paris première in June have been frustrated by Mr. Leslie's inability to secure so-called "labor permits" permitting the performers to enter France.

"Counsellor-at-Law" will be transferred from the Selwyn to the Erlanger theater next Sunday night, when "The Devil Passes" begins its engagement in the former playhouse. Its cast, headed by Otto Kruger, will remain unchanged. This play is now in the thirteenth week of its run, and its removal to the Erlanger will give it a chance to equal or surpass the record of the season thus far—nineteen weeks of "The Green Pastures," at the Illinois. The New York company of "Counsellor-at-Law," with Paul Muni in the title rôle, now holds the Broadway record.

Scenery and costumes from the equipment of the Civic Opera company will be used in the production of Donizetti's "Don Pasquale," scheduled to open at the Blackstone theater May 16. This operatic comedy, often given by the Ravinia Opera company and occasionally by the Civic, will be offered as a playgoing amusement rather than an affair for the concert lovers. The management of the Blackstone nails to its masthead the slogan, "Popular prices and no cut rate coupons."

Thornton Wilder, author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" and star man of letters on the faculty of the University of Chicago, has been given a commission by Gilbert Miller to adapt "The Bride of Torozko," a Hungarian play. Mr. Miller intends to stage this piece next fall under the title of "Klari," probably as a vehicle for Helen Hayes. Mr. Wilder recently made his debut as dramatist with a volume of short plays published under the title of "The Long Christmas Dinner."

"A Character Intrudes," a play by Charles S. Costello, director of the Loyola Community theater, had its first performance there last night. Isabel Randolph, an actress of extended professional experience, appeared in the leading rôle. The performance will be repeated tonight and tomorrow evening. C. C.

Why Chicagoans go back to the NEW YORKER

SPLENDID FOOD served just right

QUIET, AIRY ROOMS deep-springed beds

A HOTEL has got to go some to please me. I'd rather not eat than struggle through a poor meal. And the slightest noise wakens me at night.

"So when I keep going back to the New Yorker, it means something. It means that their cooking is in a class by itself—seasoned and served perfectly. It means, too, that their rooms pass the pin-dropping test—100% quiet. I'd be willing to pay high for these two comforts alone, but you don't have to at the New Yorker. You can get a luxurious outside room—a grand bed, both tub and shower bath, servidor, even a radio—for as little as $3.50 a day."

2,500 airy, home-like rooms—over 500 at $3.50 a day. Four popular-priced restaurants—tempting menus featured in each. Centrally located—just three minutes from the Pennsylvania Station by private tunnel. Make the New Yorker your headquarters on your next New York trip.

Indifference Needed Spice to All Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What is your idea, young woman, about hanging around the house waiting for the telephone to ring? Think it better to take a chance on waiting or take a chance on not hearing from the boy friend?

Is it better to surprise him once in a while by not being there to answer the phone or always be on and for his call?

"Vivian" is concerned about the evenings she wastes waiting for the call that does not come. When the next evening brings the coveted telephone tingle should she refer to the previous evening's disappointment? In other words, is a little telephone disappointment now and then relished by the best of men?

To quote the advice of a siren of international renown: "Woman's wasted moments are never so wasted as sitting under a phone pining for the bell to ring!"

But she was a siren; as said. Here the pleasure to pick and choose from not one but a number of busy phone calls! How about the girl just getting on with her only or best boy friend prospect? She has got to the point where a disappointment might swerve the male interest in the direction of a second girl phoned to and found at home.

Is it wise, generally speaking, to give out the impression in these pre-engagement periods that one is always at home? Common sense hints that it is not; that it might be better to be at home and not answer once in a while just to whet the male curiosity aid upset his cool assurance of an ever ready girl.

Anyway, this question of the telephone jingle is more serious than would appear in its presentation here. It must be, because so many young women inquire about the kind of action that were more profitable to take.

Who among us oldsters hasn't known the pangs of that long, lone evening waiting for the promised call? And pangs they were as only youth may suffer them. But haven't we lived to learn that surprise is an element you cannot leave out in a game with men? Not too much surprise, not too much indifference—just enough of each, however, to keep the romance from growing stale, you know.

Form Company to Issue Films of Adventure

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 2.—So great has become the impression of the public's desire for films of authenticity and realistic adventure that one veteran film producer, Sol Lessor, has organized a new film combination to produce, collect and distribute nothing except such motion pictures.

Recently Lessor, who originally organized, financed and managed the West Coast Theater chain, now a far west string of nearly 1,000 theaters administered by the Fox corporation, went to New York and bought out Talking Picture Epics.

This was a corporation originally backed by the late George Eastman, Daniel Pomeroy, and other millionaire New York sportsmen, as an altruistic enterprise to finance expeditions, and secure an outlet for the showing of films taken by explorers, sportsmen, soldiers of adventure in far corners of the world. Because altruism in the movie business is almost synonymous with business amateurism, the Talking Picture Epics corporation never got anywhere on its original lines.

Now, Lessor, who is frank about not expecting to handle any picture except for a profit—"although I won't handle one solely for a profit and hope to continue on the original lines of enabling explorers and adventurers to be able to display their films to their own advantage," has reorganized the original corporation under the new title of Principal Distributing corporation.

"We have taken over five million dollars' worth of negatives showing exploits and dangers in darkest Africa, the south seas, the artic north and quaint places in Europe," Lessor said. "We have thirty film exchanges in big cities of the United States, so we are not at the mercy of big showhouse chains. We will have expeditions going out in several directions during the coming year. One will go to Russia. Zane Grey will cover the Rocky mountain region of the United States and make a film of wild animal life and Indian life in which he will himself appear."

Lessor's new arrangement will provide a clearing house for all the adventure film fellows who come back from cruises to Eastern island, treks across the Sahara and hunts for Capt. Kidd's treasure, with a rapid business-like clearing house for their film negatives.

Select Sturdy Varieties for Berry Patch

Warn City Gardeners of Disease Peril.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Considerable interest is being shown by city and suburban home owners this spring in the growing of small bush and vine fruits such as grapes and berries. By selecting varieties which require the least amount of care, the prospect of obtaining table fruit in future seasons is heightened materially.

Among the new varieties of raspberries which are quite hardy and disease resistant, R. S. Marsh of the University of Illinois has found the Latham and Chief the best of the red varieties and Quillan the favorite in black raspberries.

While less known than the concords and other table grapes in this region, the Sheridan and Fredonia, developed in New York, are worthy of trial in the home lot.

If the berry urge goes far enough to include a few strawberry plants, the Everbearing and Senator Dunlap still remain in favor. A new variety, the Blackmore, being drought resistant and high yielding, is also recommended for canning or preserving. A straw mulch is advisable in the patch of young plants.

This Review Will Make You Like 'State Fair'

Some Pleasant Comment on Amusing Story.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"State Fair," by Phil Stong [Century]. Published today.

"STATE FAIR" is the thirteenth novel from the pen of its author, Phil Stong. It is, however, the first one to be published and it was immediately chosen as its May book by the Literary Guild. There ought to be evidence for the power of thirteen in that fact. Whatever thirteen is in the way of bad luck for some people (me for instance — I was born on the thirteenth) at least it is a Maypole dance and a well-stuffed Christmas stocking for Phil Stong.

PHIL STONG.

"State Fair" is a simple, plain, amusing, intriguing story about a farmer's family and its week at the state fair. There are no fireworks of words, and no deep diggings in the frustrated lives of soil rooted souls. The Iowa farmer and his family are no cases for Freud. They are normal, happy, common sensible human beings who are proud of their pioneer forbears, proud of their children and proud of their prize pigs and their blue ribbon pickles.

Blue Boy is one of the most unusual leading characters in a modern novel, but he is not in the least incongruous as a motivating force in "State Fair." I don't remember when a Hampshire hog has been the deus ex machina of a modern novel, but that is only because there haven't been any novels (that I can remember) about people to whom growing the best hog in the world occupied the same position of glamour as building the biggest office building. Blue Boy is in his line as characteristic a product of modern America as the Empire State building. The Frake family, consisting of Abel and Melissa, father and mother of Margy and Wayne (Bud) are as real as a stalk of corn and as rooted in their native soil.

Abel and Melissa love each other and their children (and their Blue Boys and their pickles), but are a little careless and trusting about them as all beloved parents are about their nice children. When the children say they are going somewhere, their parents believe that that is the place they are going.

When the book opens Wayne is in love with a girl in a neighboring town who has gone one year to Iowa State Teachers' college and has grown just a wee bit away from him, and Margy and a neighbor farmer boy are "keeping company." The Frake family are about to go to the state fair to show Blue Boy to an amazed world. Before they leave for the fair both Wayne and Margy manage to quarrel with the girl and boy whom they love, and they are both ripe for what happens to them at the fair.

What happens would give most novelists forked lightning and attendant thunder to hurl at their readers, but Mr. Stong treats the love affairs which they both have (secretly) with the same joyous nonchalance that he treats Blue Boy's bored winning of the boar sweepstakes.

Both of the young things are drawn sympathetically and with understanding. And they are adolescence incarnate. The newspaper reporter with whom Margy falls in love, after meeting him on a roller coaster (he seems to be the world's greatest connoisseur of such contraptions) is a darling, who won't take her into a crowd of his buddies unless she will promise to marry him because his reputation isn't so good in the matter of lady friends, and he doesn't want her being misjudged. Margy has common sense enough not to marry him (because he's a wanderer and that's that), but she knows what she wants and takes it.

The girl that Wayne falls in love with is as deaf to his offers of marriage as Margy is to the charming pleas of one of the most delightful newspaper reporters in literature. Wayne's girl has common sense, too, and she knows that the daughter of a race track follower would never make a good wife for a dirt farmer in Iowa, but she gives Wayne a few days to remember forever.

The whole spirit and atmosphere of "State Fair" is good natured, good humored and expansively human.

They say that all twelve of the predecessors of "State Fair" were torn up by their unsatisfied creator. I would like to wager one of M'lissa Frake's blue ribbon pickles that, after the success of "State Fair," the pieces will be discovered and pieced together, like that great (forgotten) sensation, "The Story of Opal."

Plain Crackers Say Good-by to Colorless Life

BY MARY MEADE.

Nothing new under the sun? We rise to protest!

Graham crackers, for instance, were once just—graham crackers. Only that and nothing more. They were used in soup by a few daring souls, and consorted with milk and apple sauce at the midnight snack or after school "fist lunch." Recently a few of them have taken to themselves coatings of chocolate and have gone to school in runabouts' lunch boxes. But still they were very much graham crackers, and no doubt about it.

Today, graham crackers hardly know themselves. They have ceased to be dry nonentities and have become crusty, luscious pies, excellent cakes with odd, chewy textures, ice box puddings and cookies, and a score of flavorful dessert specials. And the pleasant thing about it is that, as they say in big business, the field is just opening up. There is still an infinite range of exciting possibilities for the ingenious cook to discover. There may be graham cracker waffles, for instance. Or fritters, croquettes, doughnuts, and main dish combinations boasting graham crackers may be just around the corner.

The following suggestions should start the ball rolling. If they inspire you to create some brand new graham special, or if you have a new and successful graham cracker recipe already on hand, why not tell me about it, so I may pass on the good news?

First for the graham ice box cake. Roll one-half pound of graham crackers very fine with a rolling pin. Then pit and chop one ten ounce package of dates and blend with three tablespoons orange juice, a sprinkling of salt, and one-fourth pound of marshmallows [cut in fourths with wet scissors]. Add to this mixture two-thirds cups finely chopped nuts, and fold the whole into one cup of cream which has been whipped stiff. Now fold in the cracker crumbs, reserving about the tablespoons. Sprinkle these crumbs on a sheet of heavy waxed paper which has been brushed with melted butter. Turn the date mixture onto the paper and shape in the form of a long roll, three inches in diameter. Wrap in the paper and chill in the refrigerator over night. To serve, cut into three-fourths inch slices and top each slice with whipped cream and a fourth maraschino cherry.

And here's a thought for the refrigerator. Chocolate covered graham crackers—twelve of them—may be stacked together with a thick layer of sweetened whipped cream between each. Wrap the stack in heavy oiled paper and place in a freezing compartment of the refrigerator or in an ice cream freezer surrounded by cracked ice and salt mixture. When thoroughly frozen, remove the paper and cut the cream and cracker brick in half crosswise and then lengthwise, making four servings, each showing cross sections of chocolate, cracker and cream.

GRAHAM CRACKER PIE CRUST.

½ cup sugar.
½ cup melted butter.
1 tablespoon cream.

FILLING.

½ cup sugar.
2 cups milk.
1 tablespoon flour.
1 tablespoon corn starch.
3 egg yolks.
¼ teaspoon salt.

Roll the graham crackers very fine, and blend with the rest of the crust ingredients. Reserve one-half cup of the mixture, and pat the remainder into a thoroughly greased pie tin to form a crust.

Blend the dry ingredients of the filling, add the beaten yolks, and gradually the milk. Pour into the crust and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] about thirty minutes. Pile on the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and sprinkle over this the remaining half cup of crumb mixture. Brown slightly. Serve cold.

Left Handed Child Should Be Let Alone

Nervousness Results from Change.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The subject taken up by the first question is gaining increasing attention:

Question—My little boy was left handed, but we have worked hard at home, and the teachers have at school, to make him right handed. Do you think it is worth while?"

Answer—It is not generally considered advisable to try to change a child from the left to the right hand habit. It is believed that the results are very unfavorable. Stammering and stuttering sometimes accompany the change and are believed by some authorities to be accounted for by the enforced change from use of the left hand to that of the right hand.

Nervous strain is said to show itself in other ways, some more obvious than others. There are explanations of this which can not be gone into here. They have to do with the fact which has been definitely established that nature tends to develop one lobe of the human brain more than the other.

It was partly due to this knowledge that the attempt to make children ambidextrous—that is equally skillful with both hands—was given up. You can see the connection between this and the process of changing a child from left handedness to right handedness.

Question—My little boy doesn't seem to care much for books. He wants to be doing things all the time. I've tried to get him to read more, as I do want him to be well educated, but I can't make any impression on him. Can you tell me anything I could do to interest him in books?"

Answer—I should let him alone in the matter of reading. Some children never gain a fondness for books. Others have long phases of having no interest in them or acquired an interest in books later in life.

In any case, you have nothing to worry about. If he read all the time, then you would have cause to worry. His education does not depend on bookishness. To express himself in doing is the most wholesome thing that can happen to a child. He is living first hand and vigorously. I would do nothing, unless perhaps you wanted to have a few really interesting books around. Or find books on the subject he is interested in suited to his age.

Aquarium Receives Huge Sea Cow Which Weighs 650 Pounds

A huge sea cow, an almost extinct mammal found only off the coast of Florida, arrived in Chicago yesterday and was installed at the Shedd aquarium. The creature weighs 650 pounds.

Walter H. Chute, director of the aquarium, explained that the animal, a manatee, was a male, although it is called a sea cow. "I never heard of a sea bull," he said.

The sea cow eats only river grass in its native haunts, but attendants at the aquarium will introduce it to lettuce, cabbage, carrots, and possibly spinach. In appearance the manatee is a muddy gray with a small head, two large flippers and a large paddle-like tail that sends it through the water at a high speed.

Princess Rostislav goes shopping at THE FAIR

Five years ago an attractive young Russian woman arrived in Chicago to make her home. Now, Princess Rostislav is an integral factor in Chicago's social and business life.

"I have determined to make a career for myself as the American women do," she confided, when questioned about rumors of her activities.

"You know, whenever I go to tea, luncheon, or anywhere with my friends we invariably get to talking about clothes, and lately everyone tells the price of things. So I decided to purposely shop around till I found some place that had smart things at prices less than we've all been paying.

"It's been great fun, especially since I've found just what I was looking for at The Fair. Reproductions of famous Paris designers in coats, frocks, hats; distinctive things that certain exclusive shops carry, but with this grand difference: at The Fair these smart things are priced so low it seems a dream, instead of a shopping tour. I've talked so much about these things my friends have become as interested as I am. For it is true, Style costs much less at The Fair."

You love to watch him EAT!

IT gives you a real thrill, doesn't it, to see your youngster dip lustily into the cereal bowl and cram his little mouth full? For you know he's doing his part toward building growth and health.

So give him a bowl of Kellogg's Rice Krispies and milk. Breakfast, lunch or supper—watch him eat! Rice Krispies fascinate children. Delicious, toasted rice bubbles that actually crackle in milk or cream. One of the best cereals for young folks.

Nourishing Rice Krispies are so easy to digest, they don't overtax. So much better than many heavy dishes—particularly at supper. Rice Krispies invite sound, restful sleep.

Fifty and Fit

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.

The Old Story

Paying a woman's penalty—time after time

In the year of 1932 there should be no monthly martyrs to pain. Some women still think they must suffer—they haven't heard of Midol—or can't believe that it has solved their problem.

Did you know that five to seven minutes after swallowing a tiny tablet you can be yourself—can be comfortable—can go about without feeling a single further twinge of muscular pain?

Your regular periods need not be painful!—they are not painful to those who know of Midol. These wonderful tablets make Nature's process a mere incident. No pain, not even discomfort when you have learned to depend on Midol, as women who used to have the hardest time have found. It is not a narcotic, does not interfere with the process, but does stop the pain; relieves headaches, too; neuralgia, etc. Every drugstore has Midol.

Girls! DON'T REDUCE

Until I tell you of the wonderful new way I discovered in

BATTLE CREEK

You eat all you want of delicious foods—take no harmful drugs like thyroid—no back-breaking exercises—Yet you lose excess fat so fast you can hardly believe the scales—you wear clothes sizes smaller as inches peel off bust, hips, limbs, neck, arms, and face—Oh! It's so wonderful—you'll never realize how thrilled you are going to be until you actually see what it does for you. You feel so peppy—and you look years younger. If you don't win love after this—you are just hopeless, girls.

Here's the recipe—and be sure to cut it out of the paper. You just get yourself a big bottle of BonKora—enough for a month or six weeks. It never costs over a dollar. Eat three square meals a day—four if you prefer—but cut out starches and fats and eat more of the good strength and tonic foods that the directions in the package tell about.

This BonKora is different from every other treatment you ever heard of. Doctors tell us fat is 66 per cent water anyhow and this treatment simply makes the fatty parts of your figure throw off enough of the heavy water to make you more nearly NORMAL in weight.

Now let me warn you—when you have reduced your weight and measurements to normal, be satisfied and quit taking BonKora, except occasionally as a conditioner. Don't let yourself become too thin.

BonKora is free from any harmful drugs, is not habit-forming and may be taken by any one according to directions. Remember the name BONKORA—Beware of imitations!

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 2.—The Cubs furnished no evidence today as to why they are up near the top of the National league percentage column. Steve Swetonic, who is supposed to have a sore arm, held the Chicagoans to three hits and shut them out, 2 to 0, in the opener of the series with the Pirates. It was the first time this season the Cubs have been embarrassed by a coating of whitewash.

Swetonic was a good pitcher and all that, but he didn't have much of an edge on Pat Malone. The big speed ball hurler, who vanished after seven innings to make room for a pinch hitter, allowed the Pirates only four hits. He walked two and hit one batter. But Pat could not keep all the hits widely scattered. The Pirates mixed two of their drives with a pass in the sixth for the only runs of the day.

One Cub Reaches Second.

It was the second day in succession the Cubs were held to three hits, and they were embarrassed in another way. One one of them reached second base against Swetonic and that didn't happen until the eighth inning. Even first base scarcely was scratched by Chicago spikes. Three men reached there on singles. Another was the beneficiary of the only error in the Pirate defense and one man walked. Another grievous feature was that 20 of the 27 Cub outs were handled by the Pittsburgh infielders. A couple more days like that and you'll see Manager Hornsby playing right field.

The trouble that one or both of the Waner boys never fail to furnish appeared in the first inning. Brother Paul doubled to left after Lloyd had lined out. Malone got over this threat. Another appeared in the second when Suhr walked, but the next two popped out, Finney was hit, and Swetonic grounded to Herman. With two gone in the third Piet dribbled a single past Hack. That completed the Pirates' activities during the first five innings.

Bad Medicine in Sixth.

Paul Waner opened the sixth with a single to right and complications arose immediately. Piet sacrificed him to second. Malone decided the cheapest way in which to handle Traynor was to walk him. Suhr singled to right, P. Waner scoring and Traynor sprinting to third. Dugas slapped a wicked liner to right and Dan Taylor got his hands around the ball but couldn't hold on. The official scorer flipped a coin and announced it was an error. It scored Traynor, put Suhr on third and Dugas on second. Malone then fanned Vaughan, and Benzel was out on a fly to Moore.

One of the few chances the Cubs had to make any progress came in their first inning. Johnny Moore singled to right center, but two were out when this happened and all that Danny Taylor could get out of his bat was a pop foul. The second inning opened with Stephenson getting a single on a popup which three Pirates had a chance to catch back of second base. Hartnett bounced into a double play and Grimm lined to Vaughan.

During the next five innings only one Cub experienced the thrill of becoming a base runner. That was Herman, who profited by Vaughan's fumble to start the fourth. The next three Cubs hit into the air.

Hurray! A Hit! A Hit!

The Cubs came through with a big rally in the eighth. They made their third hit. Hartnett contributed this with none out and resigned to let the fleet Hemsley run for him. His services weren't needed. Grimm hit one squarely, but the ball went right into P. Waner's hands. Piet had no trouble throwing out Jurges, Hemsley going to second. Harry Taylor then acted as pinch batter for Malone, but only rolled to Swetonic. Another big rally started in the ninth. Swetonic walked Herman with one out, but nothing happened.

GERMANS WIN IN TEST BOUTS FOR CHICAGO MATCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 2.—Two of the German champions who will fight THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves team at Soldiers' field, Chicago, on July 26 came through the second series of bouts with victories tonight in the international boxing tournament.

Herbert Bernloehr, middleweight champion, whipped K. Nilsen, a Dane, in three rounds. The tall, grinning blond Bernloehr impressed the crowd with his hitting power and boxing ability.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

When more spectacular blowups are conceived, White Sox pitchers will execute them. For the present, however, Sam Jones' foldup against the Detroit Tigers yesterday with one out in the ninth will receive the hand painted lily. And if there is a duplicate lily, award it to Vic Frasier, who, jocularly speaking, relieved Sam.

However, we'll let you judge for yourself. With one out in the ninth Jones had the Tigers shut out, 3 to 0, on four hits, no two of which came in the same inning. Ten minutes later the score was Tigers, 5; Sox, 3, and that was the final score by which the punch drunk Chicagoans suffered their twelfth thrashing out of their last 13 starts.

The Worst Comes First.

Inasmuch as that horrible ninth was the deciding part of the contest, we will wade through that part before telling you some of the more cheerful items pertaining to the earlier phases of the contest.

Gehringer started the ninth with a foul to Selph. Alexander batted for Rhiel and lined a single to center. Schuble was put on to run for Alex but didn't get a chance to run until Davis had walked. Walker doubled over Seeds' head, Schuble scoring and Davis stopping at third. Coach Butler went out to the center of the diamond to ask Jones how he was feeling and Jones apparently allowed he still was pretty effective. Jones resumed pitching and Hayworth batted a double to left center, scoring Davis and Walker with the tying runs.

Frasier went in for Jones and White batted for Sorrell. White promptly doubled to left, scoring Hayworth with what proved to be enough to win. Johnson popped to Blue for the second out, but Rogell singled to right scoring White. Rogell very considerately made a careless effort to proceed to second and was out, Funk to Blue to Kress.

Appling Revives Sox Hopes.

Hope was revived somewhat when Appling led off the Sox ninth with a double off the left center scoreboard. Luke went to third on Berry's infield out, then Hodapp walked. Lyons ran for Hodapp, but there was no use, for Seeds popped to Gehringer and Relief Pitcher Bridges threw out Selph.

CUT TOP FLIGHT OFF DERBY LIST; BETTERS SUFFER

New York, May 2.—[U. P.]—Top Flight, winter book favorite, has been withdrawn from the Kentucky Derby, Tom Healy, trainer of the C. V. Whitney stables, announced today.

Contrary to general belief, no great sums were lost in the winter books through the withdrawal of Top Flight, according to Thomas J. Snaw, betting commissioner. Shaw's most liberal estimate placed the sum wagered in big eastern and western books at less than $15,000.

By virtue of her unbeaten record as a juvenile Top Flight ruled favorite from early February until last Saturday, when she went down to inglorious defeat in the Wood Memorial Stakes at Jamaica.

To Save Her for Acorn.

"Top Flight has not responded properly to spring training," Healy said. "We have decided to abandon the Derby and to point her for the Acorn stakes at Belmont Park on May 14." The Acorn stakes is at one mile.

Five other eastern Derby nominees were withdrawn today. The others were Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sweeping Light, William Woodward's Faireno, the Greentree stable's Curacao, and Mad Frump and Clotho, also from the C. V. Whitney stable.

SIX ELIGIBLES ARRIVE

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—Arrival of six Derby eligibles from the east and mile workouts by Tick On, ante-post favorite, and Liberty Limited, concerning whose condition doubt had been expressed, kept gossip seething at Churchill Downs this afternoon, where a small Monday crowd wagered mildly on a card without a notable stake feature.

Lucky Tom Due Today.

The eastern contingent consisted of Universe and Economic, which finished one-two in the Wood Memorial Saturday, where Top Flight's Derby requiem was sounded. They arrived in the same car. Stepenfetchit and Over Time, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's pair, which finished behind Evening in the Chesapeake, came in from Maryland. Big Beau and Indian Runner were in the consignment of Hal Price Headley. Both of these latter

HANDICAP AT AURORA GOES TO BURNING UP

Victor Pays Backers $19.94 to Win.

The opening of horse racing in the Chicago district yesterday was greeted by 25,000 spectators. Aurora drew a crowd of 15,000 and Sportsman's park attracted 10,000.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Burning Up, a black son of Black Tony from the stable of Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago, was the hero as the Illinois racing season opened yesterday at the Aurora track.

With 15,000 excited spectators looking on, he came pounding down the stretch to win the Aurora handicap at six furlongs by five lengths from Fortunate Youth. Portmanteau, owned by Ben Rosenheim of Chicago, finished third. The favorite Tannery, which was roughed up some on the turn, was sixth.

But Estimate Is 15,000.

The actual turnstile count at the Aurora opening was 19,441, according to the figures announced by the management. But to many eyes that are trained to judge crowds the estimate was 15,000. However, it was ladies' day. Automobiles were parked over in the landing field of an adjacent airport for the first time and the turnstile count included the track help.

Anyway, it was a big opening, a start on the new season so big that representatives of the other tracks in Chicago who were on hand wore broad smiles as the turnstiles clicked and the lines formed in front of the parimutuel betting windows for every race.

The betting was reported to have been 5 per cent off from the amount wagered at the opening of a year ago. No official betting figures were announced, but it is known that the betting on opening day last year was approximately $210,000.

Betting Business Is Healthy.

Regulars who for eight years have been helping to blast the lid on the racing season in the Chicago district at the Aurora course were amazed at the large attendance and the healthy business in the betting palm garden. Aurora for the first time was facing opposition from a track operating in Chicago. But the crowd at the Aurora track indicated there are lots of racegoers in Chicagoland.

It was a day of doubles. The daily double betting ticket was sold for the first time and the 16 persons who picked Tennywood and Halliard to win the second and third races collected $274.46 for the $2 they had invested.

McCoy Whips Two Winners Home.

Then to start off the program Jockey Jimmy McCoy, one of the great riders of the country, scored a double when he kicked and whipped Tiverton and Tennywood home to win the first two races. He had a Herculean task on hand to get Tennywood home, and did everything but pick him up and toss him across the finish line to beat Bayleaf, on which there had been a last minute plunge.

Just to make it more of a doubles day, J. D. Larkin trained Tennywood and Halliard, which got home to win the daily double.

Burning Up was making his first start in the Aurora handicap since he finished second to Lady Broadcast in the Cuban National handicap early in March. He had been a sensation at Aurora just a year ago during the spring meeting, when he ran so brilliantly that many people came to regard him as one of the great three year olds of the year.

But after the Aurora spring meeting ended he trained off and did not accomplish much until the winter racing got under way in Cuba.

Tannery Heavy Favorite.

Tannery as a result of his fine record in Lexington this spring was a big favorite. But he has never accomplished much away from the Lexington track and it wasn't a surprise when he was so badly beaten. Folks wagered on him, however, with great confidence.

Portmanteau jumped out into the lead at the start, but soon surrendered to Hot Shot. Nearing the turn Burning Blaze took up the running, dashed out into the lead and gradually increased his advantage until he was so far in front nearing the finish that it was hardly a contest. The Schmidt entry of Supreme Sweet and Hyman had also been backed. Hyman was a contender heading into the stretch, but soon dropped off to finish far back.

Runs Six Furlongs in 1:13.

Burning Up ran the six furlongs in 1:13, not particularly fast, but seemed to have won on his class. In the mutuels he paid $19.94 to win, $7.38 to place, and $5.08 to show. Fortunate Youth was at $6.32 to place and $4.26 to show. Portmanteau paid $10.04 to show.

McCoy stretched his winning streak to three when he got home with Starch in the last race after leading all the way. Starch had been heavily backed.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Wild Child and Miss Brilliant, two frisky girl horses who did right well on the winter tracks, had the program all to themselves yesterday at the opening of Sportsman's park, Chicago's newest race track, and one of the best vest pocket size ovals in the ccuntry. There was no official count on the attendance, but approximately 10,000 crowded into the compact confines of the new track, Lilliputian in every aspect, from the half mile racing strip to the barns, clubhouse and grandstand.

Wild Child, a 4 year old filly owned by S. Guanire and coupled in the betting with Marjory Nell, had not been out for a romp since she left the Fair Grounds at New Orleans in mid-March, but she showed she was ready for a deal of exercise by the manner in which she ran off with the $1,000 Inaugural handicap. She defeated such veterans at Brookside, Lanier, Morsnuff, Patricia Marian, and Port o'Play, running in front from start to finish.

Entry Returns $19.82.

And when the mutuels were hung up, the fans who had passed by Morsnuff, Brookside and the rest to bet on the Wild Child-Marjory Nell entry, were rewarded with the cheering prices of $19.82 to win, $6.66 to place, and $4 to show. Morsnuff, which took the place, paid $4.98, and Port o'Play was at $6.22 to show.

Miss Brilliant lived up to her name with an easy victory in the Jackson Park purse, the secondary feature. She shared the attention in the betting with Sergeant Hill, but by no means in the running of the race. She was in front by eight lengths at the half way mark and the Sergeant was running more like a corporal, but he came back in the stretch for a rally which proved too tardy but gave him the place. Probationer, a first starter, finished third. Miss Brilliant paid $4.64.

Winning Jockey Set Down.

When Jockey Majestic came back to the winner's ring with Wild Child to receive the customary floral honors from Mayor Cermak, he was the subject of a bit of booing on the part of the customers who had wagered on Lanier. The field had just gone over the home stretch for the first time when Lanier almost caught Wild Child as they went around the club house turn.

It appeared that Lanier stumbled when he neared Wild Child and Jockey Dupuy, who was up on Lanier almost was unseated, but he hung on and continued the chase, only to have Morsnuff and Port o'Play overtake him. The Lanier delegation seemed to think Majestic had something to do with Dupuy's mishap and they were vindicated when the judges set Majestic down for the balance of the meeting for rough riding. Wise Child's time for the six furlongs was 1:22 1-5.

King Halma, which could do no better than third in seven previous efforts this year, was the first horse of the day to come home in front, taking nine others into camp with no particular difficulty. Prince Rock, a long shot, finished second and Sir Relief third.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT AT OPENING RACES

Mayor Cermak was on hand for the opening of racing at Sportsman's Park yesterday. Lieut. Gov. Fred Sterling came from Rockford to take in the first day's ceremonies at Aurora.

Jimmy McCoy, who was past the finish line with three winners at Aurora, was the first jockey in America to wear goggles during the running of a race. He tried it the first time a half dozen years ago. He is a veteran from Kentucky and was with the E. B. McLean stable last season.

Emmett Whealan, president of the county board, State Treasurer Edward Barrett and Maj. Carlos Ames were in the club house throng at Sportsman's park.

Val Crane, whose big string of homebreds from Wild Rose farm near St. Charles is in training at Aurora, spent a part of the afternoon in the Aurora press box.

Halliard was the only field horse to get home at Aurora. He won the third race easily with the favorite, Lawyer, far out of the money. The "field" players cheered when Halliard paid off at $65.56 for a two dollar ticket.

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Illinois Turf association; Charley Bidwill, the secretary; John Schank, head of the Hawthorne track; Judge Joseph Sabath, Robert M. Sweitzer, and Judge K. Scanlan were among those trying to pick the winners at Aurora.

Favorite players fared better at Sportsman's Park than they did at Aurora. Four favorites, Justina, Miss Brilliant, Gurgler, and Harum Scarum scored at the new half mile course. Two — Tennywood and Starch — were victorious at Aurora.

MOON MULLINS—MEAT ON THE TABLE

How I Got My Start in Baseball

[As Told to Irving Vaughan.]

BY LONNIE WARNEKE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 2.—It took me a long time to learn there was such a thing as baseball being played. When you are on a farm down in Arkansas, as I was, you don't hear much about such things. The first I knew that it was going on was when I started in high school at Mount Ida, Ark. They asked for candidates for the ball team, so I went into it mainly because it was something new to me.

LON WARNEKE.

I guess because I was tall I was put on first base and I never thought about trying any of the other positions. It was first base for me during my last three years there.

After finishing high school I began to figure on a job of some kind, some place, so went down to Houston, Tex., where one of my sisters lived. I caught on with the Western Union, but the idea gradually grew in my head that if a lot of fellows were making money playing baseball I might be able to do the same.

I had nothing except my high school experience to recommend me, but that didn't stop me from paying a visit to the president of the Houston Texas league club. I told him I wanted to became a ball player, but he didn't think much of my idea. I finally told him that I was so sure about myself that I'd pay my own expenses to train with his team. He had no objections to that. That was in the spring of 1928.

As soon as I showed up in a Houston uniform, Frank Snyder, the ex-Giant and Cardinal catcher, who was manager, decided first base wasn't my place. He told me he thought I could throw well enough to become a pitcher. I did as told and then my travels began. I guess I was a pitcher only by name. Houston couldn't profit by my presence, so shipped me off to Laurel, Miss., in the Cotton States league. I didn't excite Laurel by my presence, so was released to Alexandria, La., in the same league. All of this was in 1928.

The Shreveport club, which owned Alexandria, took me on in the spring of 1929, but my luck changed again and I was back in an Alexandria uniform. I stayed there until close to the end of the season, when Shreveport recalled me. It was while at the former place that I attracted the attention of a Cub scout. My record with the two teams that season was 16 wins and 10 losses.

Keller's College Hero, but Shuns Rah-Rah Stuff

BY WILFRID SMITH.

He doesn't belong to a college social fraternity, has refused membership in a campus honorary organization, prefers to read John Galsworthy to all other authors, is married and has established a national reputation as a hurdler. This is Jack Keller of the Ohio State track team.

JACK KELLER.

Last year, his sophomore year at the university, Keller scored 138 points. He was high point man in every meet in which scores were tabulated. He holds the university record for the 120 yard high hurdles, 14 7-10 seconds, and the high hurdle record at the Pennsylvania relays, which championship he successfully defended last Saturday.

In short, Keller not only is on his way to super-athletic laurels, but so far, in his university life, is the opposite of what is popular conception of a university student.

Keller was a splendid prospect when he graduated from East High school, Columbus, O. He began hurdling in his high school freshman year under the guidance of Coach Joe Stevens. If the choice had been his, Keller would have taken up sprinting. Many an hour he stood, open mouthed, watching George Simpson, Ohio State's premier sprinter, working out. Simpson, by the way, has run the 100 yards in 9 4-10 seconds [using starting blocks], and he also prepped at East High, Columbus.

But Coach Stevens, considering Keller's spare frame, decided he would do better at the hurdles. Keller today is 6 feet 3½ inches tall and weighs 160 pounds.

"Give Jack ten pounds more weight and some day he'll run the high hurdles in 14 seconds." This is the opinion of his university coaches, Larry Snyder and Dr. Frank Castleman. Fourteen seconds would clip two-fifths of a second from Earl Thomson's recognized world mark and one-fifth of a second from the accepted national A. A. U. mark established last summer by Percy Beard of the New York Athletic club.

Asks Approval of Two Records.

Right now Keller has two records waiting approval. He ran the 70 yard hurdles at the dual meet with Indiana in 8 4-10 seconds, a United States record, while less than a month ago at a meet conducted by the Cleveland Athletic club and sponsored by the A. A. U. he was timed for 50 yards in 6 2-10 seconds. This constitutes a world mark.

Fancy Elmer's Chagrin; He's Upset, 10 and 8

[This is the twelfth and last of a series of articles by a novice golfer while taking a course of instruction from Harry Cooper, Glen Oak Country club professional.]

BY ELMER DUBB.

Well, folks, I was in there fighting every minute, but Harry Cooper, playing some of the most sensational golf of his career, came from behind at Glen Oak yesterday and defeated me, 10 and 8, in the first annual Cooper-Dubb match. In case you do not already know it, that score of 10 and 8 means that Harry won every one of the first 10 holes. Then he won the last eight. Cooper's victory was regarded as a decided upset and stamps him as one of the most promising golfers of the year.

All jesting aside, however, I did play the first round of golf I ever attempted yesterday. My medal score for the 18 holes was 61—69—130, while Harry, who went around with me, shot a 33—38—71, and I might add that he wasn't trying very hard on that last nine.

Keeps Score Anyhow; So Here It Is.

When I came around for the graduation exercises of my course at Glen Oak, Harry told me we would go around the course once, but advised me not to bother keeping score. For once I thought I wouldn't take his tip, and here is the result of our journey, which I am prepared to defend in any court in the land:

Par—out	443	453	544—36
Cooper—out	343	443	444—33
Cooper—in	535	444	454—38— 71
Dubb—out	855	894	966—61
Dubb—in	976	799	788—60—130

I might as well break down and confess right here and now that I was ashamed of that score, because I had figured on shooting under 100, or at least 110, after the lessons Harry has been giving these last two weeks. But when I admitted that I had kept score and showed the card to him, he cheered me up considerably.

"Why be discouraged, Elmer?" he asked. "For the time you've been at the game, I think you've done right well. I know a lot of people who have been playing golf for four and five years who couldn't have done as well. Here's one way of looking at it. You've been taking golf lessons for eleven days and today was the first time you really played. I've been playing for 24 years and am still trying to improve my game. You've got the fundamentals down pretty well, so why try to be a champion right away?"

Concentration on Long Game Helps.

During the course of the round I discovered that Harry's concentration on the short game during the regular series of lessons had helped me a lot. The fact that we had gone through the wooden clubs rather hastily was borne out with plenty of hooking and slicing on my drives and second shots. President Gus Munch and Hank Llewellyn went around with us on the first nine, the better of my two. My best performance was on the 149 yard sixth, a water hole. It didn't start out so hot, my tee shot going only about half way between the tee and the water. My second was 25 feet past the pin, and my putt for a par three stopped on the rim of the cup.

Harry continued to correct my stance and swing, but I noticed that when he paid no attention to me I got better results. I told him this and he pointed out that I probably was too conscious of him and too anxious to remember everything he told me.

"That's why I didn't want you to keep score," he said. "Very likely you can do better going around alone."

DAVIS BOYS GIVE PHILS 7 TO 2 WIN OVER BOSTON

Philadelphia, Pa., May 2.—[Special.]—Heavy hitting by George and Virgil Davis accounted for six of the Phillies' seven runs today and the National leaguers defeated the Boston Braves, 7 to 2. Cubs Give Barton Ticket to Reading; Subject to Recall

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 2.—Vin Barton, the Cubs outfielder recently benched because he was not hitting, was sent away today to the Reading, Pa., International league team under a 24 hour recall option. When Barton left Chicago Sunday night he packed his bag and then walked off without it. He hopes the bag will catch up with him eventually.

Lance Richbourg, the ex-Brave who has done excellent work as right fielder for several days, was given a rest today. He has been bothered by a lame hip. Hornsby also wants to use Johnny Moore as much as possible so as to get a definite line on his real worth.

Bob Smith will be asked to pitch to the Pirates in the second of the series tomorrow. In three starts this year Smith won once and was knocked out twice. Bill Swift, a rookie from Kansas City, probably will be the Pirates' choice.

They killed the fatted calf this evening at the Pittsburgh home of Harry Taylor, the Cubs' sub first baseman. The boy came home a big leaguer.

A Night in Paris: Lady Biffs Carnera

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 2.—This is a story of a girl, some men and a bottle. The title, freely translated from the Russian, is "He Who Gets Slapped," and the bottle is just there for background.

The girl is Mickey Devine, snappy gnatweight who adds a certain buzz to Earl Carroll's Vanities. She is temporarily staying at the Hotel George V, here, as also is her employer, and they are both resting.

Accompanied by Carroll and a colleague from the Vanities named Beryl Wallace, Mickey flitted into the bar of the well known Lido on the Champs Elysees on Saturday night.

There she met the leading man in the case—the man mountain, Primo Carnera, relaxing after a strenuous evening in the ring during which he polished off Maurice Griselle.

The presentation was made by Gary Leon, in private life, Leon Garfield, a former Stanford university football player who is now a professional dancer and lifesaver in the Lido pool.

The rest of the story was told by a dozen eye witnesses to the scene.

"I don't like the way you fought Griselle," Mickey is reported to have said. "It wasn't clean."

"Izzatso?" said Mickey, leading with her right.

"Hey, where do you get that stuff?" said Introducer Leon. "He's a friend of mine."

For answer Mickey just kep piling up points—three open hand slaps on the south slope of Primo's jaw. Then she added another point with an honest to goodness sock with clenched fist and sapphire ring.

Primo finally got out of range and retired while Carroll and Beryl led Mickey from the bar.

That ended the incident except that some friends of Griselle, nursing their wrath at the bar, overheard Leon say he was a friend of Carnera's and they laid for him when he came out. He was able to return to work today, however.

Principals in Paris' battle of the century tonight refused to discuss the incident or comment on the public decision which was a draw.

"I don't know anything about it and don't want to hear anything about it," said Mickey on the telephone, somehow intercepting a call for Carroll.

"At least six people saw her sock you," a reporter pointed out.

but for the pitching blight is reflected in the fact that Selph led the attack with two triples, Bob Seeds made a triple, and Appling, who is leading the team in hitting, came through with the single which drove in the first run of the game, a double, and a walk.

The Sox made their first run in the fourth. After Kress had shot a hot liner into Rhiel's glove Fonseca got to second on Rhiel's overthrow of first. Fothergill grounded to Rhiel and Fonseca was run down, Fothergill reaching second on the maneuver, whence he scored on Appling's single to center. Luke took second when the ball got away from Walker, but died there when Berry tapped to Rogell.

Seeds Smacks Triple.

SOX PICK THOMAS

Tommy Thomas, an invalid of parts, may feel well enough in the right index finger to pitch for the White Sox today. If the misery in the Thomas digit persists Caraway will perform. Wyatt, who did not get into action against the Sox in Detroit, is the guess for the Tigers.

Harry Davis, the Tigers' new first baseman, made his bow to south siders yesterday. Davis joined the Tigers the day before this season opened after having trained with the Toronto team. As a Shreveport schoolboy Harry used to work out with the Sox in their spring camp, displaying his didoes as a child wonder.

Henry Edwards, rated by many as the most sprightly of all major league baseball officials, introduced the new Sox to W-G-N listeners. Kress, Seeds, Hodapp, Berry, and Funk responded with pretty speeches.

Red Kress for three days has been the victim of one base hit robbery after another, mostly by third basemen. Yesterday, however, Walker and Stone joined in the banditry. Stone was especially irritating when he backed up against the left field wall and stretched way up to pull down Red's drive.

Manager Fonseca, whose dogs and shins aren't what they used to be, got caught in a protracted run down play in the fourth inning, and Dr. Bruckner, the eminent capsicum chemist, could be seen dashing about collecting his liniment bottles.

Carey Selph rather likes home openers. In the first game of the first series at Comiskey park Carey made three doubles—for six bases, of course. Yesterday he got his six bases on a pair of triples. Another one

METHODISTS ARE STARTING TO CUT BISHOPS' POWERS

Critical Problems Face Conference.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., May 2.—[Special.]—Nearly 850 clerical and lay delegates and 40 bishops sat in opening session this morning of what some of its leaders call the most critical meeting of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church ever held in America. While gnarled problems have arisen from the economic depression which affect the church's world-wide educational and missionary service, yet lobby discussions would lead an observer to suspect the recasting of the whole structure of the church, in order more efficiently to meet present day life, to be the real "critical" work of the conference.

It may be pointed out that the machinery of American Methodism was designed late in the 18th century to reach rapidly into a steadily expanding geographical frontier. As long as colonization remained rapid the structure of the church was admirably adapted to meet that need. But now that colonization is almost at an end, the problem of turning the activity of the church from expansion to concentration now confronts the church.

Cut Power of Bishops.

It appears certain that one means that will be adopted at this general conference in the reorganization of the church will be that of shearing powers of bishops. This measure, liberal leaders say, will be accomplished in two ways:

First, by limiting their tenure of office to eight years; second, by taking from them the power to appoint district superintendents. This will make the latter office elective by annual conference. It is generaly known that dignitaries of no other church in Protestantism have as many powers or as much authority as Methodist bishops.

It is argued that this limitation of episcopal powers will tend to give greater initiative to the various areas in developing intensive programs which best meet local needs instead of being forced to depend on one program for the whole church, which is expected as satisfactorily to meet metropolitan industrial conditions of the Chicago area as rural areas of the south or west. An attempt to curb the episcopacy at another point failed at this morning's session when rules of order for the conference were adopted.

Keep Judiciary Control.

This attempted move would have taken out of the hands of the college of bishops the right to nominate the members of the powerful judiciary committee. Until a few years ago the college of bishops constituted the judiciary of the church. When that function was taken away the right to name the members of the committee remained, and with the failure of the conference to adopt the new rule the nominating power for the judiciary again remains with the bishops.

Efforts will be renewed at the present conference to reunite northern and southern Methodism. This was attempted a few years ago, but failed when it came to the voting of the conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Reunion will also be attempted with the Methodist Protestant church. That denomination separated from the rest of Methodism nearly 100 years ago, partly as a protest against the powers of the bishops. The Methodist Protestant church has no bishops. The curbing of episcopal powers proposed at this session will favor this reunion.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Good Business

Widow Tells Funeral Honors in Siam.

Mrs. Matilde Meyer Schapiro, 5510 Cornell avenue, returned to Chicago yesterday and revealed details of the funeral services attending the cremation of the body of her husband, Dr. Louis Schapiro, public health adviser to the king of Siam. The physician died in Bangkok, Siam, last Feb. 4 and was given a funeral of the type usually reserved for Siamese royalty.

Dr. Schapiro was born in Milwaukee in 1886. He was educated in the United States. He became interested in tropical medicine and entered the United States government service in the Philippines. Later he joined the Rockefeller Foundation as a field director. His studies took him to Costa Rica, Venezuela, Colombia, Panama, and finally Siam.

Urged to Leave Tropics.

He was a martyr to medical science at the age of 45, his widow said. He had been warned to leave the tropics because of his health, but refused. The great reverence with which he was held in Siam was shown at the ceremonies attending his funeral which were conducted under the auspices of the crown prince.

The body of Dr. Schapiro was placed in a gold casket. Robes for the priests at the ceremonies and alms for the public were provided by the king. At one side of the casket were forty-five bags, each containing a gold piece, with which the departed was to buy his way into heaven, one gold piece for each year of his life, in accordance with the Buddhist belief.

Prince Conducts Services.

The crown prince conducted the services before an audience of members of the royal family, government officials and representatives of the various foreign communities in Siam. The prince paid homage to the memory of Dr. Schapiro and addressed the widow. Seven priests chanted hymns. Then the widow, according to custom, laid yellow robes upon the casket and the prince laid white robes upon it.

After this ceremony, Dr. J. S. Hockman, after the Jewish custom, read a psalm from the Old Testament and the prince lighted a candle before the casket and retired. Others followed in a long procession before the casket, each lighting a candle and paying a tribute to the memory of the dead. The body was later cremated.

Son a Medical Student Here.

Besides his widow, Dr. Schapiro is survived by one son, Mark, who is now a medical student at the University of Chicago; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Schapiro of Milwaukee.

Dr. Schapiro was the author of a number of works on medical subjects which told of the results of his studies of epidemics and diseases in the tropics.

THE TRIBUNE has received the following message from the Moline Association of Commerce:

"The article in this morning's TRIBUNE concerning half time services by firemen and policemen and city employés in Moline is absolutely false and a rank injustice has been done this city."

THE TRIBUNE accepted this message from its correspondent in full faith. The correspondent reports he sent the dispatch dated "East Moline" and that the telegraph company made the error.

VALVE MISHAP HELD CAUSE OF PLANE TRAGEDY

A coroner's jury found yesterday that the cause of the airplane crash in which Lieuts. Charles H. Fargo and Henry Sandusky of the Army Air corps reserve died Saturday afternoon was the accidental closing of a carburetor mixing valve. The inquest was held at the undertaking establishment at 809 East 75th street. The plane crashed against a brick house at 124 East 75th street.

The two reserve pilots were described as heroes by experts testifying at the inquest. Lieut. W. V. Newhall, engineer officer for the 33d division aviation, Illinois National Guard, who tested the plane before it was taken up by the reserve pilots, said it was in perfect condition.

Funeral services for Lieut. Fargo, who was 33 years old and resided at 1512 North Dearborn parkway, were held yesterday afternoon in Graceland chapel. There was a military escort.

The services for Lieut. Sandusky will be held at 2 p. m. today in the undertaking rooms at 3125 West Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. Lieut. Sandusky was 35 years old, and resided at 444 St. James place.

Dr. Ezra Dwight Chase Dies; Prominent as Mason

Dr. Ezra Dwight Chase, well known physician, and prominent in Masonic circles, died yesterday. He was 50 years old, and resided at 126 North Latrobe avenue, Austin.

Dr. Chase was the son of the Rev. Ezra B. Chase, for many years pastor of the Austin Congregational church. He was born in North Bloomfield, O., and was educated at the University of Minnesota and Northwestern university, receiving his medical degree at the latter institution in 1905. He practiced medicine in Chicago since then.

Surviving him are his widow, Edith; two daughters, Katherine Chase Goodrich, who is employed at radio station W-G-N, and Virginia, and his mother. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Thursday at the Austin Presbyterian church.

Chicagoans Able to See Reflected Image of Dunes

Office workers and apartment dwellers in Chicago's high buildings were treated to a reflected image of the sand dunes yesterday. One of the first to notice the phenomenon was Director Philip Fox of the Adler planetarium. "Such an image, known as a looming, is a common occurrence in Chicago at this time of year," C. A. Donnel, chief meteorologist at the weather bureau, said. "It is caused by the different temperature and density of the air over the dunes and over the lakes. This causes a bending of the light rays, presenting a reflectional and refractional phenomenon. The rays are so bent that the images loom higher."

Victim Found Dead After Police Chase Found Suicide

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of George Henderson, a jobless Joliet electrician, who was found shot to death in his automobile which he had wrecked in fleeing from two Elmhurst motorcycle policemen. The police halted him early Sunday for questioning and ordered him to follow them. He drove into a dead end street and wrecked the car on the Great Western railroad tracks in an attempted escape. Pursuing police found him dead, pistol in hand.

Mrs. Farquhar, Veteran Hairdresser, Is Dead

Funeral services for Miss Bertha F. Farquhar, 2467 East 74th street, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Oakwoods cemetery chapel. Miss Farquhar, who was 62 years old, died yesterday at her home after a short illness. She was for nearly forty years a hairdresser in Chicago. She opened an establishment in the Field building in 1893 and her clientele included many of the city's most socially prominent women. Several years ago she moved her shop to 307 North Michigan avenue.

He spent the early years of his life importing horses and later he bought domestic stock and sold it in the Chicago and New York markets.

IN WHICH MINSKYS ARGUE BURLESQUE IS GOOD BUSINESS

Morals of 42d Street Unharmed.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—The debate before License Commissioner James F. Geraghty concerning burlesque and the morals of 42d street entered its second week today with the Brothers Minsky stanchly defending their rôle of the workingman's Ziegfeld. There are two sides to every question, they maintained, just as there are two sides to every burlesque queen.

Briefly, these are the two sides to the burlesque question:

The 42d Street Merchants' association maintains that burlesque shows, flea circuses, and kindred entertainments constitute a nuisance and are rapidly undermining both business and morals along the midtown thoroughfare.

Cardinal Hayes Sends Letter.

The issue at stake is the renewal of licenses for these so-called places of entertainment.

This afternoon the defense began to produce bankers, restaurant keepers and business men to offset testimony introduced earlier in the day in the form of a letter from Cardinal Hayes declaring New York City "has a malodorous reputation throughout the country because it is said anything, no matter how foul or filthy, is tolerated on the stage." Cardinal Hayes asked that licenses be denied to such "breeders of vice."

Three bankers almost immediately testified that the burlesque theaters were good neighbors, and one, J. W. McDowell, vice president of the Bowery Savings bank, said an increase had been noted in depositors.

Gives Customers Appetites.

Hip wiggling, spotlight stripping and the antics of such stars as "Minnie Dimples," "Anna Setic" and "Ima Broad" evidently make the customers think of food, for Nathaniel K. Miller, the restaurant man, testified that his business had increased fifty per cent since burlesque move into 42d street.

A physician, an artist and several other professional men said they saw nothing "demoralizing" in the burlesque shows.

The leading critic so far has been Police Inspector Frank J. Donovan. Inspector Donovan in his description of the show at the Republic reached heights seldom achieved in burlesque criticism.

Suggestive?. Oh, Very!

"So, then," said the inspector in describing one act, "the toreador goes up to the girls and jerks his right thumb like this and says, 'Pooh, pooh, pah, pah.' Then the girlies run. It was very suggestive."

"Suggestive of what?" asked Commissioner Geraghty.

ROBT. J. GUNNING, BILLBOARD ADS PIONEER, IS DEAD

Robert J. Gunning, 76 years old, for years a leader in the billboard advertising business, died yesterday of a stroke in his home at 4369 Oakenwald avenue. He came to Chicago from Buffalo in his youth and as a young man organized the Gunning system of outdoor advertising. Friends said he was the originator of billboard advertising.

Mr. Gunning was vice president of the American Posting Service, vice president of the Northwestern Display Advertising company, and president of the St. Louis Bill Posting company. He also operated large real estate ventures.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow, with burial at Oakwoods cemetery. Surviving him are his sister, Marcella, and his nephew, S. Z. Silversparre.

PROBE GANGSTER PLOT TO CONTROL SLOT MACHINES

Investigation of a suspected movement on the part of George [Bugs] Moran and Leo Mongoven, expatriate Chicago hoodlums, to operate and control the slot machine racket in Lake county was begun last night by Sheriff Lester Tiffany and State's Attorney A. V. Smith.

Early yesterday morning three gunmen summoned John Wasniewski to the door of his service station office and lunchroom at Five Points, a short distance southwest of North Chicago. They pushed their way into the quarters and departed a few minutes later with a slot machine which Wasniewski maintained in his place.

Lake county authorities said last night that Moran and Mongoven have been seen in Waukegan daily for the last ten days. They intimated a belief that followers of Moran and Mongoven took Wasniewski's gambling device as the start of a campaign to eliminate competitive control and to introduce their own machines. In general, it was said, few slot machines are in operation in the county, but with the approach of summer the racket sometimes spreads in the lake resorts.

AMERICAN OPERA STAR IS FOUND DEAD OF POISON

Believe Suicide Victim Is Lucille Chalfant.

BERLIN, May 2.—[U. P.]—A woman of about 40, found dead of poison in a Berlin apartment, was tentatively identified by the United States consulate today as Lucille Chalfant, noted American singer. She had been known at the apartment as Anne Lind, but the consulate said its information indicated she was the singer.

Police believed it was a case of suicide. The body was not found until two days after death.

Neighbors reported the victim had a daughter, Willie Lou Chalfant, at the McRae hotel, New York, and another daughter in Hollywood.

Miss Chalfant was born in Pueblo, Colo., as Lucille Collins. She was educated at the University of Southern California and for a time worked as a reporter on the Los Angeles Times.

She made her singing debut about 15 years ago in "The High Cost of Loving," and later appeared as a star in the Greenwich Village Follies and other musical shows. Her operatic debut was made with considerable success as Gilda in "Rigoletto" in Paris in 1925.

She was married in 1911 to William McStay and divorced in 1917 at Oakland, Cal. In 1918 she married Fred R. Hoff, whom she divorced in Chicago in 1925.

She had two children, Kathleen, now 20, and Willie Lou, 18. She was a descendant of Jenny Lind.

She began her career in this country in the chorus, and quickly graduated through the musical comedy stage to concert and opera. She made several successful European tours.

URGES HARVARD TO BAR STUDENT EARNING HIS WAY

Cambridge, Mass., May 2.—[Special.]—The Harvard Crimson in an editorial today advocated barring students who have to depend on their own earnings for all their collegiate expenses.

The editorial was induced by the announcement that 27 eastern colleges, including Harvard, had outlawed the "sympathy appeal" by student salesmen.

"The myth that any able bodied man can support himself and at the same time realize the full advantages of a college education must be destroyed," the editorial said, "and there is no better way to do it than by refusing admission to men who are compelled to spend so much time and go to such ends to earn money for themselves that they lose many of the most essential benefits of a college education."

Dr. John A. Lichty, X-ray Authority, Dies at 66

Rochester, N. Y., May 2.—[Special.]—Dr. John Alden Lichty, 66, recognized as an X-ray authority, died at his home in Clifton Springs today. During the last nine years he had been superintendent of the Clifton Springs sanitarium and clinic. Dr. Lichty was one of the first physicians to recognize the diagnostic and therapeutic value of X-ray apparatus. The Clifton Springs sanitarium was one of the earliest institutions in the United States to install Roentgen equipment.

RETURN OF CASH TO BANKS SEEN AS CREDIT AID

Gain in Deposits Put at $121,000,000.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The revival of confidence in the banks of the country, as evidenced by a return flow of hoarded funds, may do more toward bringing about an expansion of credit for commercial purposes than the easy money program of the federal reserve authorities. For example, the weekly report issued yesterday by the reserve board concerning the position of the larger member banks of the system shows a strong upward movement in deposits. But it also shows further liquidation of both commercial and collateral loans.

Therefore, it appears that the banks either are still primarily concerned with maintaining liquidity or the present slack state of business and industry is bringing small demand for the kind of loans that the banks are willing to make. But the trend does indicate that the banks will be amply able to furnish credit for business expansion whenever the recovery does set in.

Total Deposits Rise.

The consolidated statement of the banks which report every week to the reserve authorities shows that their total deposits rose $121,000,000 during the week ended April 27. At the same time, they reduced their borrowings from the federal reserve banks $30,000,000 and increased their reserve balances at the reserve banks by $145,000,000.

On the other hand, these banks reduced their commercial loans by $55,000,000 and lowered their collateral loans by $32,000,000. Thus, the combined shrinkage in loans was $87,000,000. The banks made little change in their investments, which show an increase of $10,000,000 in government securities, but a decline of $9,000,000 in other securities. Compared with a year ago, total loans show a shrinkage of $3,111,000,000 and total investments show a decline of $752,000,000.

Easing of Credit.

That the easing of credit as the result of the federal reserve banks' government securities is proceeding faster than expectations is indicated by statistics gathered in the current bulletin of the Alexander Hamilton institute.

Only a few weeks ago it was believed that most of the credit received by member banks in exchange for government securities would be balanced by the cancellation of their indebtedness to the federal reserve. As this indebtedness totaled more than $800,000,000, and since the purchase of securities was expected not to exceed $25,000,000 a week, it was not expected that banks would find funds "burning holes in their pockets" for several months.

From the middle of March to April 20, however, federal reserve government security holdings increased $236,000,000. During this period member banks reduced their rediscounts by $96,000,000 and reserves were increased. The net result was an expansion of $107,000,000 in reserve credit outstanding, the reduction in bill holdings of the reserve banks, coupled with the decline in rediscounts, contributing to offset partially the increased credit put out by government security purchases.

Reserve Board Ask Coöperation.

New York, May 2.—(AP)—Reports were current in banking quarters today that Eugene Meyer, head of the federal reserve board, has called a number of leading commercial bankers to Washington to ask their fullest coöperation with the reserve board's present credit expansion program.

William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company, it was said, went to Washington last Thursday. Other New York bankers were also said to have visited the nation's capitol on like missions.

At the New York Federal Reserve bank there have been several recent informal sessions. Among those bankers who have attended are A. H. Wiggin, head of Chase National bank, and Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City bank.

Informally, some bankers have described the New York part of the credit expansion program as entirely satisfactory. It was said that member banks were repaying their loans to the New York Federal Reserve bank and were also extending more credit to commercial users.

Since March 9, the reserves of member banks of the New York district have increased 189 million dollars. In the same period the total loans and investments of member banks have increased 104 million dollars and bank credit has expanded 151 million dollars.

Traffic Group Asks End of Rail Hearing

BY SCRUTATOR.

The National Industrial Traffic league, whose membership includes big and little shippers from coast to coast, objects to the latest investigation by the interstate commerce commission.

It has filed with the commission a motion to drop ex parte 104, part 2, which has to do with the charges made by railroads for spotting cars in private yards.

"These proceedings," says the league's petitions, "have been heard at sessions held in Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Detroit, Cincinnati, and Chicago with a total of 38 days of hearing, in which 6,759 pages of testimony were taken and 294 separately numbered exhibits were filed."

Believes That's Enough.

The league suggests that the commission call it a day. All of the testimony, it says, has been by railroad representatives. None of the league's witnesses or any shipper representatives have been on the stand. But no matter, says the league; its witnesses would say just about what the railroad men have said. There's no argument. The league says it is satisfied with the present arrangement and suggests that the commission take the 6,759 pages of testimony already recorded and base its opinions thereon.

"The commission," says the league's petition, "ought to know something of the expense to which its own staff, as well as the carriers, have gone in the proceedings to date.

"As a glaring illustration of the unnecessary waste, we may cite the fact that the Pennsylvania railroad had 110 operating officials present throughout ten days of hearing at Pittsburgh waiting until they might be called (and in the end only twelve of them were called) to testify at the convenience of the commission's staff. The rather mild protest of counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad against this cost produced no relief.

Ready for Any Query.

"They had to have that number of men waiting in attendance because that carrier had been notified to be able to respond at the Pittsburgh hearing to any question that might arise as to any important industry on its lines from Jersey City, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, on the east, to Detroit, Chicago, and Louisville on the west. It complied with the request."

The league's petition is signed by Herman Mueller, president; George A. Blair, chairman of the executive committee; J. H. Beek, executive secretary, and Luther M. Walter, Nuel D. Belnap, and John S. Burchmore, its attorneys.

The railroads are continually being investigated by not one but several separate groups of clerks working for the interstate commerce commission.

Often Last for Years.

These investigations take years to complete. Some of them never end. They drag on and on until the evidence presented in the early hearings is out of date, and the process has to begin all over again. That is what happened in the grain rates case now being reheard in Chicago.

Since 1913 the attempt to evaluate the railroads has cost the commission $40,000,000 and the railroads $138,000,000. After spending all this money it has been discovered that the valuation method won't work, and the whole system appears destined to be junked.

That is what Alexander H. Elder, general solicitor for the Central of New Jersey, referred to the other day when he said regulation had got into an "academic rut."

Five years ago the matter of Chicago switching rates was taken up. The Chicago Shippers' Conference association appointed a switching committee to protect its interests. The matter is still in the air, but recently the committee held a meeting. It was discovered that the committee's chief statistician and three of its members had died since the previous session.

While these investigations proceed from one generation to the next nobody knows what his rates are going to be. And the commission complains about overloaded dockets.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES LOWER; SWIFT & CO. OFF

Stocks were weak in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday, with the resumption of the steady dribble of selling which had carried prices to new low levels during the preceding week. Losses ranged from a fraction to 2 points in the active stocks.

Swift shares reacted unfavorably to the news from Washington of the Supreme court's invalidating of the modification of the packers' consent decree. Swift & Co. eased over a point on the most active trade in several days. Swift International lost 2 points to 18½ on smaller transactions.

Th high court reversed the lower court's decision modifying the consent decree so as to allow the packers to engage in related food fields.

Other classes of stocks followed the general trend. Commonwealth Edison and Public Service of Northern Illinois were off a fraction to 2 points at the end of the day. Borg-Warner was off slightly to a new low. Continental Chicago preferred eased to 12¾ pending the dividend action of directors scheduled for today.

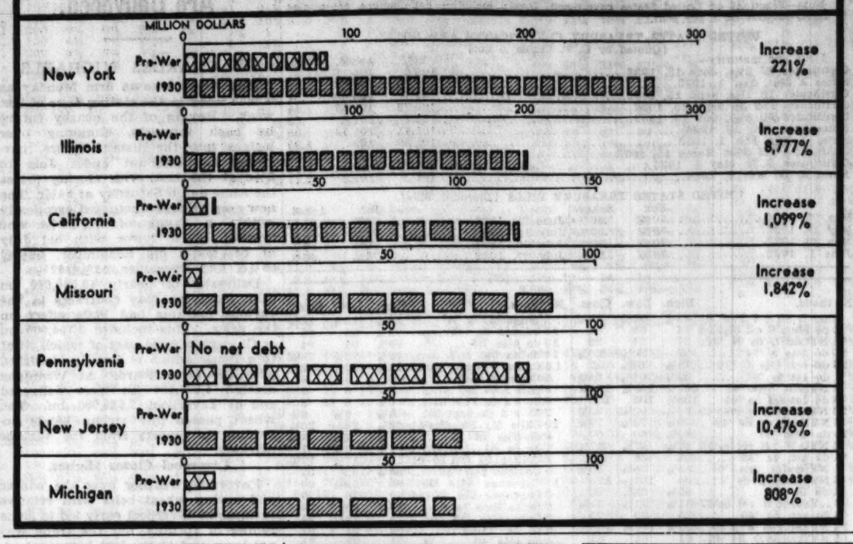
LISTED STOCKS OFF 4 BILLION DOLLARS, BROKER ESTIMATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—The market value of all listed common shares on the New York Stock exchange declined about $4,000,000,000 last month to approximately $16,000,000,000 on the basis of a 21.4 per cent shrinkage in the value of 100 representative common stock issues, Frazier Jelke and company reported today.

The total value of the 100 stocks in this cross section fell in April to a new low for the bear market at $7,465,778,000, with a loss of $2,034,692,000. At the close April 30 the market appraisal of this group had been reduced 82 per cent from the 1929 peak of $42,031,598,000, reached at the end of August. The previous low was made in March, with a recession of 12½ per cent.

How Borrowing of Leading States Has Increased Since the War



FOREIGN BONDS SOLD IN U. S. GO INTO DEFAULT

Greece Omits Interest on Big Loan.

New York, May 2.—(AP)—May 1 interest on several foreign bonds was omitted, it was disclosed today. The defaulting issues included the Greek government 40 year 7 per cent secured sinking fund gold bonds, due 1964; International Match corporation 20 year 5 per cent sinking fund gold debentures of 1947; City of Montevideo Southern Boulevard loan external 6 per cent gold bonds, series A, due 1959, and Hungarian Land Mortgage institute 7½ per cent sinking fund land mortgage gold dollar bonds, series A and B.

"We request bondholders to tolerate the provisional postponement of the transfer of the coupons of May 1, and to defer any other negotiations until the next meeting of the council of the league of nations."

The bankers said the international financial commission of Athens has protested against the default and is retaining from the assigned revenues the amount necessary to cover the service of the loan at the current rate of exchange. The loan amounted to $60,000,000, of which about $6,000,000 was placed in the United States. The balance was distributed in London and Athens.

New Lows Recorded.

The bond market once again viewed the dark side of the investment picture today with the result that new low averages for the year in all corporate categories were recorded. However, trading volume was light. A few special issues showed marked resistance to liquidation. The governments were only fractionally lower.

The general weakness was attributed to the severe pressure exerted against second-grade railways. Action of the interstate commerce commission in calling for a reorganization of the Frisco's indebtedness was interpreted as a forerunner of a number of funding readjustments among the carriers.

The principal transportation victims, some of whose liens lost from 1 to around 9 points, included Baltimore and Ohio, Boston and Maine, Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Allegheny Corporation, Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Chicago and North Western, Rock Island, Denver and Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, M.-K.-T., Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Wabash. Frisco loans rallied, after an early drop, the 4s ending with a net gain of 1 and the 4½s losing only ½ point.

Utilities Follow Rails.

Restrained sympathy with the rails was displayed by the utilities and industrials. Western Unions showed the great relapse, losing from 1 to 10 points. Outside of International Telephones, which firmed, other communication company liens eased on news from Washington that the senate finance committee had agreed on a tax on telegraph and telephone messages. Liens of Armour & Co. gave ground, but the oils and rubbers were comparatively steady.

Heaviest trading in the foreign section was in Oriental Development 5½s, which gained 2 points on the sale of 233 bonds. The same company's 6s were also strong, as were a number of other Japanese corporate loans. The Austrians had a sinking spell, dropping from 1 to 6 points, and the Rumanian Kingdom 7s lost 7. The Germans eased, but the French and British firmed.

Standard Oil Votes to Pay Two Dividends

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—Favorable consideration was given today to the maintenance of the usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the stock of Standard Oil company of New Jersey. The board met and declared this amount in addition to the regular quarterly of the same amount, both payable June 15 to holders of record May 16.

Although considerable uncertainty had prevailed in the financial community recently regarding continuance of this extra payment, action of the shares on the big board following the announcement indicated that this anxiety had lessened with the approach of the dividend date.

To Show Income Decline.

The report of the company for the last year is expected to make its appearance about the middle of this month and will show a sharp reduction in net income from the previous year's $1.65 a share.

In line with other large petroleum organizations, the company is expected to show substantial writeoffs against property and inventory accounts. In addition, losses on foreign exchange, adverse price conditions prevailing throughout most of last year, and reduction in special income will probably result in a reduction in earnings to between 35 cents and 50 cents a share for the year.

The company, however, is understood to have finished the year in good financial position. The usual extra dividend at this time, it is believed, is predicated upon the improved showing so far this year in the oil industry and the gradual upward price movement for oil and its products since the beginning of April.

Moreover, it is reported that since the beginning of 1932 the company had reduced its funded debt by $30,000,000, and at the same time lowered its fixed charges by $1,500,000.

Standard of Indiana to Pay.

Regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share also was declared on the stock of Standard Oil company of Indiana, payable June 15 to holders of record May 16.

Directors of the United States and Foreign Securities corporation took no action today on the quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share due at this time on the first preferred stock.

A dividend of 25 cents a share was voted today on the common stock of Westvaco Chlorine Products, compared with 40 cents three months ago.

Cleveland Quarries company declared a quarterly of 10 cents a share on the common, placing the issue on a 40 cent annual basis, against 25 cents in each of the two previous quarters.

Ex-Chicagoan Russian Leader.

New York, May 2.—(AP)—The prospect of a round table world petroleum peace meeting in which Philip Rabinovitch, a former Chicago metal worker, would discuss terms with leading powers of the Standard Oil family was pictured today by the American oil trade.

Rabinovitch is head of the Russian soviet government's oil monopoly. He rose to his present rank after an apprenticeship in the Red army. He is now understood to be heading a delegation of three Russian oil chiefs who are expected to arrive on the Bremen tomorrow. At the Fifth avenue office of the Amtorg company, Russia's principal commercial office in this country, an officer said, "We have heard reports that the soviet delegation is en route, but don't know anything more about it."

While the strictest secrecy has surrounded the visit of the Russian trade delegation, it was learned that an invitation had been forwarded to the Russians to meet American and European producers in a New York conferenle. It was stated that this invitation had been extended by C. E. Arnott, president of the Socony-Vacuum company. Mr. Arnott could not be reached for confirmation.

U. S. STOCK OF GOLD LOWER BY $2,453,100; $150,000 FOR DUTCH

New York, May 2.—Today's transactions in gold involved a decrease of $2,453,100 in the country's monetary stock of the metal. There was an export of $150,000 to Holland and earmark account increased $2,898,100. Gold to the amount of $595,000 was received at El Paso from Mexico.

Foreign exchanges were narrowly irregular today. Sterling, with London enjoying a bank holiday, was dull, closing unchanged at $3.66¼ for cables. Futures brought a small premium. French francs firmed about ¼ point, ruling above 3.94 cents, but still under the outgoing gold level. Scandinavians were quiet. Mexican dollars and Shanghai taels made new lows. Canadian dollars were steady. Italian lire, firm for several days, added slightly to recent gains.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—The new month brought little change in the Wall street picture. Disheartened speculators continued to liquidate stock holdings in the same monotonous fashion and sell short where the old strong box was shy. The usual quota of new bear market lows were written into the record during the course of the day.

Prices firmed up somewhat toward the close—due, it was said, to a rumor that another tonic dose of favorable news was about to be ladled out in Washington.

Decline Slightly Checked.

The market usually goes through the motions of a rally on these "announcements," but none of them so far has had the effect of doing more than temporary slowing up the long decline which got under way in those dark days of October, 1929. There was one little morsel of good news available today in the form of declaration of the regular quarterly and extra dividends by the Standard Oil of New Jersey, but the market paid little attention to it. Most reasoned, perhaps, that the board's action had been sufficiently discounted by the buying which appeared in this and other oil issues late last week.

Railroad shares again were prominent, leading the swing in both direc-

NORMAL VILLA, UNION COURT TO BE SOLD MAY 23

Decrees Entered in Both Proceedings.

If you have a defaulted real estate bond and haven't been able to get the desired information regarding it from the bondholders' protective committee or from other sources, The Tribune may be of assistance to you. Write to "The Tribune Real Estate Bond Service, Chicago Tribune." Don't ask for information regarding more than one issue at a time. Give name of underwriter and full title of the bond. Inquiries must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

Decrees have been entered in the proceedings brought to foreclose the trust deeds securing the Normal Villa apartment and the Union Court apartment bond issues, both of which were underwritten by the Equitable Bond and Mortgage company. In both instances, according to statements mailed last night to the bondholders by T. E. Williams, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee, the properties will be offered for sale on May 23 to the highest bidder.

HAROLD M. O'BRIEN. [Moffett-Russell Photo.]

Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is chairman of the bondholders' protective committee. The other members are: Walter J. McGuire, H. E. Devereaux, Frederick J. Stebbins, Harold M. O'Brien, N. H. Dosker, G. L. Hughes, and C. A. Mueller. Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin are attorneys.

Arrange $18,500 Loan.

The larger of the two properties is the Union Court, at 6700-08 Union avenue. It contains thirty-one suites. This was financed by a $150,000 first mortgage bond issue, at 6½ per cent, which has been paid down to $149,000. A loan for $18,500 for two years at 6 per cent interest and 1.84 per cent discount, to be secured by the master's certificate of sale, has been arranged. The proceeds of this loan will be used for foreclosure expenses of $2,295; 1930-'31 taxes in full, $8,221; to clear title, $3,500; insurance, $300; legal and incidental expenses, $555; interest, $1,050, and partial payment of reorganization expenses, $3,759.

As the building is expected to show a net income of approximately $11,000 annually, this loan may be repaid entirely out of earnings before maturity, Mr. Williams stated. The committee has named May 21 as the last day on which it will accept deposit of bonds on the issue.

Located on South Side.

The Normal Villa apartments are at 6827-29 South Union avenue and were financed through a $75,000 equitable bond issue at 6 per cent. This has not been reduced. The building contains fifteen unfurnished kitchenette suites. Chester R. Davis, assistant trust officer of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is receiver.

Mr. Williams states that a loan for $12,500, two years, at 6 per cent and 1.84 per cent discount, to be secured by master's certificate of sale, has been arranged for. Proceeds of this loan will be used for foreclosure expenses of $1,669; taxes, $3,322; to clear title, $5,000; partial reorganization expenses, $1,530; legal and other incidentals, $400. Bonds may be deposited up to May 21 with the Chicago Title and Trust company.

FRISCO AGREES TO LOAN TERMS; EXPECTS CASH

Road Official Talks on Problems.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—The St. Louis-San Francisco railway management expects to receive its proposed $1,800,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation Wednesday. That was said today by C. W. Michel, assistant to the chairman. He explained that formal assent to the conditions for the loan laid down by the interstate commerce commission were expected to be transmitted to Washington by that time. The loan is to be applied to overdue taxes and to equipment trust principal due May 15.

Wants Burden Cut.

The most striking condition set for the loan by the commission was that the Frisco management devise a plan for reducing the interest burden on its $292,000,000 of bonded debt and transmit this plan to the commission by July 1. Mr. Michel said it was planned to advise the commission tomorrow of assent to this. Another condition was that the Chase National bank extend until July 1 a demand loan for $1,474,000. This, Mr. Michel explained, would be met by transmitting to the commission a formal acquiescence to this extension made by the bank to the railroad.

Wants Old Loan Repaid.

The third condition for the loan was that the Railroad Credit corporation repay to the Reconstruction Finance corporation $2,805,000 which it borrowed in behalf of the Frisco last February. The Credit corporation is a railway controlled organization through which proceeds from the freight surcharges effective Jan. 4 are distributed to needy railways to meet interest charges.

In furtherance of this aim, the Credit corporation borrowed in advance of receipt of funds from the revenue pool and transferred the sum to the Frisco. The Credit corporation now has funds in hand to repay the $2,805,000 advance obtained from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and, Mr. Michel said, was prepared to make this repayment in time for the expected new loan to be extended to the Frisco on Wednesday. The new loan is to pay delinquent taxes and equipment trust maturities due May 15.

Says Pact Was Reached.

Mr. Michel said the Frisco management had satisfactory conferences with the Washington authorities preceding the conditional granting of the loan and that the management was prepared in advance of the formal announcement of the loan conditions to begin work on a plan to reduce interest charges.

This condition could be met by substituting income bonds for present fixed interest bonds or by scaling down interest charges, and Mr. Michel intimated the latter alternative would receive first consideration.

PIT NOTES

Uneasiness owing to the stock market making new lows on many of the leading issues tends to offset the effect of bullish factors in grains. That tends to prevent large operators from working in their usual form. One of the largest exporters said at the close that he does not believe there will be any good in the wheat market for the bull until the farm board gets out of the way. This reflects the general trade sentiment.

Despite the extremely low prices for corn and the readiness with which the heavy deliveries were absorbed, there is a feeling in certain quarters of the trade that the country has good supplies and is likely to liquidate it in the next few months. At the same time, allowance must be made for the fact that farmers are generally busy with their spring work and until corn planting is out of the way a continued large movement is not to be expected.

LARD STOCKS INCREASED

Lard stocks in Chicago are 52,307,000 lbs as compared with 43,353,876 lbs a month ago, an increase of 8,453,371 lbs during April. A year ago stocks were 39,793,000 lbs. Stocks of dry salted clear bellies are 17,600,000 lbs compared with 16,901,000 lbs a month ago and 19,656,444 lbs a year ago.

Total stocks of all meats are 146,806,606 lbs compared with 144,648,000 lbs on April 1, and 156,339,000 lbs on May 1 last year. Trade in lard was small and prices held within a narrow range, the close being 2½c lower on all deliveries except September which was unchanged.

There was no trade in bellies and prices were nominally unchanged. Hog supplies in the west were slightly larger than a week ago but were materially under last year's, with prices in Chicago higher. Exports of lard for the week were 8,000,000 lbs compared with 7,836,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 3,365,000 lbs against 2,841,000 lbs last year. Prices follow:

REALTORS OPEN QUARTERS WITH A HOUSEWARMING

National President Is a Speaker.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago realtors last night entertained a thousand or more men and women at the formal opening of the Chicago Real Estate board's new quarters at 32 West Randolph street with a housewarming party which lasted until early this morning. Music and dancing were the main entertainment features, with short speeches by Lawrence T. Stevenson, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and J. Soule Warterfield, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, the only serious moments on a long and varied program.

LAWRENCE T. STEVENSON.

President Stevenson congratulated the local realty board on its new home and made a plea to women throughout the country to organize in support of the work which realtors are leading to solve the financial problem for the home owner and to prevent the owned home from being taxed out of existence. President Warterfield made a brief address of welcome to the guests.

Guests of Honor.

Guests of honor at the housewarming were the past presidents of the local board. Most of the twenty-three living former heads were present. The reception committee was made up of the 1932 officers. The committee on arrangements for the housewarming included Henry G. Zander Jr., chairman; LeRoy F. Keneval and Hyde W. Perce.

The musical program included a piano solo by Alfred L. Miltenberg, realtor; a vocal solo by Dora Miller, and a classical concert by Armin F. Hand's Symphony orchestra. Following these the guests inspected the board's new quarters on the 19th and 20th floors and then returned to the fourteenth floor auditorium for dancing.

Building Still Slumps.

Building permits slumped again in April, according to city hall figures. There were fifty permits issued, with a total cost of $237,100. These compared with forty-six permits in March with a total of $439,400. The comparison with April of 1931 is even more depressing, for in that month there were 166 permits issued with a total of $3,723,600.

The Field Amusement company has purchased from the United Cigar Stores company the Pantheon theater property at 4642 Sheridan road, lot 200x150, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $529,166. The building was erected several years ago by the North Shore Development company. In addition to a good sized auditorium, used for talkies, the building contains stores and offices.

Realty Lecture Tonight.

Gustav S. Andreen, attorney, will speak on "Should Bondholders Deposit?" at the weekly session of the Real Property Institute, under the auspices of the Cook County Real Estate board, this evening at 7 p. m. at the board rooms. An hour later Josef L. Hektoen will speak on "Transfer of Real Estate by Will."

Paul Caspers of Swan, Lorish & Caspers, will talk on the subject of "Foreclosure, Redemption and Receivership."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—The Southern Pacific company earned $1.04 per share on its average outstanding stock during 1931, compared with $8.01 in 1930, according to the annual report issued today. Consolidated net income was $3,881,333, a drop of $25,960,848. Dividends of $20,481,029 were appropriated from profit and loss surplus, compared with $22,345,938 paid in 1930.

Cash Shows Decline.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 showed cash of $21,389,071, a decline of $1,182,667, and time drafts and deposits of $6,000,000, a drop of $1,890,000; sinking funds were reduced $13,555,801. "Other investments" in stocks rose $5,038,605 to $16,744,119. Miscellaneous accounts payable rose $4,031,832 to a total of $5,775,107; loans and bills payable of $3,000,000 were paid off. Net increase in funded debt held by the public was $28,007,059.

"Notwithstanding unusually good crops, particularly of wheat, cotton, and rice, in the territory served by your Texas and Louisiana line," Hale Holden, chairman of the executive committee stated, "movement of agricultural commodities to the market has been slow, due to the very low prices offered for farm products because of existing conditions, and there yet remains at interior points of production a substantial portion of the 1931 crop, which under normal conditions should have been moved during that year.

Recovers Some of Loss.

"Some of the traffic lost to motor trucks has been recovered through our subsidiaries, the Pacific Motor Transport company and the Southern Pacific Transport company.

"It is too early in the year to make any definite forecast as to the amount of traffic to be expected during 1932; however, the general outlook for crops is good, and judging from conditions as reported up to the time of going to press, it appears that crops in general in the territory served by your lines should be somewhat better than last year, unless unfavorable climatic conditions develop later."

COTTON CLOSES HIGHER AFTER MAKING NEW LOWS

After a drop to new low prices at Chicago, with lowest levels since 1898 in New York, cotton prices turned about in a fair rally with the close in the former market 3 points lower to 8 points net higher at the top for the day, and 5@10 points higher in New York, with New Orleans 6@7 points net gain. Spot markets were 10 points higher at 5.70c in New York and Galveston, with Houston and New Orleans, 5.65c.

Liverpool opened 6@9 points down and closed at or near the bottom. 10@17 points lower. New York advised that no announcement by the farm board had been made but it was believed that a policy of restricted selling, beginning in August, will be adopted. Heavy selling credited to the south last week has subsided somewhat. Dry goods markets remain dull. Generally fair weather is forecast for the entire belt.

Buying of futures in late trading was attributed to the public becoming interested at what seems to be attractive prices for cotton. Prices follow:

PREDICT EARLY RESULTS FROM NEW BANK BILL

New York, May 2.—(AP)—Practical application of the new Glass-Steagall act, under which the federal reserve banks may utilize government securities as collateral or "cover" for bank notes or currency that it issues, is expected to take place this month.

Only to bankers and to students of the technique of central banking is this change expected to prove of great interest. Nevertheless, many economists believe its adoption will mark an important development in simplifying the American method of providing a sound and more convenient security for paper money.

Commonwealth Customers—Pay LESS—for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 23 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signatures of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

NO FEES. You get full amount of the loan and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.
